in defect in order to improve the outlook; but in both months it was in moderate excess. An excess here is usually associated with a late or severe Indian winter, culminating in large accumulations of snow at the end of May. This year the winter was prolonged to an unprecedented extent. But the effect was felt more in the plains than the hills; and though the accumulations of snow in the Himalayas east of Chamba are probably in decided excess on the average, those to the west, in Kashmir, Afghanistan, Baluchistan and Persia are conspicuously in defect. On the whole the amount of snow covered area would thus appear to be slightly less than usual, and this should be favourable to the Arabian Sea monsoon. This view is supported by the ease with which the monsoon spread over the Punjab on the 2nd and 3rd of June, as well as by the early rise of the Blue Nile, which is largely controlled by snowfall in the regions west of Afghanistan.

Heavy rain in May in south Ceylon resembles heavy rain at Zanzibar in being prejudicial, but this year it has been decidedly less than usual.

The data of the upper air extend over three years only; and although this year the seasonal changes are occurring earlier than usual, it is not safe to deduce that the progress of the monsoon in June will be abnormally rapid; in 1916 a retardation of the changes in the upper air was followed by abundant June rainfall.

The Zanzibar rainfall is thus the only factor that is prejudicial to the rainfall in 'India main,' and we should expect that the Arabian Sea current will be stronger than usual.

11. The Bay current is chiefly affected by May rainfall at Seychelles and this has been in large defect. Thus we may expect the Bay current to be stronger than usual. Regarding the extensive snowfall accumulations in the eastern Himalayas we should expect their effect to be prejudicial to north Burma, Assam, north Bengal and Bihar, and beneficial to Central India East: but so little experience has been gained of similar conditions in the past that no reliance can be placed on this conclusion

12. Before summarising the results it should be pointed out that the past year has been extremely abnormal. The Indian monsoon rainfall of 1916 was the heaviest on record; the simultaneous winter in the Argentine was colder than that of 1915, itself the coldest for about 30 years. The ensuing summer of 1916-17 in the Argentine was the hottest for 40 years, and the winter in north-west Europe was extremely severe. The recent cold and wet of north-west India also have beaten all previous records.

Under these conditions there is a greater risk than usual that one of the factors of which we take no account may prove of great importance, and may outweigh the effects of the factors that have been considered.

SUMMARY.

(a) The outlook for the general monsoon rainfall of India is on the whole favourable, and the rainfall is likely to be in excess, at any rate in the earlier part of the season.

(b) In spite of the recent cold there is no reason to expect that the rainfall of north-west India will suffer to any marked extent by comparison with that of the rest of India.

PROVINCIAL FINANCE.

Provincial Settlements.

No change was made during the year in the terms of the existing Provincial Settlements except in the case of Burma. Although the main features of the Settlement with Burma, which was made permanent from 1st April 1911, remained unaltered, the Secretary of State sanctioned during the year under review the following measures for improving the finances of the Local Government, viz., (a) the enhancement, with effect from the year 1915-16, of the original fixed assignment of 12,90 by a further recurring annual grant of 15,11, representing the amount by which the total revenue provided in the settlement of 1911 fell short of the then estimated standard of expenditure, and (b) a progressive guarantee of a minimum total growing revenue, advancing by 8,00 a year from 4,79,46 in 1911-12 to 5,75,46 in 1923-24, and thereafter a minimum total revenue of the latter amount exclusive of assignments. Under this arrangement, no arrears of assignment will be given in respect of the period from 1911-12 to 1914-15 inclusive, and the guarantee of progressive revenue will not be operative until the financial year after that in which peace is concluded. The revenue guaranteed in any particular year will, however, be reckoned from that year onwards as if the guarantee had been in force with effect from 1911-12.

The temporary financial settlements with Bengal, Bihar and Orissa, and Assam, which would in ordinary circumstances have terminated on the 31st March 1915, have been extended until normal financial conditions are re-established.

Provincial balances.

2. The following statement shows the Revenue, Expenditure, and Balances of Provincial Governments. The closing balances in all the Provinces were largely in excess of the prescribed minima.

EXPENDITURE UNDER OBJECTION.

General.

3. Certain changes have been introduced in the present report in the method of showing the expenditure under objection. On the Civil side, the amount of expenditure, for which the sanction of the Local Government or of the Government of India was insufficient and which was recorded in the register maintained under article 983, Civil Account Code, Volume II, has hitherto not ordinarily been included in the report. This has now been included in the figures shown in the column 'Items awaiting clearance—for other reasons' in the tabular statement under paragraph 5 below, and has also been taken into account in calculating the percentage of objections raised to the total expenditure of the year. Objections raised with regard to charges on account of salary, travelling allowances, and contingencies of the Public Works Department have hitherto been shown under the Civil Department for some provinces and under the Public Works Department for others. Such objections are taken in the present report under the Civil Department, with a view to securing uniformity in this respect. On the Public Works side, amounts held under objection in respect of expenditure on Military Works under the control of the Local Governments and Administrations, which were formerly included in the review of objections under Military Works, are now incorporated in the figures of the Buildings and Roads Branch of the Public Works Department against the respective provinces. In consequence of the amalgamation of the Postal and Telegraph services, the transactions of the Post Office are for the first time exhibited under a separate head 'Posts and Telegraphs.'

Percentage of objections to total expenditure.

4. The following statement shows the gross amount of objections raised in each Province during the year under review, the net amount of objections representing substantial infringements of financial rules, the amount of expenditure audited, and the percentage which the net objections bear to the total expenditure.

TOTAL	4,27,66	81,59	1,86,42	2,68,01	1,59,65	56,10,04	2·8	2·8

Taking all the provinces together, the percentage remained the same as in the preceding year, notwithstanding a drop in the total amount of expenditure audited during the year, owing to financial stringency, and the introduction of the rule under which sub-vouchers for Rs. 25 and less are no longer submitted to the audit office. The increase in Madras was due to large payments for land compensation (4,30) and to grants amounting to 7 lakhs made to the Madras Corporation for a water-supply and drainage scheme pending the sanction of the Secretary of State. In the United Provinces, the increase was the result of the introduction of the 'Pike Scheme' of revision of district establishments. In Assam, although there has been an improvement as compared with the preceding year, the percentage still continues to be the highest in India. It is understood that proposals are under the consideration of the Local Administration for the extension of the system of contract contingencies and for effecting an improvement in the efficiency of the accounts clerks in the province. It is hoped that these measures will result in a further improvement.

Balances of objections on 31st July 1916.

5. The balances of the several classes of objections raised up to the 31st March 1916, and remaining unadjusted on the 31st July 1916, are given in the following statement. The corresponding figures for the preceding year are also shown for purposes of comparison.

Comparison with 1914-15.

6. As compared with the preceding year, there was an increase of 54,59 in the total outstanding balance for all India. The increase occurred mainly in Madras (48,04) and was due chiefly to the fact that grants amounting to 47½ lakhs, made during several years to the Madras Corporation for water-supply and drainage works, were placed under objection for want of sanction of the Secretary of State. Another special item is 1,60, which represents objections outstanding in several provinces in the register maintained under article 983, Civil Account Code, Volume II, for the record of items requiring the sanction of higher authorities, and is for the first time shown in the report as expenditure under objection, as stated in paragraph 3 above. Eliminating the above special items, the increase, as compared with the preceding year, amounts to 4,95, which occurred mainly in the United Provinces and was due to delay in the redistribution of the district staff to accord with the revised scale of establishment sanctioned under the 'Pike Scheme.'

There has been a marked reduction of outstandings in the Punjab and Assam. In the former province, this was due to the speedy receipt of detailed bills and to the adjustment during the year of the special item of 58, representing a debit raised by the Military Department and referred to in paragraph 7 of my last report, and in the latter to greater attention having been paid by disbursing officers to audit requirements and to more vigorous action having been taken by the audit office towards the settlement of outstandings.

Classification of outstandings according to years.

7. The following statement shows the outstandings according to the years to which they relate. The corresponding figures for the preceding year are also given.

(a) Amount less than one thousand.

(b) Differs from the amount shown in the last report owing to the inclusion of objections under Public Works contingencies.

The figures for 1915-16 are worse than those for 1914-15 both in respect of the amounts outstanding in the year under report (66,20 as against 11,63) and the number of items which make up the amount (5,624 as against 5,379). The outstandings of previous years also do not show any improvement (34 as against 32).

Analysis of old outstandings relating to 1913-14.

8. Out of the 91 items relating to 1913-14 and previous years remaining unadjusted on the 31st July 1915, 86 were adjusted during the year under review. The balance of 5, outstanding on the 31st July 1916, appertains to the year 1913-14.

The following statement shows the amounts of these outstandings and the Provinces to which they relate:—

			Rs.
1913-14	India	1	15
	Bombay	1	70
	Bengal	1	487
	Punjab	2	124

The amount outstanding in India represents luggage fare drawn in excess by a clerk; it will be recovered from his pension.

The item in Bombay represents the balance of expenditure incurred in connection with the repatriation of certain destitute Indians from Port Said; recovery is being made in annual instalments.

The amount outstanding in Bengal is in course of recovery by monthly instalments from a pensioner.

The items in the Punjab represent a portion of the amounts paid to certain persons at Batum (Turkey) on account of repatriation charges. The amounts are being recovered in monthly instalments fixed by the Local Government.

Analysis of the outstandings relating to 1914-15.

9. The total outstandings for 1914-15 were reduced from 11,63 on the 31st July 1915 to 34 on the corresponding date in 1916. In other words, 97·1 per cent. of the objections for 1914-15, outstanding on the 31st July 1915, were cleared during the period under review. The balance was made up of 43 items, distributed amongst the Provinces as follows:—

Province.	No. of items.	Amount.
India	7	26
Madras	2	1
Bombay	6	(a)
Bengal	3	(a)
United Provinces	3	2
Punjab	1	(a)
Burma	13	5
Assam	8	(a)
TOTAL	43	34

(a) Amount less than one thousand.

10. Of these items the more important are mentioned below:—

India.—The outstandings include a sum of Rs. 24,626, which represents the closing balance of the Baghdad treasury held under suspense. It is understood that the Government of India have made a reference to the India Office for the recovery of the amount from the United States Consul, to whom the amount had been handed over by the Political Resident. Another item of Rs. 1,188 represents the pay of the men of the Alwar and Jodhpur reinforcements, debited by the Controller of War Accounts, which is held under objection for want of information as to the exact amount debitable to each State.

Burma.—The outstandings include (a) expenditure of 3 by a Deputy Commissioner in excess of his contract grant for 1914-15, since sanctioned by the Local Government; and (b) advances amounting to 1 for tour expenses for mines surveys, which have since been partly adjusted.

Analysis of outstandings for 1915-16.

11. The objections for 1915-16, outstanding on the 31st July 1916, amounted to 66,20 and may be classified as follows:—

Want of sanction	51,19
Want of detailed countersigned bills	1,71
Want of sub-vouchers	2,98
Service payments for recovery	24
Other objections	10,08

The corresponding balance for 1914-15, outstanding on the 31st July 1915, was 11,63. The reasons for the increase have been given in paragraph 6 above.

Under 'Want of sanction' the figures were highest in Madras (48,12). The principal item represents grants made to the Madras Corporation which are awaiting the sanction of the Secretary of State, as mentioned in paragraph 6 above. The outstandings in Bihar and Orissa were 1,17 and represent mainly the pay and allowances of Veterinary Assistants placed under objection for want of sanction of the Government of India to the provincial scale of Veterinary Assistants transferred from Bengal.

Under ' Want of detailed countersigned bills ' the figures were highest in India (58) and Assam (48). In India, the outstandings were due mainly to advances drawn by the Commissioner, Ajmer-Merwara, for the purchase of grass and have since been adjusted. In Assam, they include 21 on account of agricultural loans made in the Sylhet district owing to scarcity

Under ' Want of sub-vouchers ' the figures were highest in Bengal (1,13) and the United Provinces (67). The former figure includes charges amounting to 76 in Tippera, and 9 in Bankura, on account of gratuitous relief. In the United Provinces, grants amounting to 35, sanctioned by the Local Government for relief to sufferers from floods, were made through a Municipality and this resulted in delay in payment.

Under 'Other objections' the figures were highest in the United Provinces (7,49). This was due mainly to a delay in the redistribution of the district staff under the ' Pike scheme ' as stated in paragraph 6 The outstandings in India were 58 and include (a) 21 on account of Sir Aurel Stein's accounts which were lost in transit and which are now under final adjustment, a copy of the accounts having since been received, (b) 9 on account of transport charges connected with the evacuation of the Kerman Consulate not yet finally adjusted pending orders of the Government of India, (c) 8 relating to Baluchistan, pending receipt of completion reports, and (d) 9 for advances drawn by survey parties, of which 5 have since been adjusted and the balance is still under objection pending the receipt of accounts from survey parties in Basra and Central India.

Financial Irregularities.

Drawal of money in advance of requirements with a view to avoiding lapses of Budget grants.

12 In previous reports attention has been drawn to the tendency of officers to draw money from the treasury, especially in March, before it is actually required for disbursement, and in the period under review many cases of the kind came to notice The Government of India issued special orders on the subject in March 1915, and most of the Local Governments have also from time to time issued instructions prohibiting the irregular procedure. The practice was most common in Madras, especially in the Educational Department, and in the Central Provinces, while it was generally prevalent in the other provinces also, though in varying degrees. Some improvement was noticed in this respect in Bengal The irregularity is so widespread that even business firms appear to recognize its existence and to be prepared to furnish officers with stamped acknowledgments in anticipation of the delivery of the articles indented for and of actual payment. For instance, in reply to a request by the head of an account office for the supply of a copy of their price list for iron safes, a Bombay firm offered of their own accord to post their receipted bills at once, if the order were placed with them, so as to enable the money to be drawn before the end of the year.

Some cases are mentioned below; others will be found in the appendix to the report.

Madras

(a) A Sub-Assistant Inspectress of Schools drew on the 30th and 31st March 1916 two sums of Rs 459-4-0 and Rs. 674-10-0 for the purchase of furniture for a school. Rs. 734-14-0 were paid in May 1916 and the balance of Rs. 399 in August 1916

(b) A Head Mistress of a Girls' School drew in March 1916 for the same purpose a sum of Rs. 1,000, of which Rs 460 were actually disbursed in May and the balance of Rs 540 refunded into the treasury in the same month.

(c) A Head Mistress of a Government Girls' School drew in March 1916 a sum of Rs. 318-11-11 on account of the cost of European stores indented for from England and kept the money in her own custody pending receipt of the articles The amount was ordered to be refunded into the treasury, and this was done in June 1916.

(d) An officer of the Agricultural Department drew on the 31st March 1916 a sum of Rs. 2,400 for the purchase of a ginning machine. Rs. 2,250 were paid in May 1916 and the balance of Rs. 150 refunded into the treasury in June 1916.

Bombay

(e) A Disbursing Officer drew Rs. 2,000 for the purchase of a camera, etc., which had been sanctioned by the Local Government. The amount was drawn on the 29th March before even the actual cost of the articles which had been ordered from Europe was known At the instance of the audit office, the entire amount was refunded on the 11th July 1916.

United Provinces.

(f) A sum of Rs. 3,000, drawn by an officer in March 1915 for the purchase of an elephant, was kept outside the treasury balances until March 1916, when the purchase was made.

Punjab.

(g) The head of an educational institution drew the full amount of Rs 15,000, sanctioned by Government for certain objects, although no budget provision existed for the charge. A part of the amount, viz., Rs 3,173, was drawn at the close of the year. presumably under the impression that the balance of the budget provision (which as a matter of fact did not exist) would otherwise lapse. Not only was the money not required for immediate disbursement, but part of it was utilized for objects other than those for which it was drawn from the treasury.

Bihar and Orissa.

(h) A sum of Rs. 1,232-15-4 was drawn by a Deputy Commissioner in March 1915 for the improvement of certain Government estates Out of this amount, a sum of Rs 1,610-3-0, which was not required for immediate disbursement, was deposited in the treasury on the 31st March 1915 as a valuable, in order to prevent a lapse of grant. Payments were subsequently made on the 11th May 1915 and 24th August 1915, and the unspent balance of Rs. 519-2-0 was refunded into the treasury on the latter date.

Central Provinces.

(i) A sum of Rs 6,000 for buildings and fencing was drawn on an abstract bill on the 30th March 1916 by an officer of the Agricultural Department, but not till September 1916 could a voucher be obtained, and then only through the Controlling Officer. This voucher was for Rs. 5,181-7-0, and showed that payment had been made to a contractor on the 13th September 1916. The unexpended sum of Rs. 815-9-0 was repaid into the treasury at a later date under the orders of the Controlling Officer.

(j) A Deputy Commissioner drew from the treasury on the 31st March 1916 a sum of Rs. 6,000, sanctioned for the acquisition of a bungalow, and credited the amount to Revenue Deposits. When the irregularity of the transaction was pointed out in audit, the full sum of Rs. 6,000 was refunded in May 1916

Frauds and defalcations occasioned by negligence.

13 Several cases of fraud came to light during the year under review. Generally speaking, they revealed no material defect of system, but were caused, or facilitated, by carelessness and neglect of standing rules and orders.

Particulars of the more important cases are furnished below, those for which treasury officers were responsible being shown separately

Treasury Officers. Madras.

(a) A remittance of about one lakh of rupees was sent on the 24th April 1915 from a sub-treasury to a district treasury, and out of this a sum of Rs. 2,000 was stolen in transit. The remittance having arrived at the treasury late on the afternoon of the 26th idem, the boxes were not examined that day. The police escort, to whose negligence the loss was due, made good the missing amount on the same day, and they explained the removal of the seal as well as of a portion of the hasp of one of the boxes as having been due to an accident on the way. The treasury staff accepted this explanation and did not make any further investigation. The matter was reported by the Collector to the Local Government.

Bengal.

(b) A sum of Rs. 25,000 was embezzled by the treasurer of a district treasury. The embezzled money formed part of a remittance of Rs. 60,000 in currency notes received from a sub-treasury on the 28th September 1915.

represent mainly the pay and allowances of Veterinary Assistants placed under objection for want of sanction of the Government of India to the provincial scale of Veterinary Assistants transferred from Bengal.

Under ' Want of detailed countersigned bills ' the figures were highest in India (58) and Assam (48). In India, the outstandings were due mainly to advances drawn by the Commissioner, Ajmer-Merwara, for the purchase of grass and have since been adjusted. In Assam, they include 21 on account of agricultural loans made in the Sylhet district owing to scarcity.

Under ' Want of sub-vouchers ' the figures were highest in Bengal (1,13) and the United Provinces (67). The former figure includes charges amounting to 76 in Tippera, and 9 in Bankura, on account of gratuitous relief. In the United Provinces, grants amounting to 35, sanctioned by the Local Government for relief to sufferers from floods, were made through a Municipality and this resulted in delay in payment.

Under 'Other objections' the figures were highest in the United Provinces (7,49). This was due mainly to a delay in the redistribution of the district staff under the 'Pike scheme' as stated in paragraph 6 The outstandings in India were 88 and include (a) 21 on account of Sir Aurel Stein's accounts which were lost in transit and which are now under final adjustment, a copy of the accounts having since been received, (b) 9 on account of transport charges connected with the evacuation of the Kerman Consulate not yet finally adjusted pending orders of the Government of India, (c) 8 relating to Baluchistan, pending receipt of completion reports, and (d) 9 for advances drawn by survey parties, of which 5 have since been adjusted and the balance is still under objection pending the receipt of accounts from survey parties in Basra and Central India.

Financial Irregularities.

Drawal of money in advance of requirements with a view to avoiding lapses of Budget grants.

12. In previous reports attention has been drawn to the tendency of officers to draw money from the treasury, especially in March, before it is actually required for disbursement, and in the period under review many cases of the kind came to notice. The Government of India issued special orders on the subject in March 1915, and most of the Local Governments have also from time to time issued instructions prohibiting the irregular procedure. The practice was most common in Madras, especially in the Educational Department, and in the Central Provinces, while it was generally prevalent in the other provinces also, though in varying degrees. Some improvement was noticed in this respect in Bengal. The irregularity is so widespread that even business firms appear to recognize its existence and to be prepared to furnish officers with stamped acknowledgments in anticipation of the delivery of the articles indented for and of actual payment. For instance, in reply to a request by the head of an account office for the supply of a copy of their price list for iron safes, a Bombay firm offered of their own accord to post their receipted bills at once, if the order were placed with them, so as to enable the money to be drawn before the end of the year.

Some cases are mentioned below; others will be found in the appendix to the report.

Madras.

(a) A Sub-Assistant Inspectress of Schools drew on the 30th and 31st March 1916 two sums of Rs 459-4-0 and Rs. 674-10-0 for the purchase of furniture for a school. Rs. 734-14-0 were paid in May 1916 and the balance of Rs. 399 in August 1916

(b) A Head Mistress of a Girls' School drew in March 1916 for the same purpose a sum of Rs. 1,000, of which Rs 460 were actually disbursed in May and the balance of Rs 540 refunded into the treasury in the same month.

(c) A Head Mistress of a Government Girls' School drew in March 1916 a sum of Rs. 318-11-11 on account of the cost of European stores indented for from England and kept the money in her own custody pending receipt of the articles The amount was ordered to be refunded into the treasury, and this was done in June 1916.

(d) An officer of the Agricultural Department drew on the 31st March 1916 a sum of Rs. 2,400 for the purchase of a ginning machine. Rs. 2,250 were paid in May 1916 and the balance of Rs. 150 refunded into the treasury in June 1916.

Bombay.

(e) A Disbursing Officer drew Rs. 2,000 for the purchase of a camera, etc., which had been sanctioned by the Local Government. The amount was drawn on the 29th March before even the actual cost of the articles which had been ordered from Europe was known. At the instance of the audit office, the entire amount was refunded on the 14th July 1916.

United Provinces.

(f) A sum of Rs. 3,000, drawn by an officer in March 1915 for the purchase of an elephant, was kept outside the treasury balances until March 1916, when the purchase was made.

Punjab.

(g) The head of an educational institution drew the full amount of Rs. 15,000, sanctioned by Government for certain objects, although no budget provision existed for the charge. A part of the amount, viz., Rs. 3,173, was drawn at the close of the year, presumably under the impression that the balance of the budget provision (which as a matter of fact did not exist) would otherwise lapse. Not only was the money not required for immediate disbursement, but part of it was utilized for objects other than those for which it was drawn from the treasury.

Bihar and Orissa.

(h) A sum of Rs. 4,232-15-4 was drawn by a Deputy Commissioner in March 1915 for the improvement of certain Government estates. Out of this amount, a sum of Rs. 1,640-3-0, which was not required for immediate disbursement, was deposited in the treasury on the 31st March 1915 as a valuable, in order to prevent a lapse of grant. Payments were subsequently made on the 11th May 1915 and 24th August 1915, and the unspent balance of Rs. 519-2-0 was refunded into the treasury on the latter date.

Central Provinces.

(i) A sum of Rs. 6,000 for buildings and fencing was drawn on an abstract bill on the 30th March 1916 by an officer of the Agricultural Department, but not till September 1916 could a voucher be obtained, and then only through the Controlling Officer. This voucher was for Rs. 5,184-7-0, and showed that payment had been made to a contractor on the 13th September 1916. The unexpended sum of Rs. 815-9-0 was repaid into the treasury at a later date under the orders of the Controlling Officer.

(j) A Deputy Commissioner drew from the treasury on the 31st March 1916 a sum of Rs. 6,000, sanctioned for the acquisition of a bungalow, and credited the amount to Revenue Deposits. When the irregularity of the transaction was pointed out in audit, the full sum of Rs. 6,000 was refunded in May 1916.

Frauds and defalcations occasioned by negligence.

13. Several cases of fraud came to light during the year under review. Generally speaking, they revealed no material defect of system, but were caused, or facilitated, by carelessness and neglect of standing rules and orders.

Particulars of the more important cases are furnished below, those for which treasury officers were responsible being shown separately.

Treasury Officers.

Madras.

(a) A remittance of about one lakh of rupees was sent on the 24th April 1915 from a sub-treasury to a district treasury, and out of this a sum of Rs. 2,000 was stolen in transit. The remittance having arrived at the treasury late on the afternoon of the 26th idem, the boxes were not examined that day. The police escort, to whose negligence the loss was due, made good the missing amount on the same day, and they explained the removal of the seal as well as of a portion of the hasp of one of the boxes as having been due to an accident on the way. The treasury staff accepted this explanation and did not make any further investigation. The matter was reported by the Collector to the Local Government.

Bengal.

(b) A sum of Rs. 25,000 was embezzled by the treasurer of a district treasury. The embezzled money formed part of a remittance of Rs. 60,000 in currency notes received from a sub-treasury on the 28th September 1915.

The embezzlement was facilitated by a failure to observe the correct procedure as shown below—

(i) The remittance was not credited in the treasurer's cash book immediately on receipt, as required by article 660, Civil Account Code.

(ii) The treasury officer did not note the amount of the remittance in the treasurer's balance sheet when placing the money under double lock, as required by article 305, rule 6, Civil Account Code.

(iii) The treasury officer was in the habit of making over his own set of keys of the chests in the strong room to the treasurer while he was engaged on other work.

(iv) Though the remittance was shown as in transit in the accountant's balance sheet for over three weeks, the treasury officer took no steps to ascertain what had become of it and why it had not been credited in the accounts.

The embezzlement was detected on a subsequent verification of the treasury balance on the 29th October 1915, when an excess of Rs 2,000 was found. The discovery was solely due to a mistake on the part of the treasurer who put before the Collector Rs. 2,000 more than he intended. The treasurer was prosecuted, found guilty, and sentenced to one year's rigorous imprisonment by the Sessions Judge, which sentence was on appeal to the High Court enhanced to three years' rigorous imprisonment. A sum of Rs 12,046-14-9 out of the total amount embezzled has been realised and the balance is in course of recovery. The case disclosed the prevalence of a faulty method of verification of the treasury balances by district officers in Bengal. The Local Government ordered that the treasury officer should be severely censured and debarred from promotion for five years. They also commented on the failure of duty on the part of the Collector.

Burma.

(c) In a certain treasury, a shortage of judicial stamps, amounting to Rs. 719-8-0, and of non-judicial stamps, amounting to Rs. 526-1-0, was discovered on the 30th September 1915. Both the treasurer and the licensed stamp vendor were responsible for the fraud. The treasurer issued stamps to the vendor without realising their full value from him, and towards the end of the month both the treasurer and the vendor raised short loans to enable them to credit the value of the stamps issued in excess and thus to escape detection at the monthly verification of the single lock balance. The treasury officer failed to observe rules 17 and 18 of appendix K of the Civil Account Code. The treasurer died on the 3rd October 1915. The deficiency has been made good by his sureties

Bihar and Orissa.

(d) The following case illustrates the importance of the daily examination of single lock balances by treasury officers, as prescribed in articles 323 (d) and (e) of the Civil Account Code. On the 6th December 1915, a treasurer took out Currency Notes to the value of Rs. 9,000 from double locks. Of these notes, Rs 8,000 were required for immediate issue in exchange for cash tendered. It is alleged that, in making over the notes to the cashier for delivery to the parties, the treasurer forgot to keep back two five-hundred-rupee notes which were not required for delivery. The two notes were, however, wrongly shown as remaining in the treasurer's single lock balance on the 6th December, and the treasury officer did not notice the omission during his examination. The loss was detected by the treasurer himself on the following day. The cashier was dismissed and the loss was made good by the treasurer.

Other Officers.

India.

(e) A sum of Rs. 1,531-1-0, representing the cost of uniforms, was charged in the contingent bill of a Salt Revenue Department office for August 1915. Payees' receipts in support of the charges were called for in audit and in reply it was stated that the vouchers had already been sent, but this proved to be incorrect. After some correspondence, it was found that there was an unvouched for balance of Rs. 107-15-0, which formed part of certain amounts embezzled by the accountant of the office. The total sum embezzled was Rs. 3,513-6-5, which consisted partly of amounts received for credit into the treasury, such as examination fees, sale-proceeds of grass, etc., and partly of money drawn from time to time from the treasury for payment to firms by means of remittance transfer receipts. The accountant was tried and sentenced to three years' rigorous imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 3,000. The Government of India ordered the recovery of Rs. 1,400 from the officers whose negligence contributed to the fraud and sanctioned the write-off of the balance embezzled.

United Provinces

(f) A sum of about Rs 1,736, so far as at present ascertained, was embezzled by an Assistant Sadar Kanungo in connection with land acquisition payments. Double sets of papers (award statements, vouchers, etc.) were prepared by him. One set showed the correct amounts due under the award, while the other set, which was submitted to the audit office, showed the larger amounts actually drawn. The fraud was rendered possible by the failure on the part of the land acquisition officer to follow strictly the procedure laid down in rule 3, appendix C, Civil Account Code. He did not satisfy himself that the copy of the award statement sent to the audit office correctly showed the amounts due under the award, nor did he himself enter in words the total of the column 'amount due to each person' in the award statement, as required by the rules.

Assam.

(g) On an examination by an accounts officer of the accounts of a college for the period from April 1915 to 10th March 1916, it was found that the head clerk of the college, who died on the 10th March 1916, had embezzled various sums of money amounting to about Rs 5,050 out of college fees, scholarships, payments of establishments, contingent expenditure, etc.

The fraud revealed the following defects in procedure:—

(i) All the refunds were paid out of the collections, contrary to the procedure laid down in article 1, Civil Account Code

(ii) Signatures of payees were not obtained in several cases in the acquittance rolls, as laid down in article 63, Civil Account Code.

(iii) Entries in the contingent registers were not always scrutinised and checked by a responsible officer, as required by articles 79 and 83, Civil Account Code.

(iv) Payment was made in a few cases on duplicate bills of firms.

The case disclosed slackness of supervision by the head of the office over the accounts work of the head clerk and also the lack of a suitable system of accounts for the receipts of the college, e.g., college fees, scholarships, deposits, etc. The Principal was required to pay Rs 378-5-8 towards the losses and Rs. 2,000 have been recovered from the clerk's estate. The balance of about Rs. 2,671 was written-off under the orders of the Local Administration.

Frauds in Account Offices.

14. I regret to have to report that embezzlements in four account offices came to light during the year. A brief account of each is given below:—

(a) In the office of an Accountant General, a series of embezzlements, involving a total sum of Rs. 12,400-4-0, occurred between June 1911 and January 1913 in connection with the Public Works auxiliary accounts. Pay orders were sent by certain Public Works Department officers to the account office in order to obtain the cheques required for contingent and miscellaneous expenditure. These were entered by the auxiliary clerk in a printed requisition form in which the cheques required were detailed This requisition, after being passed for payment by a gazetted officer, was sent to the cheque writer The cheques drawn were then made over to the clerk in charge of the auxiliary accounts for delivery to the parties concerned, or for encashment at the Bank when payments had to be made in cash or by money order or by remittance transfer receipt. In several cases, fraudulent entries were added by the clerk in the genuine requisitions after these had been passed by the gazetted officer, while in some others pay orders already paid, but not cancelled, were used over again to support a demand for fresh cheques.

The fraud was facilitated by negligence in the account office in the following respects:—

(i) Gazetted officers passed requisitions in which the total amount payable was not expressed in words, and issued cheques on requisitions which contained erasures and unattested corrections. In a few cases, the pay orders were not cancelled at the time of passing the corresponding requisitions.

(ii) A gazetted officer, in whose favour the cheques were drawn, endorsed them without satisfying himself as to the authority on which, or the purpose for which, the cheques were issued and without any attempt to ascertain the ultimate disposal of the money drawn.

(iii) In several cases, the audit section failed to call for, or to insist on the submission of, vouchers for the amounts charged in the auxiliary accounts.

The frauds commenced early in the year 1911, when the amalgamation of the late Public Works Examiner's office with that of the Accountant-General entailed some confusion and congestion of work in the accounts office. The auxiliary accounts were abolished in January 1913 and the use of the separate requisition forms was consequently abandoned. This automatically put an end to the embezzlements. Two criminal cases were instituted against the clerk and he has been sentenced to four years' imprisonment and fines amounting to Rs. 1,500. Suitable disciplinary action has been taken as regards the subordinates responsible. Of the two gazetted officers who were primarily responsible for neglect of duty, one is dead and the other is no longer in the service.

(b) A fraud occurred in connection with an officer's salary bill for December 1915, amounting to Rs. 1,111-11-1. A person, who represented himself to be the officer's messenger, presented the bill at the counter of the Accountant General's office on the 10th January 1916 and was given a token. On the 12th January 1916, he exchanged the token for a cheque. The cheque was cashed at the Bank of Bengal on the 13th January 1916. It subsequently transpired that the salary bill and the cheque had been obtained by fraudulent means and that the latter had been cashed at the Bank by a forged endorsement. The endorsement 'Please make the cheque payable———' printed on the bill had originally been made in favour of a bank and signed by the officer, but it had been altered by a palpable erasure. Efforts to trace the person who committed the fraud have been unsuccessful. The question of disciplinary action is under consideration.

(c) A sum of Rs. 2,000 was embezzled in March 1916 by the cashier in the pre-audit department of an account office, who altered a cheque drawn in recoupment of the office imprest after it had been passed by the gazetted officer, and destroyed the cheque after payment. The detection of the fraud was delayed for some months by skilful erasures and manipulations made by the cashier in the registers of cheques issued, lists of outstanding cheques, and the check register (Civil Account Code, Form 139-A) The man died in August 1916 and a scrutiny of the figures for July in the registers above mentioned brought the fraud to light. The embezzlement was rendered possible by the failure of the check prescribed in article 1034, Civil Account Code, the figures on which the check was based having been manipulated Suitable amendments to the rules on the subject in the Civil Account Code have now been made with a view to removing the possibility of such manipulations remaining undetected.

(d) There were two embezzlements in connection with the General Provident Fund in August 1915 and February 1916, respectively. The loss to Government in each case was Rs. 960. Forged letters, purporting to emanate from departments of the Government of India and authorising the payment of advances from the General Provident Fund to certain Superintendents employed in those departments, were received in the audit office. Shortly afterwards, forged bills supported by copies of the forged letters sanctioning the advances were presented for payment and passed. Criminal proceedings were instituted in the first case against a clerk in the account office and he was sentenced to 4 years' rigorous imprisonment. The second case is still under police enquiry. The frauds revealed a general absence in the audit office of the following important checks, though the forgeries were so cleverly executed that even the exercise of these checks might have failed to lead to detection.

(i) The letters authorising the advances, which were attached to the bills, were not checked with the letters of authorization received direct in the audit office.

(ii) No attempt was made to verify the signatures of the claimants on the bills, as laid down in article 809, Civil Account Code.

The gazetted officer responsible has proceeded on leave on medical certificate preparatory to retirement, while the subordinates at fault have been reduced to lower grades.

Loss to Government owing to neglect of rules or standing orders.

15. The following instance shows how loss to Government is caused by insufficient attention to rules or standing orders :—

Assam.

Under the rules for the supply of rations, members of the Military Police in Assam are allowed, provided the necessary conditions are fulfilled, to draw a second ration on the scale for combatants. During the inspection of the accounts of the Military Police Battalion, the Examiner of Local Accounts discovered that the conditions were not observed and that rations were being drawn greatly in excess of the sanctioned scale. The total loss to Government during the period January 1906 to April 1915 amounted to Rs. 16,232-13-3, and this amount was written off under the orders of the Local Administration, the further issue of unauthorized rations being stopped. The charges are not subject to detailed audit check but are passed on the countersignature of the Inspector General of Police.

Insufficient attention to the interests of Government.

Press Accounts.

16. The interests of Government have suffered by want of care shown by officers in the arrangements made with private presses for printing work. The omission to prepare clear and comprehensive contracts, even when large amounts are involved, has resulted in irregularities and overpayments. There was an important case in Bihar and Orissa, in which the terms for printing Government forms were left to be settled by officers who were apparently unacquainted with printing technicalities. A contractor was allowed to take as the unit the cost of 100 copies inclusive of all charges for paper, composition, printing, ruling, and binding and to charge proportionately for the total number of copies supplied. It is obvious that if it costs Re. 1 to print 100 forms, it does not cost Rs. 100 to print 10,000 forms. The cost of composition does not vary with the number of forms printed and the printing charges are reduced in proportion to the number of copies An examination of a single bill showed that the contractor was paid Rs. 5,503 for work for which the Government of India Central Press would have charged only Rs. 1,294. The total loss to Government in this case has not yet been definitely ascertained, but there is no doubt that the amount is considerable It is necessary that the system of giving out printing work on contract to private presses should be placed on a satisfactory footing and that Government should thereby be safeguarded from extravagant claims. I have submitted proposals on the subject for the consideration of the Government of India.

Irregular travelling allowance claims.

17. Under the travelling allowance rules, a Controlling Officer's countersignature is accepted in audit as final evidence of the correctness of the facts on which the claim is founded. Controlling Officers are also responsible for seeing that excessive charges are not passed as travelling allowance. It is therefore necessary that these officers should carefully scrutinize the bills submitted for their countersignature and prevent abuses of the travelling allowance rules. There is evidence of laxity on the part of Controlling Officers in this respect.

Bihar and Orissa.

(a) A review of the travelling allowance bills of certain officers for the touring season, which was made by the Accountant General, Bihar and Orissa, showed that tours were not economically arranged. Flying visits were made to places at a distance from headquarters, while several journeys were made by the same road or railway to intermediate places, although it appeared that the work could have been carried out in a single journey. Unnecessarily frequent visits also appeared to have been made to certain places. On the matter being brought to the notice of the Local Government, stringent orders were issued insisting upon the need for economy.

Central Provinces.

(b) Article 155, IV, Forest Code (6th Edition), authorises a Divisional Officer to sanction, in cases of emergency, advances for himself and his subordinates, sufficient to cover their travelling allowances for one month. Such advances are subject to adjustment in full on the next issue of pay or travelling allowance. An Extra Assistant Conservator drew under this rule tour advances which averaged Rs. 608 monthly against an average monthly travelling allowance of Rs. 93. The matter was referred to the Chief Conservator and the Local Administration and disciplinary action was taken.

Double claims preferred and paid.

18. Several cases came to light during the year under review in which double claims were preferred and paid. Some of these are given in the Appendix. There were many cases of pensions and interest on Government Promissory notes being paid twice owing chiefly to errors or omissions in recording the payments at the treasuries concerned. In Bengal, double payments on arrear bills of salary to police constables were of frequent occurrence owing mainly to the failure on the part of the Superintendents of Police to satisfy themselves, before drawing arrears of pay, that the amounts had not been previously drawn ; steps have been taken to prevent such double payments in future.

Irregular use of Government money. Assam.

19. During the inspection of the accounts of a Military Police battalion it was noticed that several unauthorised funds had been constituted with money which really belonged very largely to Government but which had been regarded by a succession of Commandants as the property of the battalion and credited to the battalion funds instead of being paid into the treasury. Such items were (1) sale proceeds of Government property, (2) sale proceeds of elephant calves, (3) rent of lands, (4) estates of deceased sepoys, (5) undisbursed pay of deserters, (6) undisbursed pay of men absent, and (7) undisbursed compensation allowances for dearness of provisions. Originally there was one fund, called the Quartermaster's Fund, into which all such sums were paid, but later a second fund, called the Deposit Fund, was opened into which undisbursed pay was separately credited. From the assets of both these funds other subsidiary funds were created, namely, the Furniture Fund, the Cart Fund, and the Advance Fund. These Funds were utilised respectively for the purchase of furniture, the payment of cart hire, and for advances to officers and men of the battalion. A detailed examination of the accounts from June 1903 showed that a sum of about Rs. 15,261 was due to Government on account of money diverted to the battalion funds, excluding the Government share of interest on the deposits realised from Banks, which has been calculated to amount to Rs. 1,685-14-1. Out of this amount, a sum of Rs. 2,319-12-10 is recoverable from a former Commandant on account of advances irregularly taken by him from the battalion funds. The Officer reverted to military duty with effect from the 20th September 1914.

(a) Less than one thousand.

(b) For the Delhi Province the total expenditure is 60,50, the total amount of objections 39, 70, and the percentage 66 (against 67 in the preceding year).

(c) Differs from the figure shown in the last report owing to corrections since made on account of the inclusion of objections and charges relating to Military Works under the control of Local Governments.

Comparison with 1914-15.

21. It will be observed that, taking all the provinces together, the percentage of objections to total expenditure was practically the same as in the preceding year. There was, however, a substantial improvement in Bombay, which was due to the restrictions on expenditure in consequence of the war and to the greater caution exercised in undertaking new expenditure. On the other hand, there were noticeable increases in the North-West Frontier Province, Madras, and Bengal. The increase in Bengal was due to objections relating to the Dacca University Division (5,01) and to the execution of several repair works without estimates and allotments during the earlier months of the year. In the North-West Frontier Province, the increase was caused by expenditure on urgent improvements to civil communications in order to make them suitable for mechanical transport, in some cases without estimates and allotments and in others in excess of estimates and allotments. Larger amounts placed under objection under 'Miscellaneous Irregularities' on account of expenditure incurred in anticipation of contribution for works aided by Government, such as water-supply and drainage schemes for municipalities, accounted for the increase in Madras.

Percentage of objections to total expenditure: Irrigation Branch.

22. The following statement shows, for the Irrigation Branch of the Public Works Department, the total amount of objections raised as compared with the total expenditure incurred during the year and the percentage which the former bears to the latter.

Comparison with 1914-15.

23. The percentage for all India remained practically the same as in the preceding year. There was a substantial improvement in India, the United Provinces, and Assam. In India, the improvement was due partly to expenditure on the large projects mentioned in paragraph 23 of the last report having been regularised and partly to the curtailment of expenditure in consequence of the war. In the United Provinces, the fact that the estimates for the construction of the Head Works Sluice and Weir in the Bhimgoda Weir Division and for the Ghaggar Canal Works in the Mirzapur Canals Division were sanctioned in 1914-15 accounts for the improvement. In Assam, a smaller number of original works were started owing to the war. On the other hand, there were noticeable increases in Bengal, the Central Provinces, and Bombay. In Bengal, the increase was due mainly to excess expenditure on the Madaripur Bheel Route Project over the amount of the original estimate sanctioned by the Secretary of State. In the Central Provinces, the increase is accounted for mainly by outlay on the Wainganga and Tandula Canal Projects in excess of estimates. In Bombay, the increase occurred owing to objections being raised for the first time for want of project provision and excess over project provision in the case of individual works sanctioned for the Pravara Canals, Godavari Canals, and Nira Right Bank Canal Projects. These objections amounted to 12,58 and related to expenditure of previous years as well as of the year under review.

Percentage of works started without estimates to total number of works started during the year.

24. The following statement shows separately, under the Buildings and Roads and Irrigation Branches, the percentage of works started without detailed sanctioned estimates. The figures have been calculated with reference to about 20 per cent. of the divisions in most of the provinces. The corresponding figures for the preceding year are given for purposes of comparison

(a) Less than one per cent.

(b) Percentage for all divisions.

(c) Represents percentage of works started in April 1914 only.

25. It will be observed that a very high percentage of works continues to be started without detailed sanctioned estimates in several provinces. There has, however, been a substantial improvement, as compared with the preceding year, in the Punjab and Burma in both branches of the Department. In Bihar and Orissa, the comparative figures cannot be taken as conclusively pointing to an improvement, as the figures for the two years have been calculated on slightly different data. On the other hand, there were noticeable increases in the North-West Frontier Province, Bombay, Bengal, and Assam in the Buildings and Roads Branch; and in Bengal, the Central Provinces, and Assam in the Irrigation Branch. The increase in the North-West Frontier Province was due to expenditure without estimates on the improvement to certain civil communications in order to make them fit for mechanical transport. In Bengal, the increase was due to the higher proportion which repair works bore to original works during the year and the current practice under which a large part of the former works are usually carried out in anticipation of regular estimates. In Bombay and Assam, the increase was caused by the commencement of several repair works without sanctioned estimates. The high percentage in the Central Provinces was due to the practice which obtained in the Eastern Irrigation Circle of incurring expenditure against general sanctioned estimates for Irrigation Projects instead of against separate detailed estimates for individual works. The practice has since been stopped by the Local Administration.

As pointed out in the last report, it is of importance that action should be taken by administrative authorities to ensure a more strict observance of the code rules on the subject.

Comparison with 1914-15.

27. As compared with the preceding year, the balance for the whole of India shows an increase of 22,86. Of the total increase, the Irrigation Branch is responsible for 16,05 and the Buildings and Roads Branch for 6,81. The increase in India occurred in the Delhi Province and was due to expenditure on the City Extension Scheme (1,57), to the adjustment of the cost of land acquired for the Railway Department (41) awaiting the orders of the Secretary of State on the proposed new railway terminal station at Delhi, and to increased outstandings under excesses over estimates. The increase in the North-West Frontier Province in the Buildings and Roads Branch was due to expenditure on the improvement to civil communications as mentioned in paragraph 21 above, and in the Irrigation Branch to the second Revised Project Estimate of the Upper Swat River Canal not having been sanctioned up to the 31st July 1916 In Bombay, the increase in the Irrigation Branch (6,61) was due to the reasons explained in paragraph 23 above. In Bengal, the increase in the Irrigation Branch was due partly to an excess (4,71) over the sanctioned estimate on the Madaripur Bheel Route Project which awaits the sanction of the Secretary of State, and partly to outlay (2,79) without estimates on two connected works, for which detailed estimates were not sanctioned pending sanction to the revised estimate for the main project. The increase in the United Provinces in the Buildings and Roads Branch was due mainly to expenditure without estimate on the Agra and the Fyzabad-Ajudhia water-supply schemes. In the Punjab, the increase in the Buildings and Roads Branch was mainly on account of an excess over the sanctioned estimate for land acquired for residences for Gazetted officers at Lahore. In Burma, the increase occurred in both the Buildings and Roads, and Irrigation, Branches and was due, in the former case, to expenditure on constructing a mule road from 'Nsop to Putao in excess of estimates, and in the latter, to outlay (2,58) on the Twante Canal Project in excess of the grant for the work. In Bihar and Orissa, the increase in the Buildings and Roads Branch is accounted for by the expenditure on the works in connection with the provincial Capital. Although the total for Public Works in Madras showed an improvement, there was an excess of 2,87 in the Irrigation Branch, which includes (a) 78, representing the outlay incurred after the closure of construction estimates on the Nagavalli and Divi Pumping Projects and held under objection for want of sanction of the Government of India to the completion schedule, (b) 39, the excess over estimate under 'Tools and Plant—Panjapatti Reservoir Project,' and (c) 107, excess outlay on special Tools and Plant for the Toludur Project

On the other hand, there was a substantial improvement in the Buildings and Roads Branch in Madras, Bombay, and the Central Provinces. The improvement in Madras was due to the estimates of the works, viz, acquisition of lands for play grounds for educational institutions in the city and constructing the Paper Currency Office, Madras, having been sanctioned during the year. In Bombay, the improvement was due to the causes explained in paragraph 21 above In the Central Provinces, the improvement is attributable to the regularization of most of the items relating to the preceding year and to a more strict observance of the financial rules prescribed for the execution of Public Works. The improvement in India in the Irrigation Branch was due to the outstandings relating to previous years having been completely cleared; in the United Provinces, to estimates having been sanctioned during the year for several works started in previous years; in the Punjab, to a general betterment under all heads of objections; and in the Central Provinces, to special efforts made, as ordered by the Local Administration, to expedite the preparation of detailed estimates for individual works comprised in Irrigation Projects and to the stoppage of the practice hitherto obtaining in the Eastern Irrigation Circle of incurring expenditure against general sanctioned estimates.

Analysis of old outstandings relating to 1913-14 and previous years.

29. Out of the 106 items relating to 1913-14 and previous years remaining unadjusted on the 31st July 1915, 94 were adjusted during the period under review. Of the balance of 12, which were outstanding on the 31st July 1916, 1 relates to 1907-08 and 11 relate to 1913-14.

The following statement shows the amounts of these outstandings and the provinces to which they relate :—

Year.	Province.	Number of items.	Amount.

	Total	12	9,08

(a) Amount less than one thousand.

The item for 1907-08 in the Punjab represents rent due from a tenant, which is being recovered in monthly instalments.

The items relating to 1913-14 in the Punjab represent objections held under 'Miscellaneous Irregularities'. The expenditure (6,82) in excess of the contribution realised for the Simla improvement and extension scheme is awaiting the sanction of the Secretary of State. The other item represents rent due for a residential building for 1913. The tenant of the house has left India, and the matter has, it is stated, been referred to the India Office.

In Madras, the items were outstanding under 'Miscellaneous Irregularities'. A sum of 3 was recovered by October 1916.

In Bombay, the outstandings represent 2 items amounting to 2,06 under 'Want of Estimate,' 1 item amounting to less than 1 under 'Excess over Estimate,' and 1 item amounting to 11 under 'Miscellaneous Irregularities'. The items under 'Want of Estimate' represent expenditure on constructing two light-houses in the Persian Gulf (2,06). The question of sanction to these works is said to be still under correspondence with the Secretary of State. The item under 'Excess over Estimate' represents outlay on constructing a lunatic asylum, which awaits the sanction of the Government of India. The item under 'Miscellaneous Irregularities' represents the balance still recoverable from a municipality for work done in connection with a water-supply scheme, regarding which the orders of Local Government are awaited.

In the United Provinces, one item under 'Want of Estimate' represents expenditure on metalling a road, which awaits the orders of the Local Government.

India.—The outstandings include (a) expenditure (48) incurred before sanction to estimates on two sub-works of the project for constructing a long range wireless station at Kirkee, which is held in abeyance, and (b) excesses over the plinth area estimate of a project for constructing a wireless telegraph station at Secunderabad. These have since been adjusted.

Madras.—Five items have since been adjusted and one is sub-judice. Of the remaining two, the completion report for one under 'Excess over Estimate' has been returned to the Executive Engineer for revision, while the other under 'Miscellaneous Irregularities' is outstanding pending receipt of a voucher.

Bombay.—The principal outstanding items are—(a) constructing two light houses in the Persian Gulf (2,38) and constructing a lunatic asylum, as mentioned in the preceding paragraph, (b) expenditure on the construction of an engineering laboratory (37) in excess of estimate, and (c) constructing an additional bed-room and staircase at a Government House.

Bengal.—The outstandings relate to a payment for the supply of electric energy at Dacca under the special orders of the Local Government. The question of the exact amount to be paid to the Electric Corporation has not yet been settled.

United Provinces.—The principal item is under 'Want of Estimate' and represents expenditure on the Fyzabad and Ajudhia water-supply schemes, of which the Fyzabad Scheme has since been sanctioned

India.—(Director-General, Military Works) (6) The outstandings relate to expenditure in excess of estimates on the telegraph office at Bangalore and its subsidiary buildings

Baluchistan (29).—The outstandings represent expenditure on additional accommodation for Police headquarters before sanction to the estimate, and on constructing a Police Ward in a Civil Hospital. Both the outstandings have since been cleared.

Delhi (3,42) —Of the total outstandings, 1,83 appertain to outlay on the ordinary works of the Delhi Province and 1,59 to initial expenditure on the New Capital. These amounts include the expenditure (1,57) on the City Extension scheme provisionally adjusted under Miscellaneous Advances, and expenditure (42) debitable to the North-Western Railway pending adjustment on receipt of the orders of the Secretary of State on the proposed new railway station scheme.

North-West Frontier Province.—The important items are under 'Want of Estimate' and relate to special repairs to certain roads.

Madras.—Under 'Want of Estimate', the important items are in respect of outlay awaiting the sanction of Government on the manufacture of bricks and tiles, etc. The outstandings under 'Excess over Estimate' relate to the estimate for constructing a Municipal Hospital. Under 'Miscellaneous Irregularities,' the more important items are (a) an excess over the reserve limit of stock of a Public Works Stores Division, which awaits the sanction of the Local Government, (b) the value of short-delivered and damaged pipes in a consignment received from England for certain drainage works, pending recovery from the landing agents, and (c) an excess over the permissible limit of outlay under 'Original Works' and 'Special Repairs' to a Government House and connected buildings, which awaits the sanction of the Government of India.

Bombay.—Under 'Want of Estimate', the outstandings are mainly in connection with the construction of two light-houses in the Persian Gulf as mentioned in paragraph 29 above. Under 'Excess over Estimate,' the chief item is constructing a high school, the revised estimate for which has since been sanctioned. Under 'Miscellaneous Irregularities', the bulk of the outstandings relate to outlay on water-supply works without, or in excess of, contributions or grants-in-aid.

Bengal.—The principal item under 'Want of Estimate' is the expenditure on the supply of electric energy at Dacca, mentioned in the preceding paragraph. Under 'Excess over Estimate', the important items are (a) constructing a dining hall as part of the Dacca University scheme, sanction to the detailed estimates for which is awaited, and (b) constructing a bungalow at Dacca. The last item has since been cleared.

United Provinces.—The bulk of the outstandings is made up of small items, some of which have since been sanctioned. Expenditure of 1,75 was incurred on 'Improvements to Agra water-supply' without a sanctioned estimate. Under 'Excess over Estimate', the important items are the Aligarh water-supply scheme, which has since been sanctioned by the Local Government, and the Lucknow water-supply from tube wells. Under 'Miscellaneous Irregularities', the chief items are (a) outlay on certain water-works in excess of contribution, for which the municipality concerned has applied to Government for a loan, and (b) outlay on two wells at Hardwar, which has since been adjusted.

Punjab.—The outstandings consist mainly of small items. The principal item outstanding under 'Excess over Estimate' represents an excess of 30 over the revised estimate sanctioned by the Secretary of State for compensation for land acquired for officers' residences at Lahore.

Burma.—The outstandings are mostly made up of small items, a number of which have since been adjusted.

Bihar and Orissa.—The bulk of the outstandings are under 'Excess over Estimate' and relate to works in connection with the New Capital. The most important are (a) Secretariat buildings (6,15), (b) Government House (1,58), and (c) High Court. The revised estimates for the first two are stated to be under submission to the Government of India, while the last awaits the submission of the completion report. Under 'Want of Estimate', the principal items are for (a) constructing a water-tower, and (b) tools and plant. The necessary estimate for the former is under preparation, and the latter has since been adjusted. An important item under 'Miscellaneous Irregularities' represents depreciation charges on a tramway line recoverable from certain contractors; nearly the whole of this has since been adjusted.

Central Provinces and Assam.—The outstandings are made up mostly of small items, some of which have been cleared.

Analysis of outstandings relating to 1913-14 and previous years.

33. Out of 152 items relating to 1913-14 and previous years shown as outstanding on the 31st July 1915, 102 were adjusted during the period under review. Although 67 per cent. of the number of items were adjusted, only 27·7 per cent. of the outstanding amount was cleared during the year. Of the balance of 50 items outstanding on the 31st July 1916, 1 relates to 1910-11, 4 to 1911-12, 11 to 1912-13, and 34 to 1913-14.

The following statement shows the outstandings of 1913-14 and previous years and the provinces to which they relate :—

In Bombay the item relating to 1910-11 represents expenditure in excess of the estimate for constructing an aqueduct. This has since been regularised.

The outstandings relating to 1911-12 represent outlay held under objection as 'Excess over Estimate' on works in connection with the Godavari Right and Left Bank Canals. One item has since been adjusted, while the others, which relate to the construction of water courses and canal excavation, await the orders of the Local Government on the completion reports.

The outstandings for 1912-13 consist of 2 items, amounting to 3, under 'Want of Estimate' and 6, amounting to 1,95, under 'Excess over Estimate.' The items under 'Want of Estimate' represent expenditure in connection with the Nira Right Bank Canal; one of these has since been adjusted. Under 'Excess over Estimate', four items represent further outlay on the works referred to in the preceding sub-paragraph; of the remaining two items, which represent expenditure on two culverts, one has been adjusted.

The outstandings for 1913-14 consist of 11 items, amounting to 73, under 'Want of Estimate', and 10, amounting to 1,93, under 'Excess over Estimate'. Under 'Want of Estimate', the outstandings relate to outlay on works in connection with Girna Left Bank and Nira Right Bank Canals; two of these items have since been sanctioned. Under 'Excess over Estimate', the outstandings relate mainly to works in connection with the Pravara and Godavari Right and Left Bank Canals; three of these items have since been adjusted.

In the Central Provinces, the outstandings of 1912-13 comprise outlay held under objection for 'Excess over Estimate' on 8 individual items comprised in the Ramtek Reservoir Project, which awaits the sanction of the Government of India to the completion report

The outstandings for 1913-14 include 3 items, amounting to 9, under 'Want of Estimate', and 4, amounting to 67, under 'Excess over Estimate.' The outstandings under 'Want of Estimate' are connected mainly with expenditure against the open capital account of the Ramtek Reservoir Project mentioned above, and those under 'Excess over Estimate' with expenditure on the Tandula Canal Masonry Works, of which a sum of 64 has since been cleared.

In Madras, the outstandings comprise two items under 'Want of Estimate' and 'Excess over Estimate' amounting to 2 and 27, respectively. The latter has since been adjusted, and the former, which represents the cost of establishment employed for the acquisition of land for the Chepaud Project, is awaiting sanction to the general revised estimate

In the Punjab, the outstandings represent outlay in excess of estimate. The principal item has been cleared.

Analysis of outstandings relating to 1914-15.

34. The following statement shows the outstandings relating to 1914-15 and the provinces to which they relate :—

(a) Amount less than one thousand.

North-West Frontier Province.—The important items under 'Excess over Estimate' are (a) excavating the Malakand Tunnel, for which the necessary sanction has since been received, and (b) excavating the Maira Branch, for which the completion report is awaited.

Madras.—Under 'Excess over Estimate', 3 items, amounting to 9, have since been adjusted. Under 'Miscellaneous Irregularities', the principal item represents a moiety of the expenditure incurred on repairs to a tank, recoverable from the zamindars concerned. Legal proceedings have been taken for the recovery of the amount.

Bombay.—Under 'Want of Estimate', the outstandings relate to works in connection with the Girna Left Bank and Nira Right Bank Canals mentioned in the preceding paragraph, while those under 'Excess over Estimate' relate mainly to works in connection with the Pravara Canals and the Godavari Right and Left Bank Canals.

Bengal.—The outstandings relate mainly to two works, namely, (a) construction of an embankment in connection with the Madaripur Bheel Route, and (b) dredging a river at Churmaguria. Both are awaiting sanction to the detailed estimates.

Central Provinces.—The outstandings relate chiefly to expenditure on individual works of the Tandula Canal and other projects which require sanctioned or revised estimates. Expenditure on the Khara Distributary of the Tandula Canal alone accounts for 2,40 under 'Want of Estimate'.

(a) Amount less than one thousand.

North-West Frontier Province.—The principal items are (a), the Malakand Tunnel, (b) the Maira Branch, and (c) the Indus Branch. The last has since been sanctioned.

Madras.—The principal items under 'Want of Estimate' are (a) the Nagavalli Project, expenditure on which was incurred after the closure of the construction estimate, and (b) the Divi Pumping Project. Under 'Excess over Estimate', the chief items refer to (a) the Punjapatti Reservoir Project—Special Tools and Plant and Land Compensation, (b) the Toludur Project—Special Tools and Plant, (c) sub-works of the Yellanur Project, and (d) the Yenamaduru Drain B—Land.

Bombay.—The bulk of the outstandings relates to works in connection with the Nira Right Bank, and the Pravara and Godavari, Canals; some of these have since been adjusted. Under 'Want of Estimate', an important item is the installation of a filter, which awaits sanction to detailed estimates.

Bengal.—The principal item under 'Want of Estimate' is the construction of an embankment in connection with the Madaripur Bheel Route. Under 'Excess over Estimate', the outstandings chiefly relate to the Madaripur Bheel Route Project (Capital account) (4,71), which awaits sanction to the revised project estimate.

United Provinces of Agra and Oudh.—Under 'Want of Estimate', the item represents expenditure on constructing a weir for certain permanent head-works, for which the estimate is stated to be under preparation. Under 'Excess over Estimate', the principal items relate to expenditure on (a) land for the Ghaggar Reservoir, and (b) additional locomotives, wagons, and crossings in the Bhimgoda Weir Division. The revised estimate for the former and the excesses in the latter have since been sanctioned by the Local Government. Under 'Excess over Appropriation', the important items are (a) Head-works Bhimgoda Weir Division, and (b) Works—Ghaggar canal, Mirzapur Canal Division. The excesses have since been sanctioned by the Local Government.

Punjab.—The outstandings relate chiefly to the Lower Chenab (62), Upper Jhelum (60), and Lower Bari Doab (17), Canals under 'Excess over Appropriation' and to the Upper Jhelum Canal (14) under 'Want of Estimate'. These have since been adjusted.

Burma.—One item, amounting to 2,58, in connection with the Twante Canal Project is responsible for the bulk of the outstandings under 'Excess over Appropriation'. Most of the other items have been cleared.

Bihar and Orissa.—The only important item has been cleared.

Central Provinces.—The outstandings under 'Want of Estimate' represent expenditure on individual works of irrigation projects, particularly the Tandula Canal (58) and Mahanadi Canal (29), for which detailed estimates are stated to be under preparation. Under 'Excess over Estimate', the most important items relate to the outlay on individual works in the Wainganga (3,86), Tandula (1,60), and Mahanadi (79), Canal Projects. The Local Administration have ordered that the revised estimates and completion reports of these works should be submitted without delay. The outstandings under 'Miscellaneous Irregularities' include (a) 25 advanced to the Bengal-Nagpur Railway for the construction of bridges over the Mahanadi Canal, for which completion reports are awaited, and (b) 20 due from contractors, of which 8 have since been cleared.

Financial Irregularities.

Irregular action with a view to avoiding lapses of Budget grants.

36. As in the Civil Department, several instances came to notice in which irregular action was resorted to with a view to avoiding lapses of grants. The ordinary devices adopted for this purpose were more or less the same as those noticed in previous reports. Advance payments were made and materials were purchased merely to utilise grants. Cheques were also drawn in anticipation of the receipt of materials, or of the completion of works, and kept in the cash chest. There were instances in which the balances of contractors' accounts were debited to the works at the close of the year by credit to deposits, and fictitious adjustments were effected to prevent lapses. Some cases are given below; others will be found in the appendix.

Bengal.

(a) It was noticed, during an inspection, that a cheque for Rs. 1,840-14-3 had been drawn on the 31st March 1915 and charged off in the cash book, although there was no intention of making an immediate disbursement, the work not having been completed. A final bill, purporting to be for completed work and supported by a certificate that measurements had been made by the overseer on the 27th March 1915, was forwarded to the divisional office on the 31st March with a request that the cheque should be withheld pending submission of the completion report. The bill was passed and a cheque drawn on the 31st March 1915, but the cheque was not actually made over to the contractor until after the overseer had reported in April 1915 that the building had been completed.

(b) A sum of Rs. 1,557 was paid on the 31st March 1915 to a firm in Calcutta by an Executive Engineer, for value of lathes ordered, and this was finally charged off in the accounts. In March 1916, or a year after, Rs. 799 were refunded by the firm and the amount appeared in the deposit account of the division. On enquiry it was elicited that the amount refunded represented the value of one lathe which the firm was unable to obtain from England. The original bill of March 1915 was entered in a measurement book and verified by the subordinate and his superior officer, although the full number of lathes had not been supplied. The Executive Engineer explained that the payment was made to the firm on their furnishing other articles of equal value as guarantee. When it became apparent that there was no possibility of the lathe being procurable, the firm returned the money and took back the articles they had furnished.

(c) In March 1915, a sum of Rs. 1,876-4-0 was paid for stores which were actually received on the 6th and 30th April 1915. Entries were made in the measurement book showing the articles as having been received in March.

United Provinces.

(d) A cheque was drawn on the 29th March 1915 for Rs 739-0-6 for a remittance transfer receipt in favour of a firm in payment of their bill, dated the 26th March 1915, on account of the supply of certain articles The goods were despatched in three boxes under separate railway receipts and were taken delivery of on the 15th April 1915. One of the boxes actually delivered belonged to another party, but the mistake was not detected nor was any report made to the railway authorities until the 26th May 1915. The correct box was eventually recovered on the 15th September 1915, or about six months after payment.

Burma.

(e) On the 31st March 1915, the following payments were made by an Executive Engineer for the supply of bridge materials—

(i) Rs. 4,500, which were charged to an estimate amounting to Rs. 6,825 sanctioned on the 27th March 1915 and for which an allotment of Rs. 3,500 was provided on that date.

(ii) Rs. 7,000, which were charged to an estimate amounting to Rs.17,352 sanctioned by the Local Government on the 31st March 1915 and for which an allotment of Rs. 8,500 was provided on that date.

At the inspection of the Executive Engineer's office in February 1916 it was noticed that the agreements with the firms were signed on the 20th and 5th August 1915, respectively. According to the specification subsequently drawn up, the approximate value of the materials to be supplied by the firm in the first case was Rs. 4,230 only. The materials were actually despatched from Rangoon by the firm on the 20th August 1915 and the difference was recovered in November 1915. In the second case, the correspondence with the firm showed that the materials were not in India in June 1915 and that they were expected to be ready in February 1916. The Executive Engineer explained that the payments were made with the approval of the Local Government mainly because it was apprehended that, unless the funds available at the close of the year were made use of, it would not be possible to find funds for these works until after the war. The Local Government stated that the advances were approved by them.

(f) American wire fencing was ordered by a telegram, dated the 31st March 1915, from a Rangoon firm and paid for on the same date on a voucher amounting to Rs. 426-9-0. Entries were also recorded in the measurement book. In a letter from the firm, dated the 21st July 1915, it was stated that the goods were in Liverpool and about to be shipped. The wire was actually received by the Executive Engineer on the 23rd September 1915.

(g) In the same Division, expanded metal was ordered from a Rangoon firm by an indent, dated the 23rd March 1915, paid for on a voucher for Rs. 284-8-0, dated the 30th March 1915, and entered in the measurement book as measured by the Sub-Divisional Officer. From the railway credit note, adjusted in the accounts for July, the expanded metal would appear to have been delivered in June 1915.

Central Provinces.

(h) With a view to avoiding lapses of grants, two Executive Engineers obtained remittance transfer receipts on the 30th and 31st March 1916 for Rs 920-4-0 and Rs. 1,357-8-0, respectively, for the supply of articles which were not actually delivered till some time after. Both these irregular payments occurred after the issue by the Local Administration of general instructions drawing attention to the principles laid down in article 84-A of the Civil Account Code. The Local Administration issued orders that the officer concerned in the former case should be reprimanded and that an entry to this effect should be made in his personal register and that the explanation offered by the officer responsible in the latter case could not be accepted as satisfactory.

Irregular action with a view to evading financial rules or audit objections.

37. There were several cases in which irregular adjustments were made with a view to evading financial rules or to avoiding audit objections. The object in most of the cases was to reduce excesses over sanctioned estimates or allotments and thus to obviate the necessity for higher sanction. Some instances are given below; others will be found in the appendix.

Bombay.

(a) An Executive Engineer purchased coal in excess of requirements to the extent of Rs. 2,565 in connection with certain water-works and debited the amount to 'Miscellaneous Advances', in contravention of the rule in paragraph 1331 of the Public Works Department Code and the specific instructions of the audit office on the point.

Bengal.

(b) It was noticed, during the audit of the accounts of a Division for March 1915, that certain adjustments, amounting to Rs 302-9-0, had been made, apparently with the object of reducing excesses over estimates On enquiry it was found that a part of the charges on certain vouchers appertaining to one work were written back to a different work.

Punjab.

(c) Two write-back orders for Rs. 1,392 and Rs. 400, respectively, were prepared and adjusted, in the supplementary accounts for March 1915, by debit to stock, with a view apparently to removing excesses over the estimate or allotment. In both the cases, no materials were actually transferred to stock.

Purchase of materials in advance, or in excess, of requirements.

38. Several instances were noticed which indicated a tendency on the part of Public Works officers to collect materials far in advance, or in excess of, requirements. In many cases, there was a loss to Government owing to the works for which the materials had been collected being subsequently abandoned and the materials deteriorating, becoming unserviceable, or being lost. There were also cases in which materials required at an advanced stage of the works were purchased even before the sites had been finally selected. The practice was specially noticeable in Madras. It is admitted that in some instances there may have been special reasons for advance purchases; but the large number of cases, which came to notice in audit, shows that special vigilance is required in this matter on the part of Local Governments and administrative authorities in the Public Works Department.

Madras.

(a) The expenditure on the construction of a police station to the end of December 1915 amounted to Rs. 3,068-13-6, representing mainly the cost of materials at site and advances made to contractors on materials supplied. The work is temporarily suspended, as the site orginally selected was not approved and the selection of another site is under consideration. The pay of a watchman at Rs. 10 a month was charged to the work in January and June 1916, and it is understood that the contractor, who met the charge for other months, has repudiated his liability.

(b) Expenditure to the extent of Rs 8,050, commencing from February 1914, was incurred on the collection of materials for the construction of certain police huts prior to the actual acquisition of the site. The articles purchased included some roofing materials required only at an advanced stage of the work. The Executive Engineer then considered that the site originally proposed, and approved by the Site Committee, was unsuitable and selected another site. He was, however, transferred and his successor, who preferred the original site, addressed the Collector on the 5th September 1915 regarding its acquisition. The work has now been indefinitely postponed for want of funds. The Local Government have ordered that the materials collected should be utilised elsewhere.

(c) Materials costing Rs. 2,469-9-2 were collected during 1912-13 and 1913-14 for the construction of a Deputy Tahsildar's office. An advance of Rs. 1,165-8-0 was also made to a contractor in March 1913, on the security of materials, in expectation of the work being commenced on the site chosen, but no agreement was obtained from him. The materials collected included iron girders, joists, and other articles, apparently required only at an advanced stage of the work, although no foundations for the work had been laid. The work was not commenced as expected owing to the site being unsuitable. Work having been suspended, a watchman on Rs. 6 a month was employed from May 1913. The old site was abandoned on the 17th November 1913 and a new site was acquired in June 1915. Asphalt worth Rs. 256-6-9 was collected departmentally between the date of the abandonment of the old site and the acquisition of the new one. The materials collected were removed to the new site in February 1916. The contractor having claimed interest on the capital invested by him on collecting materials and also the incidental charges for conveying them to the new site, an estimate for Rs. 2,722, representing unprofitable outlay, was submitted by the Superintending Engineer for the sanction of the Local Government in July 1916 The Local Government sanctioned the payment of Rs. 1,708 to the contractor on account of the loss sustained by him.

(d) An estimate for Rs. 15,950 was sanctioned in May 1913 for the construction of a police station and quarters and an outlay of Rs. 1,111-6-9, representing mainly the value of rough stone and metal, was incurred to the end of March 1914. The work was subsequently suspended and no further outlay was incurred, except the wages of a watcher, which amounted to Rs. 181-5-8 up to 20th October 1916 It is understood that the Superintendent of Police asked the Executive Engineer in October 1913 not to proceed with the work pending the settlement of the question as to whether a police station was necessary at the place. By that time all the materials had been collected. Of these, only materials worth Rs. 326-12-11 have been transferred to other works, the remainder having become unserviceable. The unprofitable outlay of Rs. 965-15-6 was written off under the orders of the Local Government in November 1916.

Bombay.

(e) A case occurred in which there were large excesses on the construction of certain buildings. The Executive Engineer on investigation found that a large stock of materials had been purchased in 1910, or several years before they were actually required for use. The construction of the buildings had not been started at the time and their eventual cost was increased owing to a fresh stock having to be obtained to replace timber and other materials which had deteriorated. It appeared that allotments were first sanctioned for the collection of materials and that the materials were purchased in order to utilise the funds According to the Executive Engineer's report to the Local Government, the materials-at-site accounts were not properly maintained and the issues to works were not promptly and regularly recorded, with the result that it was a matter of difficulty to make the final adjustments. The exact amount of loss to Government by deterioration, etc., could not be ascertained, as proper accounts of the materials had not been kept.

Behar and Orissa.

(f) Materials for three works had been collected some years previously under the orders of the Bengal Government. Two of the works were definitely abandoned, while the third has lately been revived and is under construction. At the end of the year 1914-15, the balance at debit of stock for the three works aggregated to Rs. 33,439, of which a sum of Rs. 23,230, being the loss on account of depreciation, was written off under the orders of the Local Government.

Losses to Government occasioned by want of care.

39. Some instances are furnished below in which losses of Government money occurred mainly owing to want of care on the part of responsible officers.

Madras.

(a) During the execution of a work, a contractor refused to carry out further work at the old rates. The Superintending Engineer then sanctioned higher rates for certain items which still remained to be done. In the report accompanying the revised estimate it was distinctly stated that the higher rates were applicable only to items then remaining to be done, but this was lost sight of in the Divisional and the Superintending Engineer's offices when the usual check was applied to the revised estimate and agreement. The omission resulted in a loss of Rs. 364-11-8 to Government.

Bombay.

(b) A Sub-Divisional Officer entrusted a sum of Rs. 2,300 to a store-clerk (Rs. 600 in cash and Rs 1,700 the amount of two cheques endorsed in the clerk's favour) with instructions to take delivery of a consignment of coal. The clerk, who had cashed both the cheques, accounted for Rs. 924-15-0 only and retained the balance. During the absence of the Sub-Divisional Officer on tour, the clerk absconded with the money. The Local Government ordered that the whole loss should be borne by the Sub-Divisional Officer.

Punjab.

(c) At an inspection of a Public Works Divisional office, it was noticed that final bills for the supply of bricks, of the value of Rs. 16,735, were paid by a Sub-Divisional Officer on the strength of an approximate count and classification of the bricks made by the sectional subordinate. On actual count and classification, the Executive Engineer discovered that an overpayment of Rs. 2,506 had been made. The loss was written off by the Local Government, under Public Works Department Code, Volume II, paragraph 1483 A, as no explanation could be obtained from the Sub-Divisional Officer who had proceeded on military duty out of India.

(d) On overhauling the accounts of a work, it was discovered that a sum of Rs. 2,965-10-7, representing the value of rolled steel beams used on the work and separately paid for, had not been recovered from the contractor's final bills, the rates in which covered the cost of the beams. Of this overpayment, a sum of Rs. 2,616-7-4 has since been recovered.

Financial interests of Government: disregard of.

40. Cases came to notice which indicated a lack of sufficient attention on the part of responsible officers to the financial interests of Government. Two instances are given below :—

Madras.

(a) Tramway materials, costing Rs. 14,190, were ordered in November 1914 by an Executive Engineer from a firm in India, on the ground of urgency. The previous sanction of the Local Government was not obtained, although provision had not been made in the sanctioned estimates. The materials were received in January 1915 and paid for in March 1915. The Executive Engineer submitted an application for the local purchase of the articles after their actual receipt. The Superintending Engineer submitted an estimate for Rs. 17,000 to cover the cost of purchase and stated that the tramway lines were required to lay a light portable railway track for the conveyance of bricks from a kiln 2½ miles distant from the work-site, and that the lines would be used also for certain other works at that place. The estimate was sanctioned by the Local Government in May 1915, and the application for the local purchase in June 1915. The lines, for which the purchase was urgently made, were not laid at all. The Executive Engineer stated in July 1915 that the lines need not be laid at that stage and that it was cheaper to convey the balance of bricks by carts. The lines were finally transferred to another Division in January 1916.

Burma.

(b) Two sets of European stores (mild steel bars), costing Rs. 1,414-4-0 and Rs. 1,304-15-0 respectively, were purchased by a Sub-Divisional Officer on grounds of urgency from a firm in Rangoon. Applications for sanction to the local purchases were submitted to the Superintendent, Central Stores Depôt, after the transactions had been practically completed. That officer certified that almost all the articles were in his stock and could have been supplied at less cost and estimated that the local purchases had caused a total loss of Rs. 954-14-2.

Expenditure not on a bona fide public object.

41. In the following cases, expenditure incurred for private purposes was irregularly debited to public funds

Bombay.

(a) It was found at an inspection by an audit officer that a Sub-Divisional Officer had carried out certain works on behalf of a Golf Club without remuneration This was done without the knowledge of the Executive Engineer. The Sub-Divisional Officer received money at different times amounting to Rs. 2,987-0-2 in all and also made payments to the extent of Rs. 2,671-15-5 on behalf of the Club and kept a private account of the receipts and payments. Certain pipes and bends, which had been purchased for a water-supply scheme, were also made use of by the Sub-Divisional Officer, who kept a separate private account of them. The Executive Engineer, who subsequently took charge of the district, found, in the course of his investigation into the excess on the estimate for the water-supply, that materials costing Rs. 1,175-13-2 had been issued to the Golf Club but not paid for by them. The Executive Engineer debited the amount recoverable from the Golf Club to 'Miscellaneous Advances' by credit to the water-supply accounts in the accounts for June 1915, and, after some correspondence with the Club, realized part of the amount in August 1915, and the remainder, including supervision charges, in September 1915. The liability of the Club would have remained undetected had not the issue of the stores in question caused an excess in the water-supply estimate. The Officer responsible for the irregularities is no longer in service and no action in regard to this particular case is therefore called for It is, however, advisable that steps should be taken to prevent similar irregularities in future

Punjab.

(b) In a Provincial Division, fuel-wood cut from road side trees was stocked and issued to officers at reduced rates, the resultant loss of Rs. 468-0-8 being written off by debit to works in progress.

Irregular measurements

42. In several cases, it was noticed that measurements of works had not been carefully made and that overpayments had occurred. The irregularity was specially prevalent in the United Provinces. Two cases are given below.

United Provinces.

(a) An examination by the Sub-Divisional Officer of measurements of earthwork, made by a Sub-Overseer and paid for, disclosed considerable excesses resulting in an overpayment of Rs. 1,790. There were also a few other instances of excess measurements, and measurements for works not carried out at all. The Sub-Overseer has been dismissed.

Burma.

(b) A contractor was at first paid for certain items of work done, which were said to have been measured It was subsequently found that only rough measurements had actually been taken. Measurements made in March disclosed an overpayment of Rs. 1,692-3-0 under one sub-head

Want of, or irregularity in, agreements for the execution of Public Works.

43 Several instances came to notice in which agreements in the prescribed forms were not obtained from contractors, or were not sanctioned by competent authority, before the commencement of the works This practice was specially prevalent in the United Provinces, Madras, and Bengal. In some cases, agreements requiring the sanction of higher authority were irregularly accepted by officers, while in a few others separate agreements were obtained from the same contractor for parts of the same work, in order to avoid applying for higher sanction It is essential that the rules should be scrupulously observed, if litigation and possible losses to Government are to be prevented.

Madras.

(a) The work 'Constructing Police lines' at a certain station was completed before April 1915 without an accepted agreement, and the final bill of the contractor for Rs. 13,192-3-11 was held back till August 1915 pending the Superintending Engineer's sanction to the agreement.

(b) In the same Division, it was observed, during the inspection of the office in October 1915, that a contractor had been paid Rs. 60,000 for several sub-works of the work 'Constructing a Police Recruit School,' (Estimate Rs. 2,31,450) without an accepted agreement.

Bengal.

(c) An Executive Engineer commenced a work and paid sums of Rs. 1,392-7-0 and Rs 5,253-13-0 to the contractor in February 1915 and March 1915, respectively, although the contractor's tender was accepted by the Superintending Engineer only in June 1915.

(d) In another case, an Executive Engineer commenced a work in February 1915 and paid Rs. 10,497 in March 1915, but the contracting firm's tender for the work was accepted by the Superintending Engineer only on the 12th August 1915.

United Provinces.

(e) Final payment to a contractor for metal consolidation was made in November 1914, while the Executive Engineer accepted the agreement only in February 1915. When scrutinizing the agreement, the Executive Engineer refused to accept an item for which a small payment had already been made.

(f) It was noticed, during the inspection of a Division in November 1915, that agreements for a police post (estimate Rs. 16,693) and a combined Post and Telegraph office (estimate Rs. 17,065) had not been sanctioned, although the buildings were then approaching completion, the expenditure already incurred having amounted to Rs. 15,480 and Rs. 14,220, respectively.

Materials-at-site accounts.

44. In some provinces, the materials-at-site accounts were not properly maintained. Issues of materials to contractors were in several cases not shown in these accounts at the time of issue, but the entries in the accounts were postponed until the cost was eventually recovered from the contractors' bills. The annual certificates of verification of the materials rendered to audit offices were not always based on an actual verification. Two instances are given below.

Madras

(a) The materials-at-site accounts of the work 'Improvements to a Government College' for March 1915 showed, among other items, 40 gallons of wood oil costing Rs 65-14-10, but the Sub-Divisional Officer noted that the oil was not at the site. Although the oil had apparently been missing since 1913, it continued to be shown in the accounts and was certified to at the annual verifications.

(b) The cost of paint, issued to a contractor for certain drainage works in February 1915, had not been debited to his account nor had the paint been shown as issued in the materials-at-site accounts up to July 1915, when the accounts of the Division were inspected. 94 barrels of cement issued from time to time to another contractor for use on the same work were not shown as issued in the materials-at-site accounts till their cost was recovered.

Contractors' Accounts.

45. In some provinces, contractors' ledgers were not maintained properly and delays were allowed to occur in the settlement of their bills. Moreover, materials issued to contractors were not always debited to their accounts at the time of issue as required by paragraph 1273-II of the Public Works Department Code, while in a few cases the prices charged to contractors were incorrect. Negligence in the upkeep of contractors' accounts is likely to lead to disputes and losses of Government money.

Bengal

(a) In order to clear the outstandings in contractors' ledgers, manipulations were sometimes made, with the result that the accounts did not represent actual facts. Two typical instances are given below:—

(i) Rs. 70-13-0 were debited to a contractor in March 1915 as difference in value of materials without any details as to how the amount was arrived at. The amount was the exact difference between the two sides of the ledger. Investigation showed that the correct debit should have been for Rs. 128-10-2, there being thus a balance of Rs. 57-13-2 which is recoverable from the contractor.

(ii) An outstanding of Rs. 141-2-0, which had existed since March 1913, was cleared in the ledger in March 1915, Final, by a credit entry 'difference in value of materials excess debited to constructing a treasury guard barrack Rs. 141-2-0.'

No details were given, no work abstract was prepared, and no attempt was made to clear the item from the accounts of the works. Investigation showed that the amount in question represented the value of materials issued in October 1912 which had not been recovered.

Disciplinary action was taken in the case of the Divisional Accountant responsible for the manipulations.

United Provinces.

(b) A firm of contractors were charged lower rates for the materials issued to them than those at which they were borne in the stock registers. The total loss to Government on account of the transaction amounts approximately to Rs. 7,000.

Road Metal returns. United Provinces.

46. A faulty system of accounting for road metal in the accounts and returns obtained in the United Provinces. No entries of receipts and issues of road metal were made in the road metal returns until bills for metal collected or consolidated had been paid. Under this practice, the balance in the road metal return became a minus quantity when payment for consolidation preceded payment for metal used in consolidation (i e, metal collected), and any attempt at verification of the book balances as a result of actual check by measurement was rendered impossible A scrutiny of these records during annual inspections showed that the quantities entered in the column 'result of actual check by measurement' of the road metal returns were almost invariably those of the book balances, even when the latter happened to be minus quantities. This would seem to indicate that in reality no actual check measurement was made in such cases These accounts cannot be satisfactory until the metal brought to site is promptly measured and at once brought on to the road metal returns, irrespective of payment, and until the issues are accounted for as soon as the transactions occur. The Local Government issued instructions on the subject in December 1916.

47 Charges on account of the pay of establishments were sometimes irregularly debited to works. Two instances are given below.

(a) A District Engineer asked for a temporary sub-overseer on Rs 25 a month to prepare site plans of certain lands. To avoid applying for higher sanction, the Executive Engineer sanctioned a work agent and debited his salary to works

(b) The pay of a man at Rs. 30 a month was charged to various works on which he was not employed. An order, dated January 1910, of an Executive Engineer of the Division ran as follows :—

'With the sanction of the Chief Engineer, the maistry is to be allowed to draw his pay as before on condition that he appears once a month to draw it. No regular work will be asked of him but he will be on hand in case any information is wanted of him.'

Expenditure of Government money in excess, or in anticipation, of depositor's contribution.

48. In the following instances, expenditure was incurred from public funds in excess, or in anticipation, of the depositor's contribution, in contravention of rule in paragraph 864, clause IV, of the Public Works Department Code.

Madras.

(a) Expenditure amounting to Rs. 7,294 was incurred to the end of May 1910 on repairs to a tank in anticipation of the receipt of contribution. A moiety of the amount was fixed by the Local Government as the share recoverable from the zamindars. A sum of Rs. 3,646-15-8 was accordingly debited to 'Miscellaneous Advances' in the Divisional accounts for September 1914. The money has not been recovered and legal proceedings have been taken.

Bombay.

(b) Expenditure to the extent of Rs. 5,18,810 was incurred during the year 1915-16 on 64 private, or municipal, works without receipt of contribution or in excess of the contribution due. The Local Government have sanctioned grants-in-aid in some cases and loans in others, and have made the local bodies responsible for the payment of the balance The balance still recoverable at the end of the year, including outstandings of the previous year, amounted to Rs. 2,37,682.

Delays in the settlement of objections.

49. In previous reports, attention has been drawn to the delay which often occurs in the settlement of objections raised in audit. Promptitude in the regularisation of expenditure and in the disposal of inspection and other audit reports issued by account offices is essential to the prevention of financial irregularities. A few instances of delay are given below :—

Bombay

(a) Constructing water courses :—

	Rs.
Estimate	12,400
Excess over estimate	4,583

	Rs.
1915-16	50

The excess appeared for the first time in March 1912 and was reported to the Local Government in the objection statement for March 1912, supplementary. The objections continued to be reported from time to time in the objection statements. The Local Government stated, in July 1915, that they proposed to deal with the excess on the completion report of a certain canal project. The project estimate was closed on the 31st March 1916 and the completion report was passed on to the Local Government in December 1916. The requisite sanction to the excess had not been received in the audit office up to the 7th February 1917

	Rs.
(b) Land compensation	12,645

	Rs.
1913-14	1,916
1915-16	8,110

Expenditure on the work first appeared in November 1912, and was reported to the Local Government from time to time in the objection statements up to December 1914. The Local Government stated that the estimates were awaited from the Superintending Engineer. A special report was made to the Local Government in April 1916. In May 1916, the Local Government referred the estimate to the audit office for report As the amount of the estimate exceeded the powers of sanction of the Local Government, the sanction of the Government of India was called for. The item has now been included in the revised project estimate of a certain canal, which has been submitted to the Government of India with a view to obtaining the sanction of the Secretary of State.

	Rs.
(c) Excavation of a Canal	79,873

Expenditure was incurred, without a sanctioned estimate, as follows :—

	Rs.

Expenditure on the work first appeared in March 1912, as a part of the outlay on the open capital account of a tank and a river extension project. Later on, it was decided that the river extension project should be dealt with separately and the entire outlay was separated and held under objection during 1913-14. A special report having been made to the Local Government in March 1913, it was stated that the estimates would be submitted shortly by the Executive Engineer. The objection continued to be reported in the several monthly and periodical objection statements. In a memorandum issued by the Local Government in January 1914, they approved of a preliminary recapitulation of works against the open capital account of the canal project, amounting to Rs. 1,52,505, and stated that formal orders on the whole project would issue later. The outlay continued to be reported to the Local Government in the objection statements and also by special letters in November 1915 and March 1916. In March 1916, the Local Government directed the Superintending Engineer to submit all estimates connected with the canal extension project, complete in all respects, through the audit office. The complete estimate for the project was passed on to the Local Government in December 1916 and is awaiting their sanction.

United Provinces.

(d) An audit officer's inspection report of a certain Division was sent to the Executive Engineer on the 22nd February 1916 Reminders to the Executive Engineer were issued on 18th April, 22nd May, 22nd June, 17th July and 30th August 1916. The matter was then reported to the Superintending Engineer and the Local Government. The report was received from the Superintending Engineer on the 11th October 1916.

(e) Expenditure on metalling a road, without an estimate, first appeared in the accounts for March 1911. Expenditure amounting to Rs 7,090 has been incurred to the end of March 1916. The item was reported monthly to the Superintending Engineer and periodically to the Local Government in the objection statements. On the report for the period ending with March 1915, issued on the 5th August 1915, the Local Government ordered that the Superintending Engineer should see that the estimate was sanctioned at an early date. The item was again reported to the Local Government in November 1915. It was also included in the objection statement for December 1915, issued on the 7th March 1916, when the Superintending Engineer stated that the estimate had been sent to the Commissioner for administrative sanction on the 23rd February 1916 and had not been received back. The orders of the Local Government on this report were that the Superintending Engineer should see that sanction to the estimate was expedited. The attention of the Local Government was again drawn to the matter in May 1916, and the expenditure was included in the objection statement for March 1916, issued on the 12th August 1916, on which the Superintending Engineer explained that the estimate was still under revision and that a special letter on the history of the estimate was being sent to the Chief Engineer. He mentioned also that the Executive Engineer had reported that the work had been stopped pending further orders. The Local Government eventually passed the expenditure incurred without an estimate. The matter is under further reference to the Local Government.

Posts and Telegraphs.

Percentage of objections to total expenditure.

50. The following statement shows the gross amount of objections raised in the Posts and Telegraphs Department during the year under review, the net amount of objections representing infringements of financial rules, the amount of expenditure audited, and the percentage which the net objections bear to the total expenditure.

1. Total amount placed under objection		52,79
2. Deduct :—Amount relating to Debt heads including Suspense	27,04
3. Amount placed under objection for want of detailed contingent bills	14,65

4. Net expenditure placed under objection which represents deviation from rules		11,10
5. Total expenditure debited to service heads audited during the year		4,51,07

The corresponding percentage for the preceding year was 3·1.

Analysis of Outstanding Objections.

Balances of objections on the 31st July 1916.

51. The following statement shows the balances of objections raised up to the 31st March 1916, but remaining unadjusted on the 31st July 1916, in the Post Office and Indian Telegraph Traffic, and Indo-European Telegraph, Departments.

Indo-European Telegraph	..	15	3	18	6	+12
Total .	22	1,37	7	1,66	69	+97

The increase of 85 in the Post Office and Indian Telegraph Traffic Department, as compared with the similar figure for the preceding year, was mainly due to objections against Base Post Offices and to an item of 7, being the rent charged by the South Indian Railway for the Post Office building at Dhanushkodi held under objection for want of proper sanction. The increase of 12 in the Indo-European Telegraph Department was mainly due to the war.

Classification of outstandings according to years.

52. The following statement shows the outstandings according to the years to which they relate:—

	31st July 1916	4	1	35	1	1,402	1,64	1,441	1,66

The items for 1913-14 and previous years represent privilege leave allowances drawn by a military telegraphist pending the sanction of the Secretary of State, and amounts recoverable in connection with the loss of a registered bag which are being regularly recovered from the pension of a retired official. The items for 1914-15 are mainly on account of objections against Base Post Offices.

The objections for 1915-16, outstanding on the 31st July 1916, are classified as follows:—

Want of sanction	1,27
Want of detailed countersigned bills	19
Want of sub-vouchers, etc.	8
Service payments for recovery	7
Other objections	3
Total .	1,64

Under 'Want of sanction' and 'Want of detailed countersigned bills,' the figures were largest in Bombay, owing to a large number of objections against Base Post Offices which were unavoidable in the conditions of work on field service.

53. The following statement shows the balances of objections outstanding on the 31st July 1916 in the Indian Telegraph Engineering Department. The figures of the preceding year are also given for the purpose of comparison.

(a) Amount less than one thousand.

There was an improvement of 32 in the balance outstanding on the 31st July 1916, as compared with the preceding year, which was mainly due to the fact that the figures for 1914-15 included a special item of 22 on account of the value of stores found to be deficient at the independent stock-taking of the Alipore Store Depôt. This item was adjusted in 1915-16.

The outstandings of 1914-15 represent (1) two items on account of railway freight excess charged, one of which has since been adjusted, and (2) one item on account of travelling allowance irregularly drawn, which is being recovered in monthly instalments.

The outstandings of 6 under 'Miscellaneous irregularities' include three items of 1914-15; the remaining items relate to the year 1915-16, and are analysed below :—

Financial Irregularities.

Attempts to evade audit rules.

54. There were a few cases in which schemes of expenditure were split up and sanctioned piecemeal in order to avoid having to obtain the sanction of higher authority. The Director General of Posts and Telegraphs issued general orders in June 1916 prohibiting this type of irregularity.

Irregular action with a view to avoiding lapses of grants.

55. In the following instances, irregular action was resorted to, apparently with a view to avoiding lapses of grants.

(a) In a muster roll for Rs. 350, paid on the 27th March 1915, labourers were shown in several cases as having been actually present up to the 31st March 1915 and the sums paid were calculated inclusive of that date.

(b) A sum of Rs. 1,050-0-0, representing passage charges of labourers, was charged in the accounts for March 1915, although the claim was preferred only on the 7th April 1915.

Railways.

Percentage of objections to total expenditure: Comparison with 1914-15.

56. Of the total expenditure of the year, amounting to 37,44,43, 1,50,84, or 4·03 per cent., were placed under objection. The corresponding percentage in 1914-15 was 4·82*.

* Differs from the figures shown in the last report owing to alterations since made by the Accountant General, Railways, with a view to excluding merely formal or technical objections.

Analysis of Outstanding Objections.

Outstanding balance on 31st July 1916: Comparison with 1914-15.

57. The following statement shows the balances of the several classes of objections, raised up to the 31st March 1916 but remaining unadjusted on the 31st July 1916. The corresponding figures of the preceding year are also given for purposes of comparison :—

TOTAL		849	1,49,51	(a)935	(a)1,95,15	—86	—45,64

(a) Differs from the figures shown in the last report owing to alterations since made by the Accountant General, Railways, with a view to excluding merely formal or technical objections.

The total sum under objection under all heads of account on the 31st July 1916 was 1,49,51 as compared with 1,95,15 in the preceding year. There was thus a net reduction of 45,64, which is attributable mainly to the regularisation of the following large items which were outstanding in the preceding year for 'Want of Estimate' and 'Excess over Estimate' :—

Eastern Bengal Railway—

Sara-Santahar Broad Gauge construction	14,02
Remodelling Naihati yard	4,28

North Western Railway—

Laki Pezu Tank construction	16,23

The increase of 3,99 under the head 'Want of Appropriation' occurred chiefly on the East Indian Railway and was due to expenditure having been incurred on certain urgent open line works. An unavoidable payment had also to be made to the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway in connection with the transfer of land at Delhi.

Classification according to years.

58. In the following statement the outstandings are classified according to the years to which they relate :—

Particulars of the larger outstandings are given below :—

Assam-Bengal.—Earthwork, Kooseara Sylhet Section (2,06). The objection is being regularized by re-appropriation.

Burma.—The objections relate chiefly to the Southern Shan States Railway. These will be removed on receipt of the Secretary of State's sanction to the revised estimate for the project, which is being applied for.

Great Indian Peninsula.—The principal items are :—

(i) Land for Victoria Terminus (3,98). The acquisition of land has been approved by the Railway Board. The estimate is under consideration.

(ii) Renewal of coaching and goods stock during 1912-13 and 1913-14 (9,75). The objection will be cleared by final adjustments between Capital and Revenue based on actuals.

Analysis of outstandings relating to 1914-15.

61. Out of the 680 items relating to 1914-15 outstanding on the 31st July 1915, 538 were adjusted by the 31st July 1916. The remaining outstandings are given in the following statement :—

Assam-Bengal.—All the items under 'Excess over Estimate' are covered by administrative sanction.

Burma.—The objections relate chiefly to the Southern Shan States Railway. These will be removed on receipt of the Secretary of State's sanction to the revised estimate for the project, which is being applied for.

Great Indian Peninsula.—The major portion of the amount under objection is accounted for by the following items :—

(i) Parel—New locomotive erecting shop (5,72). A revised estimate for the work has since been sanctioned by the Railway Board.

(ii) Relaying 128 miles between Igatpuri and Duskheda (11,40). The completion reports, in which the excess will be regularised, have been submitted to the Railway Board for sanction.

North Western.—The principal item is :—

Remodelling the Lahore yard (80). The objection will be removed when the revised estimate for the work, which has been submitted to the Railway Board, is sanctioned.

62. The outstandings relating to 1915-16 are analysed in the following statement :—

Assam-Bengal.—The principal item is :—

Restoration of Hill Section (5,70). The objection will be removed when the detailed estimate is sanctioned by the Railway Board.

Eastern Bengal.—The principal item is :—

Taking over Paksey Colony (3,00). The Railway Board has since sanctioned the transfer of the colony to the Eastern Bengal Railway and the objection has been removed.

East Indian.—The principal items are :—

(i) Burdwan—Howrah Chord—Saktigarh—Kamarkundu—Bally (1,25). The objection will be regularized on sanction being given by the Railway Board to the revised re-appropriation statement.

(ii) The 'Excess over Appropriation' (6,28) was due chiefly (a) to the actuals for debits to Capital on account of substantial renewals of permanent way during the year having exceeded the provision made, consequent on more relaying work having been done than first estimated for and to a rise in the price of materials, and (b) to the fact that an engineering firm, who were expected to pay 11,36 on account of materials supplied to them for the construction of the Jhind-Panipat Railway, made a part payment of 9,10 only on the 30th March 1916 when it was too late to restrict expenditure.

Great Indian Peninsula.—The major portion of the amount under objection is accounted for by the following items :—

(i) Quadrupling Curry Road to Kalyan (1,76). The objection has since been removed.

(ii) Kalyan remodelling (Engineering heads) (2,68). Revised estimates are under preparation.

(iii) Renewal of 36 engines (4,70). This will be regularized by final adjustments between Capital and Revenue based on actuals on completion of the work.

Other Railways.—The principal item is—

Lower Ganges Bridge (15,32) —This consists chiefly of (i) 3,11, which will be regularized on completion reports the preparation of which has been taken in hand, (ii) 2,92, which are in course of adjustment, and (iii) 9,18, representing suspense balances the clearance of which is in progress.

Financial Irregularities.

Manipulation of Accounts to avoid audit objections.

63. The following more important financial irregularities are brought to notice :—

(a) A district officer purchased a steam road roller for Rs. 6,445 and charged the cost to Ordinary Revenue Maintenance, because no estimate or allotment for it had been sanctioned under Capital, to which head it was properly chargeable. A write-back was subsequently made.

(b) In the accounts of the Carriage and Wagon Workshops of a railway for August 1914, lump sum adjustments amounting to Rs. 5,656 were made under the head 'labour' in the case of certain work orders, merely for the purpose of covering up excesses.

Irregular accounting for stores.

64. In the course of a reconciliation between a District Engineer's permanent-way material accounts and the audit stores ledgers made in 1913-14, large discrepancies were found, which the district accounts clerk was required to investigate and adjust in the district stores accounts. Following this reconciliation, various adjustment memoranda were sent in and incorporated in the audit ledgers. The next reconciliation took place in 1915-16 and it then came to light that large fictitious adjustments had been included in the reconciliation adjustments of 1913-14. One item of these related to some 200,000 bearing plates, valued at 1½ lakhs of rupees, which had been shown as returned from revenue renewals and brought on to the reserve stock. A joint enquiry by engineering and audit representatives showed that the district material accounts had been very unsatisfactorily kept. Adjustments showing materials issued to, or returned from, works had been made without any foundation—in fact with apparently no other reason than misguided and ignorant attempts to get the material accounts into agreement. These adjustments, some of which were not even advised to audit, were approved by the district officer, though, seeing that in several cases large sums were involved, it should have been obvious to him that they were not in order.

Defective method of taking measurements.

65. During a local audit inspection of an engineering district, the earthwork paid for was fully analysed and compared with the work orders drawn up from sectional measurements, and it was found that the through rates actually paid were considerably higher than the average through scheduled rates entered in the work orders originally issued and signed by contractors. Measurements were taken by overseers and entered on the back of work orders. These measurements were subsequently entered by Assistant Engineers in their measurement books at the time of preparing bills and there were no indications of any check having been exercised. There was no authority for such measurements, involving large sums of money, being entrusted to subordinates. A large number of measurements were in pencil and in many cases quantities were omitted to be calculated and entered in ink on the back of work orders in order to avoid subsequent fraudulent alterations in the measurements originally taken. The entry of measurements on the back of work orders in the possession of contractors is in itself a very serious irregularity. Several of these measurements had been subsequently altered or erased, and slips with fresh entries pasted over them, and it cannot be said to what extent these alterations are genuine.

Expenditure in anticipation, or in excess, of depositor's contribution.

66. (a) Certain works were carried out by a railway for a private company, without requiring the latter to deposit in advance the total estimated cost of the works. A sum of Rs. 1,402-3-0 was outstanding for more than four years, with no prospect of recovery. The Railway Board, in sanctioning the write-off of the amount, have pointed out the necessity for the strict observance of the rule requiring that no work should be undertaken on private account until the total estimated cost has been deposited.

(b) Expenditure on a factory siding, which was constructed for a private company, was incurred without taking a deposit of the estimated amount from the party concerned and was debited in the first instance to final heads in the accounts of the railway. The whole transaction was irregular. The amount was adjusted in August 1915.

Double claims.

67. (a) Famine allowances for three different sections of his district were twice claimed by a district officer. The pay of the head pay sheet clerk and his assistant was reduced for their carelessness.

(b) Certain bonuses were twice claimed by a district officer, and an enquiry elicited the fact that his office had submitted the office and fair copies to audit. Both sets of copies had been signed and no distinguishing marks appeared on the office copies.

Pay of regular establishment charged to works to avoid higher sanction.

68. (a) Two 'Mistries' entered on a labour muster sheet charged to works were found to be actually employed as office clerks.

(b) At an audit inspection of the Carriage and Wagon Workshops of a railway, the wages of 21 men employed on clerical duties and of 9 utilized as peons were found to have been charged to works.

Irregular issues of materials.

69. It came to notice that, in a certain railway, 4,967 yards of long cloth, costing Rs. 1,450, were issued partly in May 1913 and partly in March 1914 by the stores Department to certain contractors for sewing uniforms, on a requisition prepared in the Traffic Manager's office without proper authority. The matter was reported to the Agent, and as a result the services of the head clerk of the Traffic Manager's office have been dispensed with.

Frauds and misappropriation of money.

70. (a) A signal inspector of a railway fraudulently drew wages amounting to Rs. 150 for workmen who had not been in the employ of the railway. This was detected by a comparison of the thumb marks on muster rolls. Criminal proceedings were instituted and the inspector was sentenced to rigorous imprisonment for six months.

(b) A ballast train cooly contractor, in collusion with the head clerk of the District Engineer's office and four guards of ballast trains, defrauded the railway of a large amount of money by falsifying accounts. The method adopted was as follows:—

The contractor under his agreement with the railway was to supply a certain minimum number of coolies for each ballast train, for which he was paid at daily rates for each cooly. A 10 per cent. commission on the total value of the labour supplied was also allowed, which was to be reduced to 5 per cent. if the number of coolies fell below the minimum of 150 and a fine was to be inflicted on the contractor for every cooly short of the minimum number. It was therefore to the interest of the contractor to keep the supply of coolies on each train up to the minimum number. With the connivance of four guards of the ballast trains and the head clerk of the District Engineer's office, he sent in false reports of the number of coolies working on the ballast trains and was thus paid for labour which was never supplied by him. The parties concerned were prosecuted and were sentenced to varying terms of imprisonment. The loss to the railway, which was roughly estimated at a lakh of rupees, has been written-off with the sanction of the Government of India.

(c) A sum of of Rs. 2,075-7-9 was embezzled by the head clerk of a District Office, who was allowed to collect money and grant informal receipts on behalf of the officer in charge. The clerk was convicted and sentenced to imprisonment for a period of nine months. The amount embezzled has since been recovered. The fraud could have been detected earlier if ordinary care and supervision had been exercised by the officer in charge. Disciplinary action has been taken by the railway in the case of the officer responsible and measures have been adopted to prevent such frauds.

(d) A Station Master embezzled a sum of Rs. 2,912-4-0, being the goods earnings for March and April 1915. Consignments were received and delivered, but freight was not accounted for, all entries in the proper books of the receipt of consignments and their delivery having been omitted. The collection of a further sum of Rs. 2,975 on account of demurrage of inward goods was evaded by the falsification of entries in the station books. On the detection of the fraud, the Station Master committed suicide.

(e) A sum of Rs. 3,399-3-0 was embezzled by a booking clerk, who adopted the plan of accounting for a smaller number of tickets as sold than was actually sold, by issuing tickets from bundles of tickets in stock instead of from the ticket tubes in use, and by withholding part of the day's earnings. The booking clerk absconded and has not yet been apprehended. The assistant booking clerk was sentenced to two years' rigorous imprisonment, but on appeal was acquitted. The failure of the audit office to detect the fraud at an earlier stage was due to the gross carelessness of a clerk and to want of co-ordination, and very perfunctory working in two sub-sections of the traffic audit branch.

Suitable action has been taken in regard to the members of the audit staff responsible for this failure to carry out their duties.

(f) At a certain station, a travelling inspector of accounts discovered that a number of tickets to various stations were missing from the ticket tube. These were intermediate numbers and had been taken from the middle of the bundles in the tubes. An examination of ticket collectors' reports and collected tickets of destination stations proved in many cases that these tickets had been actually used and were duly collected at destination; but, owing to the fact that the mis-issued tickets were collected on days when highest numbers were not picked out, the irregularity was not discovered in audit. The services of the assistant booking clerk responsible in the case were dispensed with and a note of censure was recorded in the service sheet of the head booking clerk.

(g) In a booking office of a certain station, cash realised by sale of passenger tickets during the months of January, February and March 1916 was not remitted promptly, but the amount was made good and duly accounted for within the month and thus detection in audit was evaded. The travelling auditor, while inspecting the station, suspecting something wrong, wired for the numbers of tickets collected from certain stations; this led to the detection of the fraud. Under the present system in force on the railway it is not possible for the station staff to commit such a fraud as the proof book, instead of being kept permanently at stations, is now sent to audit directly after the close of the month. This enables a check to be exercised by audit on the returns of collected tickets received daily from stations. The travelling auditors are also now required to check carefully the entries in this book while it is at the station and to show in it the actual commencing numbers of tickets on hand, so as to enable them to check the tickets issued, and also to enable the audit office to check the numbers with subsequent ticket collected reports.

(h) A defalcation, amounting to Rs. 1,131-7-0, was discovered in the coaching accounts of a station. Of this, Rs. 499-14-3 were realized from the booking clerk's dues, viz., provident fund and security deposit, and from a fine realized by the court. The balance was written-off under the sanction of the Agent. The fraud consisted chiefly of short remittances of receipts in passenger, parcels, and luggage traffic and was not due to any defect in the system of accounts. The booking clerk was prosecuted and sentenced to undergo six months' imprisonment and to pay a fine of Rs. 300.

(i) Rs. 1,299, representing moneys received from customs as refunds payable to merchants, were misappropriated by a station master. The fraud was made possible through a practice by which the station master made such payments direct to merchants. The matter has received the attention of the audit office and it has since been decided that refunds in future should be authorised only by the Traffic Manager or Assistant Traffic Superintendent, on pay orders to be sent to the audit office for payment. The amount misappropriated has been recovered from the station master.

(j) In March 1916, a report was received from the traffic department of a railway showing that, as a result of enquiries made in connection with information received from audit concerning certain invoices unaccounted for, an embezzlement to the extent of Rs. 2,906-10-0 had been discovered in the goods cash of a station. At the time the fraud occurred, large consignments of salt were being regularly received at that station, and in November 1914 temporary misappropriations of freight commenced on these consignments. Freight was withheld on ten consignments, and paid back after periods averaging a month, the books and accounts being adjusted by the alteration of dates of invoices and of particulars of arrival and unloading of the consignments, to make them agree with the dates of payment of cash. Subsequently, bolder methods were adopted and, during the months of January and February 1915, the clerk succeeded in embezzling freight amounting to Rs. 2,906-10-0, on eleven invoices. This was done by the simple process of destroying both invoice and receipt after the collection of freight, and making no entries in connection with the goods either in the station records or in the returns to audit. The embezzlement escaped detection until some months afterwards, when copies of the invoices were obtained from the forwarding railway, and enquiries were instituted regarding the disposal of the goods carried under them. In the meantime, the clerk concerned had been dismissed for other offences, but he has since been arrested and prosecuted, and sentenced to 18 months' rigorous imprisonment, including 2 months' solitary confinement, and a fine of Rs. 1,000 or, in default, four months' further rigorous imprisonment. The travelling inspector of accounts, who could have detected this fraud earlier but failed to do so through carelessness and indifference, has been punished by reduction in his pay.

Army.

71. The following paragraphs contain the usual information regarding the expenditure under objection and financial irregularities in the Army Department. The special points arising out of the war are dealt with in a separate section of this report.

Percentage of objections to total expenditure: Comparison with 1914-15.

72. The total gross expenditure audited by the Supply and Divisional Controllers in India amounted approximately to 44,05,26 during the year under review, while 1,65,62 were placed under objection. The percentage amounts to 3·76 as compared with 6·97 in the preceding year.

Analysis of outstanding Objections.

Classification of outstandings according to years and comparison with 1914-15.

73. The following statement shows the balances of objections, raised up to the 31st March 1916 but remaining unadjusted on the 31st July 1916. The corresponding figures for the preceding year are also given, as far as possible, for purposes of comparison:—

(a) Amount less than one thousand.

It will be observed that on the 31st July 1916 there were outstandings to the extent of 51,04 as compared with 1,16,43 on the same date in the preceding year.

Classification of outstandings according to Divisions, etc.

74. The following statement shows these outstandings according to the Divisions to which they relate :—

The large increase (6,29) in the balance outstanding on the 31st July 1916 in the 3rd (Lahore) Division, as compared with the preceding year, was due to the delay in the adjustment of a large number of objections owing to the non-receipt of the necessary information from officers and men who had proceeded on field service overseas.

75. The reasons for the outstandings are explained below:—

1912-13—The sum of 19 outstanding in the 6th (Poona) Division represents the loss sustained by the State on account of the failure of a contractor. Legal steps were taken for the recovery of the amount; the case is, however, on the sine die list of the Court of the District Judge, Poona.

1913-14.—The sum of 1 outstanding includes several small items which have since been adjusted.

1914-15.—The outstandings amount to 6,61 as against 1,15,99 shown in the last report. Of the total, 62 have since been adjusted, 4,94 are outstanding for want of vouchers or other particulars which have been called for, 97 are under recovery, and 8 are awaiting Government sanction. Steps have been taken for the early adjustment of the outstandings.

1915-16.—Of the total of 44,23, 16,31 have since been adjusted, 22,00 are outstanding owing to want of vouchers or other details, 4,28 are under recovery, and 1,64 are awaiting Government sanction.

The delay in the settlement of these outstandings is chiefly due to increase of work on account of the war and the absence of experienced clerks in the field account offices. With the assistance of extra temporary establishments and of the gazetted staff and accountants deputed from civil accounts offices, it is hoped that the outstandings will be reduced in the next few months.

ACCOUNTS OF FIELD CONTROLLERS.

76. The expenditure placed under objection during the year under review (14,98) represents 3·69 per cent. of the total expenditure (12,16,83) audited in the Field Controllers' offices during the year.

77. The following statement shows the balances of objections raised up to 31st March 1916, but remaining unadjusted on the 31st July 1916, in the books of the Field Controllers :—

—	Items awaiting clearance.	Service payments for recovery.	TOTAL.

Relating to 1915-16	17,65	1,25	18,90

78. The following statement shows the outstandings under each field office :—

The objections may be classified under the following heads :—

For recovery of amounts overcharged . . .	1	3
For want of Government or other sanction . .	3,00	10,73
For want of vouchers, last pay certificates, certificates of payments or other particulars . . .	1	2,91

Amounts adjusted after 31st July 1916 . .	...	82
	21,94

Of the sum of 21,94 outstanding, 13,65 represent the amount of advances granted to a firm for the hire of ships, the rate for which is under consideration by the Government of India in communication with the Secretary of State. The major portion of the balance represents expenditure on account of supplies, for which documents and other information are not forthcoming.

Financial Irregularities.

79. The following instances are brought to notice :—

(a) An Officer Commanding a depôt handed over to a temporary clerk a cheque for Rs. 3,301-4-0, representing the pay of establishments and family allotments of the men for December 1915, for encashment at the treasury. The clerk cashed the cheque and absconded with the money. A sum of Rs. 500 was recovered from the officer concerned and the balance was written off under the orders of the Government of India.

(b) A bill for Rs. 274-4-4, being the cost of 6,360 lbs. of gram, was passed by an Officer in charge of supplies of a Brigade, although the amount was included in another bill passed for payment on the same day. The over-payment is under recovery.

(c) The manager of a dairy farm showed, in his cash balance for March 1916, a sum of Rs. 6,450-0-1 as balance in hand. This amount was stated, on enquiry, to be mainly composed of Rs. 4,477-8-0 on account of uncompleted buildings, and Rs. 1,808-5-7 on account of a supply order placed with contractors. In the course of the local audit of the accounts of the dairy, it was noticed that a sum of Rs. 2,630 only had been actually disbursed before the 21st March 1916 and the balance, namely Rs. 3,655-13-7, had been kept in the personal custody of the manager. The amount kept in hand was apparently drawn when there was no reasonable prospect of the amount being spent within the year, with a view to avoiding a lapse of grant.

Military Works.

80. As will be seen from paragraph 3 above, this portion of the report relates to expenditure incurred directly by Officers of the Military Works Services and does not include Military Works expenditure incurred in the Public Works Department of Local Governments and Administrations.

Percentage of objections to total expenditure: Comparison with 1914-15.

81. Under 47—Military Works, the total expenditure during the year under review was 1,19,31, of which 47,22 were placed under objection, showing a percentage of 39·6 as against 27·5 in the preceding year. The increase in the percentage was the result of war conditions and was mainly due to expenditure incurred without sanctioned estimates on certain hospitals and aviation camps, on improvements to roads in the North-West Frontier to render them suitable for mechanical transport, and to outlay without appropriation on several works. Under 47 A.—Special Defences, the percentage of objections to the total expenditure is 23·7 as against 28·7 in the preceding year, the total expenditure during the year under review being 2,03, out of which 48 were placed under objection.

Comparison with 1914-15.

83. The balance of 22,98 is made up of 10,29 under 'Ordinary Demands', 12,28 under 'Special Demands', and 41 under 'Special Defences', while the corresponding figures for 1914-15 were 3.84, 8,28, and 1, respectively. The large increase, as compared with the preceding year, was mainly due to war conditions, expenditure having been incurred on several works without sanctioned estimates or allotments of funds. Moreover, expenditure on certain works, which were originally treated as 'War measures,' was subsequently written back to Military Works—Ordinary Demands in the accounts for March 1916, Supplementary, when it was too late to arrange for funds under the latter head.

Analysis of outstandings according to years.

84. Out of 36 items relating to 1913-14 and previous years, which were outstanding on the 31st July 1915, 18 were adjusted during the period under review.

The item specially referred to in paragraph 65 of my last report, which represents a sum of 11 advanced in March 1912 and Feburary 1913 to an Officer Commanding a Volunteer Rifles Corps for the construction of an Armoury and Sergeant Instructor's quarters, still remains unadjusted. The Officer Commanding states that endeavours are being made to obtain additional funds from the Local Government for the work and, if these are not received shortly, work to the extent of the funds available will be put in hand.

The outstandings for 1914-15 and 1915-16 consist largely of expenditure incurred in anticipation of sanction to detailed estimates.

85. It has been roughly estimated that the percentage of Military Works started during the year without detailed sanctioned estimates was 32·46 against 32·75 in the preceding year. This estimate is based on statistics for 8 districts selected at random.

Financial Irregularities.

Irregular action with a view to avoiding lapses of grants.

86. In paragraph 67 of my last report, attention was drawn to the practice prevailing in the Military Works Services of resorting to irregular procedure with a view to avoiding lapses of grants. During the year under review the Director-General issued a circular on the subject, which appears to have resulted in a material improvement. Some of the instances, which occurred after the issue of the circular, are mentioned below.

(a) The value of 240 casks of cement, ordered from a firm in Madras on the 23rd March 1916, was billed for on the 24th March 1916 and a remittance transfer receipt was drawn on the 28th March 1916, although the material was not actually received until the 3rd April 1916. The cement was also incorrectly shown by the storekeeper as receipts in his stock accounts for March 1916.

(b) Remittance transfer receipts for Rs. 501-8-0, being the value of coir matting, durries, and mats, were drawn in March 1916, apparently prior to the actual receipt of the articles. The remittance transfer receipts were actually forwarded to the firms concerned in the middle of April 1916.

(c) In a certain District, there were five instances in which remittance transfer receipts for a total sum of Rs. 708-10-0 were drawn in March 1916 in anticipation of receipt of the stores and were forwarded to the firms concerned in April 1916. The Assistant Commanding Royal Engineer explained that railway receipts for the consignments were received before the remittance transfer receipts were drawn.

Irregularities in regard to contracts.

87. Irregularities in regard to the acceptance of tenders for the execution of Military Works came to notice, of which instances are given below.

(a) Tenders for road work during 1914-15 (approximate value, Rs. 8,000) were invited by an Assistant Commanding Royal Engineer. Tenders from several contractors varying from 45½ per cent. to 25 per cent. below the estimated rates were received and the lowest tender was accepted. Subsequently, on a representation from the contractors, the abatement was reduced from 45½ per cent. to 23 per cent., notwithstanding the fact that the tenders of other contractors were much more favourable.

(b) In some districts, contracts were entered into without inviting tenders publicly as required by paragraph 762 of the Public Works Department Code, Volume I.

Losses to Government.

88. The following cases indicate the need for a closer attention to the financial interests of Government, or for a more careful observance of the prescribed rules and procedure.

(a) Recoveries made on account of water supplied to non-entitled persons in certain cantonments did not cover the amount paid for the same by the Military Works Services to the Municipality concerned and Military Works Funds were in consequence being charged with the deficit, which amounted approximately to Rs. 2,500 per annum.

(b) On the transfer of a sub-conductor in charge of the barrack department, certain deficiencies in the barrack furniture were discovered, amounting to about Rs. 530. The officer at fault was tried by court-martial and reduced to the rank of Sergeant. The value of the deficiencies was also made good by him. There was no evidence of stock and barrack furniture having actually been counted in this sub-district.

(c) A contractor deposited a sum of Rs. 2,381 in cash with the Assistant Commanding Royal Engineer, on account of security for the fulfilment of a contract. The officer deposited the amount in a private bank in contravention of the rule in Public Works Department Code, Volume I, paragraph 387. The deposit in the private bank is said to have been made with the contractor's knowledge and at his request. The bank subsequently went into liquidation and the contractor preferred a claim against Government for the amount and this was refunded to him from General Revenues, on the advice of the Government Solicitor. A sum of Rs. 399-11-0 has been recovered from the official liquidator and the balance of Rs. 1,981-5-0 represents the net loss to Government.

Marine.

Percentage of objections to total expenditure.

89. The percentage which the expenditure placed under objection during 1915-16 (2,72) bears to the total expenditure of the year (72,08) is 3·78 as against 1·33 in the preceding year. The increase in the percentage is due to war conditions.

Analysis of Outstanding Objections.

Outstanding balances.

90. The following statement shows the balances of objections raised up to the 31st March 1916 but remaining unadjusted on the 31st July 1916, classified according to the years to which they relate :—

Total .	142	42	145	11	287	53	76	10

The balance outstanding on the 31st July 1916 shows an increase of 43 as compared with the preceding year. The increase was due to difficulties in clearing objections owing to the war.

Analysis of outstandings relating to 1914-15.

91. The outstanding of 6, relating to the year 1914-15, represents charges on account of pay and allowances of Marine Establishments which were placed under objection in 1915-16 owing to the late receipt of accounts. 3 have since been adjusted.

Analysis of outstandings relating to 1915-16.

92. Out of 47 outstanding on the 31st July 1916, which relate to the year under review, 8 have since been adjusted, 29 are outstanding for want of vouchers or other details, 9 for want of sanction, and 1 is under recovery.

Financial Irregularities.

93. Charges such as carriage and motor hire to officers to and from their work were incurred in a certain dockyard, and charged to work orders. This irregular procedure, which has involved considerable expenditure, was reported to the Government of India, who have since issued the necessary orders.

March Expenditure.

Public Works Department.

94. In paragraph 70 of last year's report a brief summary was furnished of the steps taken by the Government of India and the several Local Governments with a view to putting a stop to the rush of expenditure in the Public Works Department at the close of the year. The subject continued to engage the attention of the Government of India, who issued certain further orders in October 1916. In order to correct the impression prevailing among Public Works Officers that sums surrendered will not ordinarily be available for expenditure during the following year, the Government of India have now prescribed a definite and systematic procedure for making provision for the re-grant of such lapses in the Budget Estimates. Regarding the irregular expedients sometimes resorted to with the object of avoiding lapses, it has been laid down that purchases of materials should not be made in March if they are not to be issued for months afterwards, that all adjustments for value of materials, etc., should be effected in the accounts of the month in which issues are made, and that fictitious adjustments should never, under any circumstances, be made for the purpose of utilising, or working up to, grants.

95. The following statement shows the percentages which the expenditure incurred in March 1916, and the amount of cheques issued during the last three days of the same month, in each province, bear to the total expenditure during the year 1915-16 and during March 1916 respectively. The figures of the preceding year are also given for purposes of comparison :—

	Percentage of total Public Works expenditure in March to total expenditure of the year.		Percentage of cheques issued during last three days of March to the expenditure of that month.

Central India	14	17	24	31
Assam	24	23	32	21
Military Works Services	15	16	19	25
Average	17	19	26	29

The figures indicate some improvement in most provinces, although the position cannot yet be regarded as satisfactory. The improvement may be attributed in some measure to the orders issued by the Government of India and Local Governments on the subject, but also to some extent to the curtailment of expenditure owing to the war. In Assam, the Local Administration state that the rush was due partly to an unavoidably late allotment of funds and partly to the short working season and the failure of contractors to execute works earlier. In Burma, the difficulty is understood to be that, owing to a scarcity of labour in the earlier months, the full Public Works Department working season in the latter part of the year does not commence until February. In the United Provinces, the high expenditure was chiefly due to the adjustment of the cost of land (80), and of tools and plant (8), in a certain Canal Division.

96. Several irregularities noticed in this report are ultimately traceable to the eagerness on the part of officers to spend their grants in full, and to the consequent rush of expenditure at the end of the year. One of the results is unduly hurried measurement of work done. In Assam, for instance, measurements taken in the last week of March accounted for payments in that month to the extent of 1,42 on 400 contractors' bills. The continuance of the practice of incurring unduly heavy expenditure at the end of the year is fraught with considerable risk of wasteful expenditure and it is very necessary that Local Governments and Administrations should systematically insist on a careful observance of the orders already issued on the subject.

Railways.

97. The following statement shows the percentage which the cash expenditure incurred in March 1916 under Capital and Revenue bears to the total expenditure during the year 1915-16 on the several Railways in India.—

Railways.	Percentage of Cash Outlay in March 1916 on the total cash outlay of the year.
	Capital.	Revenue.
Assam Bengal	21·70	8·00
Bengal Nagpur	12·46	9·10
Burma	10·30	8·84
Bombay, Baroda and Central India	13·80	8·82
Eastern Bengal	13·28	10·15
East Indian	6·70	8·30
Great Indian Peninsula	16·05	8·71
Madras and Southern Mahratta	11·11	8·92
North Western	17·42	9·80
Oudh and Rohilkhand	11·19	9·32
South Indian	7·60	8·29
Tirhoot	13·68	8·74

Under Revenue Working Expenses, the cash expenditure in March 1916 was normal. The somewhat high expenditure on the Eastern Bengal Railway was due to special payments made to the staff recruited for East African Railways.

Under Capital, the cash outlay in March 1916 largely exceeded the average monthly expenditure in the first 11 months of the year on some Railways. It is, however, understood that the higher expenditure was not incurred solely with the object of preventing the lapse of budget grants.

Disciplinary Action.

98. In paragraph 72 of my last report I laid stress upon the necessity for disciplinary action if an appreciable decrease was to be effected in the volume of financial irregularities, and also drew attention to the fact that this view had been endorsed by the Secretary of State. The following instances of disciplinary action taken by Local Governments in regard to the cases included in my last report may be specially mentioned. In the stamp defalcation case reported in paragraph 18 (d) of my last report, the Government of Burma ordered the recovery of a moiety of the loss from a Deputy Commissioner and two Treasury Officers ; in the case mentioned in paragraph 41 (c), the Executive Engineer responsible was required by the same Local Government to take leave preparatory to retirement ; in the case referred to in paragraph 16 (d), the subordinate responsible was removed from the service ; and in that mentioned in paragraph 44 the subordinate was punished by a reduction in pay. In the case reported in paragraph 7 (b) of the appendix to my last report, the Madras Government punished the Executive Engineer responsible by temporary reduction to the rank of Assistant Engineer.

The irregularities detailed in the present report have already been brought to the notice of the Local Governments, or the superior administrative authorities concerned, by the respective audit officers. In most cases, the Local Governments merely expressed their disapproval of the methods or procedure adopted, or warned the officers responsible, or drew their attention to the rules and orders on the points involved. In some cases, however, disciplinary action was taken. I recognise the difficulties which often exist in the matter of punishing officers, who have a good record, when they commit irregularities which may not have resulted in actual loss of Government money, and I have not so far considered it necessary to refer in my report to the action taken in any particular cases by Local Governments as being, in my opinion, inadequate. At the same time there appears to be a general tendency to leniency, especially in the orders by Local Governments in the Public Works Department. Local Governments will no doubt realize that if irregularities continue to be repeated, even in the face of explicit orders issued by them, it will be necessary to take serious disciplinary action in future.

APPROPRIATION AUDIT.

Explanation for Excesses.

101. The excesses were due for the most part, either to unexpected heavy expenditure in the closing months of the year, when it was too late to obtain sanction for the required additional funds, or to adjustments made in the accounts of March final, which were not foreseen. The more important excesses are explained below:—

In India (excluding Baluchistan), the adjustments under 6—Stamps, 14—Interest on other Obligations, 38—State Railways—Interest on Debt, and 42A-Expenditure on Protective Irrigation Works in addition to that charged to Famine Relief and Insurance, were made after the close of the year. The excess under 6—Stamps (1,07) was caused chiefly by a smaller supply of stamp papers to the Provincial Governments. Under 14—Interest on other Obligations, the excess under Civil (66) was due to larger debits on account of Interest on Post Office Savings Bank Deposits; and under Railways (83) to the interest on the unexpended balance with the Secretary of State of the capital raised by the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway Company having been larger than was anticipated in the Budget. Under 38—State Railways—Interest on Debt (27,72), the excess was due to the capital outlay to end of 1913-14, taken into the calculation of actual interest charges, being greater, owing to a re-adjustment of the capital outlay on the Bengal-Nagpur Railway between the heads 'Capital Account of Indian Railway Companies' and '48—State Railways—Construction', and to the actual rate of interest having been higher than the estimate. Under 1—Refunds and Drawbacks, the excess in Madras was chiefly due to larger Land Revenue and Customs refunds in the closing months than were anticipated, and that in Bombay to a large refund of Customs duty to the Kashmir Durbar, adjusted through the Exchange Accounts for March 1916 (final). The excess in the United Provinces under Opium (32,44) arose from unexpectedly heavy expenditure on the purchase of Malwa opium in the closing months of the year when it was too late to obtain an additional allotment. Under 25—Political, the excess in India (78) was the result of an adjustment made in March 1916 under Special Political Expenditure. Under 32—Miscellaneous, repatriation charges of certain hostile aliens, adjusted in the supplementary accounts for March 1916, contributed to the excess in India, and the final adjustment under this head of the charges for the purchase and maintenance of two steam lorries for general civil transport purposes was responsible for the excess in the North-West Frontier Province. Under 33—Famine Relief, the excess of 99 in India was mainly due to larger expenditure in March 1916, in connection with protective measures for cattle in Ajmer; and that of 3,09 in the Punjab to large debits raised by the Railway Department in March 1916, for consignments of fodder. Under 35—Construction of Protective Irrigation Works, the excess in the United Provinces occurred under Establishment (22) and Works (5) in connection with the Ghaggar Canal. The excess under Works represents large adjustments on account of land acquisition in the accounts for March (supplementary).

The excess of 1,31 under 38—State Railways—Share of Surplus Profits, etc., occurred owing to the net receipts in the last quarter of 1914-15 having been larger than were anticipated in framing the Budget Estimate.

Under 42—Irrigation Major Works—Working Expenses—Public Works Department, the excess in the Punjab occurred under maintenance and repairs. Under 45—Civil Works (Public Works Department), the excess in the North-West Frontier Province (50) was mainly due to heavy expenditure incurred on the maintenance of roads on account of the military operations in the Province and was not provided for during the year as the question of the incidence of the cost of extra wear and tear to Civil roads was decided only in June 1916. The excess in Central India (11) was due to increased expenditure on account of establishment, as well as to excesses under different works.

Under 46—Army, the excesses over the grants of the several minor heads amounted to 40,76. The excess under Regimental Pay (1,92) was chiefly due to higher charges having been incurred for money allowances in lieu of free rations to Indian Troops and followers at Quetta; that under Medical Stores (17), to smaller recoveries for value of medical supplies to the Civil Department; that under Ordnance Establishments (3,32), to more charges than anticipated on account of the cost of stores purchased in England for ordinary requirements in Indian Ordnance Factories, advised for adjustment in India; and that under Miscellaneous Services (19,23) occurred under the head 'War 1914—Debitable to Indian Government', mainly in connection with the Aden operations (about 19 lakhs) and the despatch of troops to Robat. The excess of 14,79 under Conveyance by Rail was caused by increased expenditure on internal movements of troops and stores in connection with the war. The excess under Cantonments (14) was the result of an arrear claim on account of the acquisition in 1914-15 of land in connection with the new cantonment at Delhi.

Under 46A—Marine, the large excess occurred mainly under purchase of marine stores and coal and was due to the cost of certain stores purchased in England (38,51), which were required in connection with the war, having been advised for adjustment in India after the close of the year, and to an adjustment of 1,87 for certain charges for 1914-15 for Royal Indian Marine vessels employed under the Admiralty, the debits for which were postponed till April 1916.

Under 47—Military Works, the excess occurred under Ordinary Demands and was due chiefly to outlay on hospitals, debited in the first instance to the Army Estimates but subsequently written back to Military Works when it was too late to arrange for additional funds, and to expenditure on stores supplied by the Director General of Stores for war purposes.

War Accounts.

102. The following remarks are not confined to the year under review but refer also to the year 1916-17.

General.

103. The volume of work which the war has thrown on the Military Accounts Department of the Government of India in the last two years has been very great. The large increase in the strength of the troops in India and the field, whose accounts are dealt with by the department; the heavy casualties; the frequent transfers of men between different Indian units to meet the requirements for field service; the formation of mechanical transport, of additional units of animal transport, and of various units of labourers and other followers; the presence in India of a large body of territorial and garrison regiments, who are new to the country and the complications in connection with whose accounts are greater than in the case of regular troops; the large number of family allotments consequent on the addition to the strength of the Indian Expeditionary Forces; the growth in the number of accounts of estates of deceased officers and men and of claims for extraordinary pensions and gratuities; the increase in the number of hired transports and of river craft for Mesopotamia, and in the volume of supplies to the Indian Expeditionary Forces; the arrangements for the audit of the accounts of voyage rations and canteen stores placed on hired transports and of prize steam ships; all these factors have tended to accentuate during the past two years the strain on the staff of the Military account offices. To cope with this great increase of work, the superior staff was strengthened by special recruitments in India, by the deputation of officers from the Civil Accounts Department, and by other similar measures. The subordinate establishments were expanded by the deputation of a large number of clerks from the Civil and Railway account offices and the employment of soldier clerks and temporary hands. It was, however, found that it was becoming increasingly difficult to obtain clerks possessing the requisite qualifications; and the Government of India decided, with my concurrence, to adopt the two measures described below, which, while reducing the amount of audit work, are calculated to add to its effectiveness.

(1) At the time the war broke out, the so-called 'normal cost' system of preparation of the pay lists of Indian units was in process of introduction in the Military account offices. Pay lists, showing the amount of pay due to each man, were prepared in the divisional disbursing office once every half year, while in the remaining five months the amount of pay due to the men was worked out in lump for each month with reference to the 'normal cost' at the beginning of the half-year and the changes in the personnel of the unit during the month. This system was found by experience to be unsuited to the special conditions created by the war. Owing to the numerous changes in the personnel of an unit every month, there was delay in drawing up individual accounts, in settling with the men who had been invalided, and in closing the estates of those who had died or been killed on service. It was accordingly decided to introduce in its place the 'nominal' system, the pay lists of units being prepared every month on a nominal basis. It was first applied to the accounts of Indian units on field service and subsequently was made generally applicable. The pay lists are now prepared by divisional or field disbursing officers in the Military account offices on information supplied by the units, the pay of each man being shown separately in the monthly bills. The procedure is actually one of pre-audit (i.e., audit before payment), and what is termed the subsequent 'audit' of the bills is in reality not an original audit, but a review of audit. The great desideratum under such a system is that the pay lists should be carefully and correctly prepared in the first instance and that the divisional and field disbursing offices should not rely on the subsequent review to correct mistakes made in a hurried preparation of the bills. To attain this object, the disbursing staff in the audit offices has been strengthened, while the amount of review of audit has been reduced. After careful examination it was considered, and I agreed in the view, that it would be sufficient if, instead of a full review of all pay lists prepared by the accounts department being carried out every month, this review were confined to one-sixth of the bills. Orders to this effect were issued by the Government of India. At the same time, it was specially provided that, if any irregular charges were discovered in a pay list in the course of the review, back accounts of the unit which had not been reviewed should be examined to see that no such claims had been passed in them. The new system is in effect the same as had always been followed in the Civil offices of audit, where charges disbursed after pre-audit are subjected only to a test-review. Before agreeing to the change, I satisfied myself that it would result in greater efficiency and more prompt disposal of audit work than was possible under the former conditions.

(2) The store accounting work in Mesopotamia having assumed large proportions, it was found desirable to introduce a more direct method of audit which, while ensuring more effective control, would result in a reduction of work. Sanction was accordingly given by the Government of India to a reduction in the amount of technical store audit and at the same time to the introduction of a system of local inspection of stores and store accounts. With reference to the practice prevailing in England, the cross-check of receipt and delivery vouchers in the case of stores supplied from India to Mesopotamia has also been reduced to 5 per cent., provided that the vouchers specifically exhibit a store or other account in which the consignment has been brought to account.

It is gratifying to observe that, in spite of the heavy pressure of work in the Military account offices, satisfactory progress has been made in the past two years in the clearance of the temporary arrears referred to in paragraph 99 of the report for 1914-15. Owing to the dislocation of work caused by the transfers of account establishments from France and Mesopotamia and from the various theatres of war to India, the preparation of pay accounts in the field disbursing offices had at the end of 1915-16 fallen considerably into arrears, but, with the introduction of the 'nominal' system mentioned above, the accounts of British units have been completed to the end of December 1916 and those of Indian units have been mostly brought up to date. The audit is now well under control and will shortly be current. The preparation of war accounts is still somewhat in arrears; but here too, the Central War Controller has received complete accounts to the end of November 1916, while at this time last year he had received complete accounts to the end of September 1915 only.

Audit.

104. It is only natural that, in the special conditions created by the war, it has occasionally been found impossible to obtain, for audit purposes, account documents in the proper form. This happened more particularly in the case of store transactions in the earlier days of the war, before it was possible to introduce a suitable system. In such cases, an audit on practical lines had to be conducted as far as possible and defects in the form or in less important details of account documents had to be overlooked.

105. Considerable difficulty was experienced in obtaining the adjustment accounts of voyage rations placed on hired transports in the earlier months of the war, and the accounts had to be prepared in the office of the Divisional Controller at Poona on the basis of the best information available. The examination of these old accounts has now been completed. A sum of about Rs. 50,000 had to be written-off as representing the value of issues in excess of authorised scale, for which the sanction in writing of the officers commanding the troops on the vessels was not forthcoming, and also of sea rations landed at oversea ports for which receipts were not procured.

106. Owing to want of proper facilities for checking at off-loading and for storing at the port of disembarkation, consignees' receipts for stores shipped from India to the various theatres of war were not forthcoming in the earlier stages of the war. In July 1915, instructions were issued to the account officers concerned in India to the effect that consignees' receipts should be obtained in future in respect of all supplies of military stores to the Indian Expeditionary Forces. Similar instructions were issued later on in respect of non-military stores, e.g., railway materials and engineering stores. The cross-check of stores, consigned from India to the various theatres of war, with the quantities credited at the consignees' end has been attended with considerable difficulties and has not yet been completed for 1915-16.

107. Some difficulty has been experienced in connection with the audit of the store accounts in Mesopotamia. Owing to a shortage of staff and lack of proper storage accommodation, most of the executive departments found it impossible for several months to render complete or reliable accounts, or to arrange for a proper stock taking. This was particularly the case as regards engineer stores, for which complete ledgers were not prepared till the end of 1916. It also appeared that the audit offices at Basra were not receiving complete information of all stores sent to Mesopotamia from England and India. Steps have been taken by the executive departments to remedy this state of affairs. Arrangements have been made that consignees' receipt for supplies from England and India to Mesopotamia should specifically exhibit a store or other account in which the consignment has been brought to account and that five per cent. of such vouchers should be supplied by the audit officers concerned in India to the audit officers at Basra for purposes of cross-check. The India Office has also been asked to furnish the audit officers at Basra with the corresponding vouchers for stores sent direct from England to Mesopotamia.

108. At the periodical stock-takings of the Rail and Port Sections in Mesopotamia between April and December 1916, deficiencies in Supply and Transport stores of the value of about Rs. 2 lakhs were discovered and had to be written off.

109. A few cases also came to notice in which, owing to loss in transmission by post of intimation of disbursements made on behalf of officers who have died or been killed, or to loss of cash accounts and acquittance rolls in the field, it has not been possible to effect recoveries from the estates of the deceased officers, or to adjust advances drawn in the field. In these cases, relatively petty sums have been written off under the sanction of competent financial authority.

Accounts.

110. The system for the adjustment of war transactions, which was introduced by the Government of India shortly after the outbreak of the war, was as follows :—

(1) The Field Controllers were to classify all service receipts and expenditure occurring in the field to the appropriate Army grants and heads of account and pass them on to the Controller, 6th (Poona) Division, who was to record them under a special head opened under Grant—14 (or XIV) of the Army head.

(2) The Divisional Controllers in India and the Supply Controller were to furnish the Poona Controller with a monthly statement showing, under the ordinary grants and heads of account, the approximate savings that had accrued in their accounts circles owing to the absence of troops, etc., these savings representing the probable ordinary expenditure which would have been incurred if the troops had not left India. The Poona Controller was, with reference to these statements, to debit the Divisional Controllers in India and the Supply Controller with the ordinary charges of the troops and reduce correspondingly the figures recorded by him under the special service head mentioned above.

(3) All extra receipts and expenditure occurring in India in connection with the despatch of the Indian Expeditionary Forces, or with measures necessitated thereby, were to be passed on by the account officers concerned to the Divisional Controller of Military Accounts at Poona, for record under the special service head.

(4) The value of equipment, stores, animals, etc., sent out of India to meet the requirement of the forces, was to be debited to the Poona Controller for adjustment under the special service head by credit to a Suspense account. This account was to be debited with the cost of replacing such equipment, stores, animals, etc., as well as with the value of serviceable equipment, stores, animals, etc., returned to India by the forces, for which per contra credit was to be afforded to the Poona Controller for adjustment under the special service head.

(5) The net charge under the special service head was to be relieved by periodical lump recoveries from the Imperial Government.

At the beginning of 1915-16 this system was superseded by a simpler system, which had been drawn up with reference to an agreement between the Secretary of State for India in Council and the Army Council for giving effect to the Parliamentary Resolutions of 1914. The broad lines of the new system are as follows:—

(1) All receipts and expenditure in the field, with the exception of remittance transactions between the Government of India and its officers in the field, are adjusted as credits and debits to the Imperial Government, no attempt being made to separate the ordinary from the extraordinary charges.

(2) The Imperial Government is credited with a lump contribution from Indian revenues representing the ordinary charges of the Indian Expeditionary Forces.

(3) All charges incurred in India directly in connection with the despatch of the forces (e.g., mobilisation charges, charges of movements by land and sea, advances of pay, certain charges of depôts in India of units on field service, and terminal charges connected with the sick and wounded) are debited to the Imperial Government through the Central War Controller.

(4) All expenditure incurred in England or India in connection with the purchase of military stores, in excess of an allotment representing the outlay which would have been incurred if no expeditionary forces had been sent from India, is debited to the 'War Stores Suspense Account.' The value of all stores supplied to the Indian Expeditionary Forces and to the War Office, with the exception of stores and equipment taken by fighting units and certain ancillary units, is debited to the Imperial Government by credit to the 'War Stores Suspense Account.' No immediate adjustment is made in respect of stores and equipment taken out of India in possession of fighting units and certain ancillary units; any necessary adjustment between the two Governments is to be made at the terminal stage. Similarly, the value of stores returned to India by the Indian Expeditionary Forces, with the exception of stores and equipment returned in the possession of fighting units and certain ancillary units, is credited to the Imperial Government by debit to the 'War Stores Suspense Account.'

(5) All charges incurred in India in connection with measures necessitated by the despatch of the Indian Expeditionary Forces are debited, as they appear in the accounts, either wholly to the Imperial Government or wholly to the Indian Government, with reference to the nature of the expenditure, a readjustment between the two Governments being made later on, on the basis of standard figures.

The advantage of the new procedure over the old is that it is not necessary to scrutinise every item of expenditure as it appears in the various accounts with the object of determining how much of it is 'ordinary' expenditure debitable to Indian revenues and how much of it is 'extraordinary' and debitable to the Imperial Government. The expenditure as it appears in the accounts is debited to either of the two Governments, and transfer adjustments between the two Governments are made later on, with reference to definite principles and standard figures, either in the local account offices, or in the office of the Central War Controller. Generally speaking, the Imperial Government receives credit, either through the contribution paid from Indian revenues in respect of the Indian Expeditionary Forces or in the accounts of extra expenditure in India resulting from measures necessitated by the despatch of the Forces, for the ordinary cost, under present conditions, of (1) pay, (2) fixed allowances, (3) rations, (4) consumable stores, and (5) replacement of equipment and animals of officers, men, and units forming the peace complement of the Indian Army. As regards fluctuating charges, such as travelling expenses, etc., where it is difficult to determine the 'normal cost' for any particular class of unit or formation, no credit is afforded to the Imperial Government, nor is any such expenditure in India debited to that Government, which is not directly connected with the despatch of the Indian Expeditionary Forces.

111. Apart from the war expenditure debitable to the Imperial Government, there is a certain amount of extraordinary expenditure, the need for which has arisen in consequence of the war but which is debitable to Indian revenues. This expenditure is separated from the other charges, as far as possible, and is adjusted under special heads under Grant 14 of the Army Estimates on the books of the Central War Controller.

Revenue and expenditure of the occupied territory in Iraq.

112. At the beginning of 1916-17, the Government of India decided that the Central War Controller should be the audit and account officer in respect of the occupied territory in Iraq. In September 1915, a treasury was established at Basra for dealing with the accounts of the occupied territory and later a sub-treasury was opened at Amara. The financial powers of sanction of the Army Commander in respect of expenditure out of revenues of the occupied territory have been defined, and the Central War Controller is now engaged in settling the accounts from the beginning of the occupation.

General Remarks.

113. As in the case of the preceding section of this report, the following remarks are not confined to the year under review but refer also to the year 1916-17.

Changes of Classification.

114. No important changes of classification were introduced during the year under review.

Tours by the Auditor General.

115. In the year 1916-17, I personally inspected the following offices, several of which were visited more than once.

CIVIL ACCOUNT OFFICES.

(1) Accountant General's Office, Punjab.
(2) Do. do Bengal.
(3) Do. do United Provinces.
(4) Do. do. Bombay.
(5) Do. do. Burma.
(6) Office of the Comptroller, India Treasuries.
(7) Do. do. Assam.

RAILWAY ACCOUNT OFFICES.

(8) Office of the Chief Examiner, North Western Railway.
(9) Do. do Eastern Bengal Railway.

POSTS AND TELEGRAPHS ACCOUNT OFFICES.

(10) Office of the Accountant General, Posts and Telegraphs.
(11) Office of the Deputy Accountant General, Posts and Telegraphs, Calcutta.

MILITARY AND MILITARY WORKS ACCOUNT OFFICES.

(12) Office of the Examiner of Accounts, Military Works Services.
(13) Do. Controller of Military Accounts, Lahore.
(14) Do. do. do. Poona.
(15) Do. do. do. Rawalpindi.
(16) Do. do. do. Meerut.

In paragraph 79 of the last report, I stated that it had come to my notice that the powers conferred on audit officers by article 989, Civil Account Code, to waive audit objections concerning petty items, had, as a rule, been insufficiently exercised. There has been a decided improvement in this respect, and both audit and executive officers have been saved a considerable amount of time and trouble. There is, however, still room for improvement and the matter continues to receive my attention.

Detailed instructions were issued, during the year, on the subject of the scrutiny of audit objections by responsible officers, which was referred to in the last report. It is hoped that these instructions will result in a reduction of unnecessary, meticulous, and badly expressed objections.

Inspections by Deputy Auditors General.

116. The work of inspection and test audit by Civil Deputy Auditors General is up to date, the following offices having been inspected since the date of the last report.

Office of the Accountant General, Burma.
Currency Office, Rangoon.
Office of the Deputy Accountant General, Telegraphs.
Office of the Deputy Accountant General, Telegraph Check Office.

The first two offices were found to be in a satisfactory state; the reports on the remaining offices have not yet been received.

The Deputy Accountant General, Railways, during 1916-17, inspected the offices of the Chief Examiners, Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway, Eastern Bengal Railway, and North Western Railway. The accounts of these offices were found to be generally in good order.

On the Military side, the ordinary inspection work of the Military Deputy Auditors General remained suspended throughout the year 1916-17, but a systematic tour of inspection of depôts was carried out by the Military Deputy Auditor General, Northern Army.

Press Accounts.

117. The accounts of seventeen Government Presses were test-audited and inspected by the Examiner of Press Accounts and his staff during the year 1916-17. A senior auditor was deputed to Basra for a period of three months to assist in the inauguration of a suitable system of accounts in the Government Press at that place.

Custom House Accounts.

118. The Auditor of Custom House Accounts in India was engaged during the year 1916-17 in revising the forms and procedure of the Rangoon Custom House and in carrying out a test audit of the accounts of the Bombay, Madras, and Chittagong Custom Houses. The test audit did not reveal any serious irregularities.

At the instance of the Government of India, the Auditor also undertook an examination of the system of accounts, maintained in the office of the Collector of Bombay, of the revenue collected by the factory excise establishment, and drew up a note suggesting various improvements in procedure. As a result, it was decided, with the approval of the Government of India, that a biennial test audit of the factory excise accounts should be conducted by the Auditor of Custom House Accounts, as the work is in several respects similar to the audit which is applied in Custom Houses.

Inspection of Treasuries and Public Works Divisions.

119. The inspection of treasuries and Public Works divisions was performed by accounts officers during the year with satisfactory results. Several irregularities and defects of procedure came to light. The value of these inspections does not, however, lie solely in the detection of defects and irregularities, but also in the educative effect both on audit and executive officers. It is recognised that their object is not merely to criticise but also to render assistance to executive officers by advice in regard to the method of dealing with the difficulties which arise from time to time in accounts matters. The inspections, if conducted by audit and accepted by the executive in the right spirit, should become a valuable feature of the system of Indian audit and result in efficient co-ordination between the audit and the executive departments.

In addition to the inspections of Public Works divisions and treasuries, the accounts of certain other offices are also locally inspected by the audit department in some provinces, e.g., police, jail, and hospital accounts. In the case of police accounts, it has been laid down by the Government of India that the work of the inspecting staff should be educative and should be strictly confined to inspection with suggestions for improvement in method or system, and that nothing of the nature of a local or test audit should be undertaken. It came to my notice that the procedure actually followed was not invariably in accordance with these principles. The necessary steps have been taken in the matter.

Changes of Rules and Procedure.

Measures adopted for the improvement of audit.

120 In paragraph 86 of my last report reference was made to certain measures taken with the object of strengthening audit and placing it on a sounder basis. The subject has continued to receive attention.

121 The following are some of the directions in which an improvement has been effected in audit procedure and control :—

(a) The procedure to be followed by Military Audit Officers, when in doubt as to the correct interpretation of rules in the Army Regulations, was considered in consultation with the Government of India. Orders have been issued that, when a Military Audit Officer finds himself unable to give a satisfactory audit ruling on the Army Regulations as they stand and a reference has accordingly to be made to superior authority, the reference should be made in the first instance to the Military Accountant General, who will issue the necessary ruling, or, if he is unable to do so, refer the matter to the Comptroller and Auditor General

(b) In paragraph 86 (b) of the last report, allusion was made to the arrangements introduced, with the approval of the Government of India, to ensure that all corrections to the financial rules in the various codes issued under their authority had received the sanction of the Secretary of State when necessary. During the year the question was considered whether a similar procedure should not be introduced in the case of the Army Regulations, issued by the Government of India, and the various Provincial and Departmental Codes and Manuals issued by Local Governments and Heads of Departments. It was recognised that it would be a great convenience both to audit and to administrative authorities that all general Codes should be fully accepted and not require examination, or be open to challenge, by audit on every occasion with reference to the original sanctions on which they are based The Government of India have accordingly directed that all orders, which have a financial bearing either directly or indirectly and involve corrections to existing rules in the several codes, and all corrections thereto which are not the outcome of formal official orders but have a financial bearing, should be shown before issue to the audit officer concerned, who will examine the sufficiency of sanction in each case.

(c) The question referred to in paragraph 86 (f) of the last report regarding the procedure to be adopted to enable audit officers to watch that remissions or assignments of land revenue, which require the sanction of the Secretary of State under the rules in the Audit Resolution, have duly received that sanction, has been considered in consultation with the Government of India. As a result, detailed instructions on the subject have been issued and included in the Civil Account Code.

(d) The revision of the rules contained in the Public Works Department Code on the subject of the powers of the several Public Works authorities to sanction excesses over sanctioned estimates, referred to in paragraph 4 of the last report, was further considered in consultation with the Government of India. Revised rules on the subject were submitted to, and have recently been sanctioned by, the Secretary of State.

Internal organisation of Civil Account Offices.

122 Several questions connected with the internal organisation of Civil Account Offices were decided during the year. The more important are briefly described below.

(a) Under the arrangements hitherto existing in most offices the distribution of work among the Gazetted Officers was defective. Senior officers, of the rank of Deputy Accountant General, had sole charge of many of the sections, with the result that they were overburdened with routine work to the detriment of their more important duties General orders have been issued under which the work will be so redistributed that senior officers will be relieved of a large portion of the routine work while retaining general control of the sections

(b) Hitherto it has been the practice in several offices to employ inexperienced and insufficiently trained auditors on initial audit and to subject this audit to review by the superior non-gazetted staff and to some extent also by gazetted officers Under this system, while the initial audit was often unsatisfactory, the volume of review work was very great and consequently showed a tendency to be hasty and superficial. The question of devising practical, and at the same time economical, arrangements presented considerable difficulties. It appeared to be wrong in principle to start with an inefficient audit and to attempt to remedy the defects by a subsequent full review. Orders have consequently been issued reallocating the initial audit work in such a manner as to ensure, so far as possible, that it should be done by trained and efficient auditors. At the same time the quantity of review work by superior agency has been curtailed, after due consideration of the nature and importance of the expenditure involved and the volume of the transactions These arrangements should conduce both to efficiency and economy.

(c) The sufficiency of the existing arrangements for pre-audit work and pension payments has been carefully considered. The pre-audit section as a separate section has been abolished in some offices, while in others satisfactory arrangements have been made for promptly dealing with pre-audit bills. A change has also been made in the procedure followed in certain offices in the matter of pension payments.

It is hoped that the above measures, when fully given effect to, will result in a considerable improvement in the efficiency of the audit machine.

Forest accounts.

123. The rules on the subject of the accounts to be maintained and rendered to audit offices by Divisional Forest Officers and their subordinates, which were expunged from the 7th Edition of the Forest Department Code, were examined in consultation with the Government of India and incorporated in a separate chapter (23-A) of the Civil Account Code.

Public Works accounts.

124. The scheme of Public Works accounts to be finally adopted as a result of the amalgamation of the Civil and Public Works Accounts Departments, referred to in paragraph 87 of the last report, is still under the consideration of the Government of India in consultation with Local Governments.

Capital and Revenue Accounts of residential buildings.

125 The long outstanding question of the proposed abolition of the Capital and Revenue Accounts of residential buildings, prescribed in paragraph 1739, Public Works Department Code, Volume II, has been settled. No change is to be made in the form in which those accounts are now compiled The limit of capital outlay, below which buildings should be excluded from the returns compiled in audit offices for submission to Local Governments and the Government of India, has, however, been raised from Rs. 1,000 to Rs 5,000. Moreover, details regarding class II buildings costing Rs. 5,000 and less are to be omitted from the divisional returns rendered to audit offices. These orders, which have been made applicable to Imperial Military buildings also, are calculated to reduce work materially in audit and executive offices.

Simplification of Accounts or Audit processes.

126. The examination of the suggestions contained in Mr. Heseltine's report on the reduction of work in civil account offices, referred to in paragraph 88 of my last report, has been completed. Orders have been issued on most points, while a few are still under the consideration of the Government of India

127. In paragraph 89 of my last report, I referred to the more important changes in rules and procedure which had been introduced, or were then contemplated, including those in Mr. Heseltine's report. The summary below shows the further steps which have been taken.

(a) Several questions came under consideration in regard to the procedure relating to pension payments and the verification of service for pension. An erroneous practice prevailed in some account offices of requiring all pensioners to attend personally in April of each year for identification and of withholding the payment of pensions until the pensioners actually presented themselves. This was rectified and the necessary instructions were issued for the introduction of a uniform procedure, in regard to the annual identification of pensioners (article 947, Civil Service Regulations). Certain modifications have been made in the conditions laid down in articles 945, 946 and 947, Civil Service Regulations, for the production of life certificates, in the case of severely wounded or old and infirm Indian military pensioners and of female pensioners not accustomed to appear in public. It has been ordered, with the approval of the Secretary of State, that it is not necessary to check at the time of retirement all the leave taken by non-gazetted officers during their service, but that the audit should be of the nature of a test and should be applied to the leave taken during any period of three years of an officer's service, the period to be selected at the discretion of the audit officer. It has also been made quite clear that a reaudit of the leave allowances drawn by an officer during his service need not be undertaken by the audit office at the time of certifying to his claim to pension. Ex-inferior servants, and ex-policemen, who are in receipt of a pension of not more than Rs. 10 a month, have been exempted from the restrictions imposed by articles 514 (a), 519 and 521, Civil Service Regulations. Proposals for the substitution of service rolls for service books in the case of inferior servants and for the abolition of the detailed verification of their pension applications in audit offices were matured in consultation with the Government of India. Proposals are under consideration for the abolition of the rule in article 346 of the Civil Account Code, which imposes on a disbursing officer the duty of satisfying himself by enquiry at the time of making pension payments as to the non-employment of pensioners, for the extension to the pensioners resident in India of the concession allowed in article 949, Civil Service Regulations, to draw, subject to certain safeguards, their pensions through duly authorised agents, and for the modification of the procedure laid down in article 347-A., Civil Account Code, on the subject of the identification of pensioners by thumb impressions.

(b) Detailed instructions have been issued, with the concurrence of the Government of India, laying down a simplified procedure for the audit of pay and allowances of certain classes of non-gazetted officers who have hitherto been treated as gazetted for audit purposes.

(c) The feasibility of curtailing the reports and returns rendered by Accountants General to the Comptroller General and generally of simplifying the methods of work in the Comptroller General's office has been examined. Some returns, e.g., annual statements of outstanding objections, submitted by Accountants General, have been simplified, while a few others have been abolished.

(d) With the object of preventing the use of the General Provident Fund by depositors as a banking or cheap loan account, the Government of India have laid down, for the guidance of sanctioning authorities, the general principles which should determine the grant of an advance from the Fund.

(e) The scheme, referred to in paragraph 89 (i) of the last report, for the introduction of a revised procedure for the exchange and central adjusting accounts, which was tried experimentally between certain selected offices for the last two years, has been finally abandoned; the system prescribed in the code has been re-introduced with certain slight modifications.

(f) The following questions are under consideration:—

(i) The apportionment of the charges for the Public Works establishments among the several Public Works major heads of account;

(ii) The simplification of the procedure at present followed in regard to the exhibition of the details of sanctioned establishments in the Civil Budget Estimates; and

(iii) The reduction in the number of detailed heads in the classified accounts; a large number of heads have already been removed from the accounts.

Provincial Appropriation Reports.

128. The form of the Appropriation Reports submitted by Provincial and Departmental Accountants General has been simplified, with the concurrence of the Local Governments concerned. This should result in a material saving of work in audit offices without diminishing the usefulness of the reports.

Postal Accounts.

129. An important change was made in the accounts of the Post Office by the re-introduction in the audit offices of personal ledger accounts of depositors in the Post Office Savings Bank.

Under the system in force prior to July 1912, detailed personal ledger accounts of depositors were maintained both in the head post offices and in the audit offices. The total credits and debits in the ledger accounts were proved and reconciled in the audit offices with the corresponding figures appearing in the general accounts. The necessary check over deposits and withdrawals was exercised in the audit offices, which also calculated the interest due to the depositors. In July 1912, the maintenance of personal ledgers in audit offices was abolished on the suggestion of the then Accountant General, Posts and Telegraphs, chiefly on the ground that it involved unnecessary duplication of work. The abolition resulted in a net saving of about Rs. 41,000 a year. The new system was given a trial for about four years, but it proved a failure, mainly for the following reasons:—

(i) It resulted in large unexplained differences between the balances at credit of depositors as shown in the Post Office ledgers and the total balances shown in the books of the audit offices, and all efforts to reconcile the differences proved unavailing.

(ii) It encouraged the perpetration of frauds, several of which were actually detected. Frauds to the extent of Rs. 26,866 were discovered, which were practically the direct outcome of the new system.

(iii) The withdrawals were not susceptible of a systematic check in the audit offices against the amounts actually at credit of the depositors.

The defects of the system became so pronounced as to call for immediate remedial action, and after careful consideration, in consultation with the administrative authorities, it was decided to recommend a reversion to the system of duplicate ledgering in force prior to 1912, which had stood the test of time and had been found efficient. The sanction of the Government of India was obtained to the change and it was introduced with effect from the 1st July 1916.

Finance and Revenue Accounts.

130. The question of simplification of the Railway portion of the Finance and Revenue Accounts is still under the consideration of the Government of India.

Railway Accounts: Traffic Audit.

131. In paragraph 93 of the last report, reference was made to the proposals sanctioned with the object of simplifying the procedure followed in certain sections of the Traffic Audit Department of the State Railway account offices. As a further development of these changes, the question of improving the organization for, and methods of, checking tickets outside the audit offices so as to prevent frauds, was fully considered, and certain arrangements have been introduced by the Railway Board on all the three State Railways, with a view to securing the complete co-ordination of the work of travelling ticket examiners with that done in audit offices and by travelling inspectors of accounts.

Simplification of Railway Audit.

132. Certain alterations were introduced in the procedure followed in the audit of tickets, with a view to preventing frauds in bringing to account excess fare collections. Some changes in the system of accounting for freight on through goods traffic are being tried experimentally, while proposals are under consideration for the revision of the system of apportionment and adjustment of through parcels traffic, and for the simplification of the method of apportioning shares in passenger division sheets.

133. The compilation of properly edited volumes of all current contracts with Railway Companies was completed for most of the Railways during the year.

Volumes of contracts with Railway Companies.

Miscellaneous.

134. The system of recruitment of members of the Indian Civil Service for the General List of the Finance Department was examined and certain arrangements were provisionally sanctioned by the Secretary of State, pending consideration of the report of the Royal Commission on the Public Services. Class II of the General List of the Indian Finance Department, which consisted of three appointments and was reserved for the Indian Civil Service, has been abolished; one Indian Civil Service appointment has been added to class I; and two additional appointments have been sanctioned in class III to be held by non-Civilians.

Recruitment of Indian Civil Service Officers to the Indian Finance Department.

135. The organisation of the establishments employed in the audit of the accounts of local authorities and of other accounts, which are specially audited in the city of Calcutta, and the method of carrying out such audits, were examined, with a view to the introduction of more economical and efficient arrangements. Certain changes have been recently introduced with the sanction of the Government of India. The Outside Audit Department has been placed under one General List Officer, the subordinate staff has been strengthened, and two appointments of Chief Superintendents have been abolished.

Outside Audit Calcutta.

136 The revised proposals, referred to in paragraph 97 of the last report, regarding the amalgamation of the Civil and Public Works accounts establishments in accounts offices were matured in consultation with the Government of India, and final orders are expected to issue shortly.

Amalgamation of the Civil and Public Works Accounts Establishments.

137. The audit of the accounts of the Wheat Commissioner was conducted by the Department during the year. An idea of the magnitude of the transactions involved may be obtained from the fact that the total charges incurred on the scheme amounted to about 7 crores of Rupees. The audit applied was mainly to see that the purchases by exporting firms were in accordance with the orders of the Wheat Commissioner and at rates not exceeding those fixed; that these were all accounted for by shipments or otherwise; that the charges claimed were according to rates and had been actually incurred; and finally that all amounts received from treasuries in India, or through the Secretary of State, were duly accounted for by the firms to the Wheat Commissioner and by him in his books. The firms had been instructed to keep separate books for these transactions and the accounts were audited on the spot by officers specially deputed for the purpose. All invoices and freight bills and, as regards local purchases at port of shipment, all brokers' contracts and receipts and all charges incurred were checked in detail. Actual shipments were checked with duplicate copies of invoices and the Customs Department records. The charges for establishment had been specially sanctioned by the Government of India at a fixed rate, and audit was conducted against this sanction. The audit showed that the accounts work had been performed efficiently.

Wheat Scheme.

138. During the year under review, the Government of India directed that the cash realized by the Controllers of Hostile Firms should be paid into the Government Treasury and that a careful account should be kept of the withdrawals made by the Controllers, so as to ensure that the assets of each firm are reduced by the amounts withdrawn. Suitable steps have been, or are being, taken to carry out these orders.

Liquidation of Hostile Firms.

139. Special arrangements were made for the audit and accounting of the expenditure incurred on the manufacture in railway and other workshops of munitions for the Imperial Government. The organisation of these workshops consisted generally in the association of local private workshops with the railway workshop in each railway centre, thus concentrating the output of numerous shops in the hands of a few railway administrations. In Calcutta, however, where there were a number of large and well-equipped privately owned shops, the smaller factories were associated with the larger in a number of groups, each group being similar in character to those obtaining in the railway centres. The Calcutta groups were controlled by a section of the Munitions Branch of the Railway Board. The Accountant General, Railways, who was appointed the central account officer for the purpose, rendered accounts monthly to the Secretary of State for transfer to the Ministry of Munitions in England. The final audit of the accounts on behalf of the Imperial Government was conducted by the audit officers attached to the different State and Company-worked Railways. The Chief Examiner of Accounts, Eastern Bengal Railway, was the central disbursing accounts and audit officer for the expenditure incurred by the main workshops in Calcutta which worked independently of railway workshops, and the expenditure was accounted for by him monthly to the Accountant General, Railways. Transactions between main workshops and their associated shops were treated in the accounts as transactions between principals and contractors

Action taken on previous Reports.

140. All items brought to notice in the Appropriation Reports for the years 1912-13 and 1913-14 and, with a few exceptions, the items mentioned in the Audit and Appropriation Report for 1914-15 have been settled.

Drawal of money in advance of requirements with a view to avoiding lapses of Budget grants.

Madras.

1. (a) A Judge of a Small Cause Court drew in March 1916 a sum of Rs. 902 on account of furniture required for the court. Vouchers not having been received promptly, the Judge was requested to intimate the actual dates of payment. His reply showed that the actual disbursements were made in May and June 1916.

(b) A District Magistrate drew in January 1916 a sum of Rs. 100 as rewards for the apprehension of offenders. Several reminders were sent calling for the payees' receipts. No receipts were furnished, and the District Magistrate eventually reported that the amount had not been disbursed to the parties, as the question of payment was under consideration. The amount was ordered to be refunded at once into the treasury, and this was done at the close of July 1916.

(c) An Inspector of Schools drew in March 1916 a sum of Rs. 230 for the purchase of sewing machines required for a school. The payee's receipt, dated the 28th April 1916, was furnished on the 6th May 1916, and the delay in disbursement was explained to be due to the fact that there was some unforeseen delay in the arrival of certain goods ordered by the firm with whom the order was placed.

(d) A sum of Rs 145 was drawn in March 1916 by a Sub-Assistant Inspector of Schools for the purchase of books and maps required for elementary schools. Many reminders calling for the payee's receipt were issued and when it was furnished it was found that payment had not actually been made till the close of June 1916.

(e) An officer of the Fisheries Department drew on the 30th March 1916 a sum of Rs. 381-12-7 and forwarded vouchers, dated May and July 1916, for the amount less Rs. 30-1-0, for which a voucher, dated April 1916, was forwarded in August 1916. The delay in disbursement was explained as being due to the fact that the contractors had not got the articles in stock and when pressed for their supply had to obtain them from other firms.

(f) An officer of the Co-operative Credit Department drew on the 31st March 1916 a sum of Rs. 212-10-0 for the purchase of books, but the payees' receipts were not forwarded for a long time in spite of reminders. The officer eventually reported that two sums of Rs. 91-8-0 and Rs. 48-11-0 had been paid in July and August, respectively, and that the balance of Rs. 72-7-0 had been refunded into the treasury on the 7th August 1916.

Double claims preferred and paid.

Bombay.

2. (a) A sum of Rs. 580-15-0 was drawn by a Deputy Collector on the 26th July 1915 on account of postage charges in connection with the distribution of copies of a newspaper. The receipt of the proprietors, which was attached to the contingent bills, was however dated 21st May 1915. A reference to the treasury officer elicited the fact that the payment made in July 1915 was a double payment. The amount overpaid has since been recovered.

(b) A sum of Rs. 17-0-11, being the interest on a Government Promissory note, was paid twice at a certain treasury owing to an omission to record the payment of interest for one half-year on the back of the note as required by rule 5 under article 199 A, Civil Account Code. A similar overpayment of Rs. 192-8-0 also occurred in another treasury. The amounts overpaid have since been recovered.

(c) A sum of Rs. 16, being the pay of temporary establishment of a Collectorate for April 1915, was first drawn in May 1915 and again in August 1915 The amount overdrawn was recovered in October 1915.

United Provinces.

(d) A pension of Rs. 4-14-0 per month for January 1915 was paid twice, once on the 6th February 1915 to the pensioner and again on the 7th May 1915 to his heirs

(e) A pension of Rs. 4-1-11 for August 1915 was twice paid, once on the 8th September 1915 and again on the 6th January 1916. The double payment was stated to be due to an error in noting the date of last payment on both halves of the permanent pay order.

(f) A pension of Rs. 7-8-0 per month for January 1915 was paid twice, once on the 15th February and again on the 17th April 1915. The double payment was due to the omission to note the original payment on both halves of the permanent pay order.

(g) A pension of Rs. 5 a month for March 1915 was paid twice, once on the 14th April and again on the 13th July 1915.

Assam.

(h) Salary and leave allowance for August 1915, amounting to Rs. 80, were twice drawn and paid to a Sub-overseer in a Public Works division, once in September 1915 through the monthly establishment pay bill and a second time in November 1915 in a supplementary bill.

Irregular action with a view to avoiding lapses of Budget grants

United Provinces.

3. (a) A cheque for Rs. 170 was drawn on the 30th March 1915 by a Sub-Divisional Officer in payment of a bill received from a certain firm, though the materials were not received until the 15th April 1915.

(b) A bill of a Calcutta firm for a pump was passed and a cheque drawn on the 25th March 1915, whereas the pump was actually received on, or after, the 15th April 1915.

United Provinces.

(c) It was noticed, during the inspection of a Division, that in four cases contractors' bills aggregating Rs. 661, were adjusted by credit to deposits and debit to works on the last day of March 1915.

Burma.

(d) Expanded metal costing Rs. 131-4-0 was ordered from a firm on an indent, dated the 19th March 1915, and paid for on the 30th March 1915, although the metal was not received till the 3rd May 1915.

Bihar and Orissa.

(e) Two sums, aggregating to Rs. 1,351-11-0, on account of goods ordered from a certain firm were charged off in the cash book on the 31st March 1915, although the goods had not been received. The cheques were also drawn on the same date, but not sent to the firm until the 15th of April 1915.

(f) The cost of 60 barrels of cement, amounting to Rs. 660, was charged off in the cash book on the 28th March 1915. The railway freight on the consignment was paid on the 5th April 1915, and the materials were not apparently received until the 14th April 1915.

Irregular action with a view to evading financial rules or audit objections.

United Provinces.

4. (a) A sum of Rs. 140-12-0, chargeable to the work 'providing 8 punkhas to temporary kanungo training school', was charged in June 1914 to 'annual repairs to agricultural building', as the estimate for the former had not been sanctioned.

(b) Materials to the value of about Rs. 1,960 were shown in the accounts of January 1915 as having been transferred from a work 'constructing a new Government High School' to another work 'constructing a bridge over a river', apparently with a view to removing an excess over the estimate. The materials were, however, never carted to the site of the bridge.

(c) A total sum of Rs 2,142-4-5, spent on special repairs to a certain road from April 1914 to February 1915, was debited to two different works, as no estimate and allotment had been sanctioned for the special repair work.

(d) A sum of Rs. 105-1-0, debited to 'Repairs—main canal, L-Earthwork' in November and December 1914, was written back to 'Strengthening bank, main canal head to mile 3' under special repairs in the accounts for March 1915, supplementary, the latter estimate having been sanctioned in December 1914.

(e) In four cases expenditure amounting to Rs. 111-6-3, Rs. 296-12-3; Rs. 291-8-6, and Rs 694-12-6 was debited to four estimates with which it had no connection pending receipt of sanction to the respective estimates.

(f) A sum of Rs. 208, originally debited to 'Raising the bank of a canal,' was written back, in the supplementary accounts for March 1915, to an annual repair estimate, with a view to avoiding an excess over the estimate for the former work.

Bihar and Orissa

(g) A sum of Rs. 51, being the pay of a work peon, was written back from one work to another. On a reference to the register of works it was ascertained that the credit of Rs. 51 was given to the first work with the object of reducing a heavy excess and not with a view to recording the actual facts.

Assam.

(h) A sum of Rs. 140, being the wages of a road moharrir employed in looking after the maintenance of a road, was written back in March 1916, supplementary, to the maintenance estimate of the navigation channel of a river, in order to reduce an excess over the estimate for the maintenance of the road.

(i) A sum of Rs. 233-8-9, correctly chargeable to the estimate for the construction of a combined dak and inspection bungalow, was written back in February 1915 to the annual repair estimate for the same building, with a view to reducing the excess in the former estimate.

NOTICES.

THE PATENT OFFICE, 1, COUNCIL HOUSE STREET, CALCUTTA.

Public room, open 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Saturdays, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

1. All communications relating to applications for patents and for registration of designs under the Indian Patents and Designs Act (II of 1911), or in continuation of applications under the Inventions and Designs Act (V of 1888) should be addressed to the Controller of Patents and Designs, 1, Council House Street, Calcutta. Documents sent by post should be carefully packed.

2. Directions for the guidance of inventors and others are given in the Patent Office Handbook (price one rupee) which contains the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911, the Indian Patents and Designs Rules, 1912, the Indian Patents and Designs (Temporary Rules) Act, 1915, the Indian Patents and Designs (Temporary) Rules, 1915, together with current regulations and instructions. These should be consulted before an application is made to the Controller.

3. Advice. The Patent Office cannot undertake (1) to give opinions on the interpretation of Patent Law, or on the advisability of protecting inventions and designs or on their infringement; (2) to make searches in respect of information available in the public room; (3) to recommend any particular agent; or (4) to assist in the disposal of inventions. Applicants are warned that the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911, is in force in British India only, and patents granted under it do not extend to the United Kingdom or any of the British possessions. The International Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property does not include India. For information regarding patents in countries other than India applications should be made to the patent offices in the countries concerned.

4. Fees are payable in cash and must be received in the Patent Office within the time allowed by the Acts. When cheques are offered in payment of fees, it must be clearly understood that the office cannot hold itself responsible for any delay that may occur in the collection of cash on the cheques; any cheque not payable in Calcutta is subject to commission. In cases where it is not possible to have the fees handed in at the Patent Office, it is preferable to send them by money-order or postal order payable at Calcutta to the Controller of Patents and Designs, and to advise him that they have been so sent. Stamps will not be received in payment of fees.

5. Trade and property marks and names are not registered and medicines are not patented under the Indian Patents and Designs Act. There is no provision of Law in British India for their registration. Neither does this Act deal with pictures, photographs, etc., for which copyright is obtainable under the Indian Copyright Act, 1914.

6. Printed Specifications of applications, which have been accepted, are published within about three weeks after acceptance has been notified in the Gazette of India. These specifications can be purchased at the Patent Office at a uniform price of 8 annas per copy; and may be seen free of charge, together with other publications of the Patent Office, at the following places:—

ORDERS BY THE HON'BLE THE CHIEF COMMISSIONER, AJMER-MERWARA.

NOTIFICATION.

Mount Abu, the 29th May 1917.

No. 1191-1209—In exercise of the powers conferred by Section 4 of the Ajmer Irrigation Regulation, VIII of 1887, the Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner is pleased to make the following amendments in the Ajmer Irrigation Rules issued in this office Notification No. 210-1209 of the 16th March 1911 :—

I. The words "Sub-Divisional Officer" shall be substituted for the words "Assistant Commissioner" throughout the rules except in rules 55(b) and 59 and in rule 33A now inserted as hereafter stated.

II. The following shall be substituted for rule 4 :—

4(a). The following crop rates per acre shall be charged on land irrigated by flow from tanks of the 1st class, not paying special contract rates during the currency of the present settlement or until further orders :—

Spring crops	do.	5	0	0
Lucerne	per annum	5	0	0
Sugarcane and Opium	do.	7	13	0
Rice	do.	10	15	0
Sowing watering	do.	1	4	0

(b) Should single waterings at special rates be applied for they may be given for ordinary spring crops at the rate of two-fifths of the above rate (Rs. 5) for one watering and four-fifths for two waterings, whether such waterings be by lift or by flow.

(c) In Istimrar or Jagir fields irrigated from such tanks and paying crop rates when the crop is divided between the Istimrardar or Jagirdar and the cultivator, an amount of grain representing in value the water rate shall, previous to the division of such crop, be set aside and made over to the Istimrardar or Jagirdar who shall thereupon be responsible for the water rate. If by former usage the irrigated crops so grown pay a money rent higher than the dry rate, the Istimrardar or Jagirdar shall pay the water rate and shall be entitled to collect two-thirds of the same from the actual cultivator of the land, but if he only collects the dry rate, the cultivator shall be responsible for the whole water rate.

(d) Except as provided in clause (b) of this rule, for irrigation by lift half the above rates shall be charged, except in the case of sowing watering, for which the full flow rate shall be levied.

(e) Sowing waterings from a first class tank shall be charged at the uniform rate of Re. 1-4-0 per acre watered. This charge shall be made though the land so watered has been ploughed only, and not sown ; provided that this watering charge shall not be collected from land afterwards irrigated in the same harvest and charged with the irrigation rate.

(f) When the outturn does not exceed the seed-grain the water rate shall be remitted.

III. The following shall be substituted for the 3rd paragraph of rule 5 :—

Where the water is taken wholly by "lift" only and not at all by "flow," only one-half of the full flow rate shall be charged, except in the case of sowing waterings, which shall be charged at the rate of Re. 1-4-0 per acre, whether by flow or by lift.

IV. In rule 9, "4(b)" shall be substituted for "4(a)" and the concluding sentence shall read as below :—

"Provided that when the water in the tank fails before the crop is brought to maturity and when the water rate is not remitted under rule 4(f) the land shall be assessed at such reduced rate as may seem to the Sub-Divisional Officer 'equitable."

V. The following shall be substituted for rule 11 :—

11. Land assessed at well rates at Settlement, whether irrigated with or without the permission of the Sub-Divisional Officer or other officer empowered to act under rule 55 from any tank of the 1st or 2nd class, shall be charged for at the uniform rate of Rs. 5 per acre for the harvest, but there shall be deducted therefrom the amount of the chahi rate paid as land revenue on the land so irrigated.

In cases where permission has not been obtained action against the person concerned may be taken under rule 64(3).

VI. In rule 15—

(A) The following shall be substituted for clause (1) :—

(1) Irrigated autumn crops pay the full water rate, provided the outturn is more than equivalent to the seed-grain. Where the outturn is not more than equivalent to the seed-grain, the water rate shall be remitted;

and

(B) The following shall be added as a new clause to be numbered (4) :—

(4) Where the outturn of irrigated spring crops is not more than equivalent to the seed-grain, the water rate shall be remitted, whether the water be above or below the sluice level on February 15th.

VII. The following shall be substituted for rule 17 :—

17. Lamberdars and Patels, or whosoever collects water revenue, shall receive pachotra fees at the rate of Rs. 5 per cent. on collections of water revenue paid in by them on or before the day on which the collections become due.

VIII. In rule 23 " rule 4(b) " shall be substituted for " rule 4(a) ".

IX. The following shall be substituted for rule 26 :—

26. In tanks of the 1st and 2nd classes, fields sown with or prepared for rabi crops shall be divided into beds of 60 to the bigha before water is admitted.

X. The following shall be added as a new clause at the end of rule 53 :—

(k) To review, modify or reverse on appeal or otherwise, any order issued by the Executive Engineer or other officer acting under rule 55, and to call for the records of any case.

XI. The following new rule to be numbered 53A, shall be inserted after rule 53 :—

53A. The Commissioner shall have discretionary authority to delegate his powers under any or all of clauses (a), (c) and (d) of rule 53 to the Assistant Commissioner.

XII. In rule 54 :—

(A) Clauses (c) and (o) shall be omitted.

(B) In clause (h) " from a tank of the 1st or 2nd class " shall be substituted for " from a tank of the 1st class ".

(C) In clause (k) " tank mates " shall be substituted for " watchers ".

XIII. In rules 55(a) and (b) and 59, " Commissioner " shall be substituted for " Assistant Commissioner ".

XIV. In rule 55, clause (c) shall be omitted.

XV. In clause (c) of rule 57, " his " shall be substituted for " this ".

XVI. In rule 64, " liable " shall be inserted after " guilty of them ".

XVII. The following note shall be inserted at the foot of statement No. 3, in Appendix I.

NOTE —Column 21, is intended for water revenue received from the 2nd class tanks.

" 22, is intended for water revenue assessed on 1st class tanks and beds of tanks variably assessed and for the items shown in columns 17, 18, 19 and 20.

Delhi, the 2nd June 1917.

No. 5356-Home.—In accordance with the provisions of Section 9 (2) of the Poisons Act, 1904 (I of 1904), the following rules, which the Chief Commissioner, Delhi, proposes to make with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council in exercise of the powers conferred by Section 4 of the said Act and in supersession of the rules published under the Punjab Government Notification No. 942, dated the 20th November, 1907, to regulate the possession for sale and the sale of white arsenic.

2. Any objection received before the 15th July 1917, will be taken into consideration. Rules (attached).

Rules under section 2 of the Poisons Act, 1904.

I. In these rules "the Act" means the Poisons Act, 1904.

II. The following poisons shall be deemed to be poisons for the purposes of these rules :—

Aconite, Nux Vomica, Perchloride of Mercury (Corrosive Sublimate), Cyanide of Potash, and Stramonium (Dhatura).

III. No person not exempted under the provisions of the Act, shall sell or possess for sale any poison specified in Rule II, except under a license granted in that behalf by the District Magistrate.

IV. The grant or withdrawal of a license to any applicant shall be at the discretion of the District Magistrate whose decision thereon shall be final.

V. Subject to the provisions of Rules VI and VII, a license granted under Rule III shall remain in force for one year from the 1st January or the date of issue, if later than the 1st January, to the 31st December following. Every applicant for the grant or renewal of a license shall make a written application to the District Magistrate, and such application shall bear a court fee stamp of Re 1.

VI. A license shall terminate on the death of the license-holder, or, if granted to a Firm or Company, on the winding up or transfer of the business of such Firm or Company.

VII. The District Magistrate may for any sufficient cause revoke or cancel any license granted under Rule III.

VIII. Every sale of poison shall so far as possible be conducted by the license-holder in person, or, where the license-holder is a Firm or a Company, through, or under the supervision of accredited representative of such Firm or Company.

IX. A license-holder shall not sell any poison to any person unless the latter is personally known to him, or identified to his satisfaction. He shall not sell any poison to any person who appears to him to be under the age of 18 or to any person who does not appear to him to be in full possession of his faculties, or to any wandering mendicant.

X. (1) Every license-holder shall maintain a register in which he shall enter all sales of poison other than those used by a chemist, druggist or compounder dispensing or compounding in compliance with the prescription of a medical or veterinary practitioner. The following particulars shall be entered in such register in respect of each such sale, namely :—

(a) Name of poison.

(b) Quantity sold.

(c) Date of sale.

(d) Name and address of purchaser.

(e) Purpose for which the poison was stated by the purchaser to be required.

(f) Signature of purchaser, (or thumb impression if illiterate) or in case of purchase by post, date of letter or written order and reference to the original in the file in which it is preserved.

(g) Signature of vendor.

(2) In a separate portion of the register shall be entered, in separate columns for each poison, the quantity of each sold daily, and these entries shall be filled up from day to day

(3) The signature under item (g) of the register shall be that of the license-holder himself, or, when the license-holder is a Firm or Company, that of an accredited representative of such Firm or Company, and shall be entered at the time of sale or despatch to the purchaser. Such signature shall be held to imply that the writer has satisfied himself that the requirements of Rule IX have been fulfilled.

(4) All letters or written orders referred to in head (f) of the register shall be preserved in original by the license-holder for a period of not less than two years from the date of the sale.

XI. (1) A license-holder shall maintain in respect of each poison specified in Rule II a stock register which shall contain the following particulars :—

(c) Amount received.

(d) Name and address of person from whom received.

(e) Amount sold.

(f) Balance in stock.

(g) Remarks.

(2) The stock register shall be balanced daily.

XII. Any Magistrate or police officer of or above the rank of sub-inspector, any revenue officer of or above the rank of naib-tahsildar, or any medical officer of or above the rank of sub-assistant surgeon may at any time visit and inspect the premises of a license-holder where poison is kept for sale and may inspect all poisons found therein and the registers maintained under Rules X and XI.

XIII. All poisons kept for sale by any license-holder under these rules (except those kept for the purpose specified in section 10 (1) (c) of the Act) shall be kept in a box, almirah room or building (according to the quantity maintained) which shall be secured by lock and key and in which no substance shall be placed other than poisons possessed in accordance with a license granted under the Act; and each poison shall be kept, within such box, almirah, room or building in a separate closed receptacle of glass, metal or earthenware. Every such box, almirah, room or building, and every such receptacle, shall be marked with the word "Poison" in red characters, both English and vernacular, and, in the case of receptacles containing separate poisons, with the name of such poison.

XIV. When any poison is sold, it shall be securely packed in a closed receptacle or packet (according to the quantity) and every such receptacle or packet shall be labelled by the vendor with a red label bearing the name of the poison in English and the vernacular, and the number and date of the entry in the register of sales specified in Rule X.

Rules under section 4 of the Poisons Act, 1904.

I. In these rules "the Act" means the Poisons Act, 1904.

II. No persons not exempted under the provisions of the Act, shall sell or possess for sale white arsenic, except under a license granted in that behalf by the District Magistrate.

III. The grant or withdrawal of a license to any applicant shall be at the discretion of the District Magistrate whose decision thereon shall be final.

IV. Subject to the provisions of Rules V and VI, a license granted under Rule II, shall remain in force for one year from the 1st January or the date of issue, if later than the 1st January, to the 31st December following. Every applicant for the grant or renewal of a license shall make a written application to the District Magistrate, and such application shall bear a court fee stamp of Re. 1.

V. A license shall terminate on the death of the license-holder, or, if granted to a Firm or Company, on the winding up or transfer of the business of such Firm or Company.

VI. The District Magistrate may for any sufficient cause revoke or cancel any license granted under Rule II.

VII. Every sale of white arsenic shall so far as possible be conducted by the license-holder in person, or, where the license-holder is a Firm or a Company, through, or under the supervision of, an accredited representative of such Firm or Company.

VIII. A license-holder shall not sell white arsenic to any person unless the latter is personally known to him, or identified to his satisfaction. He shall not sell white arsenic to any person who appears to him to be under the age of 18 or to any person who does not appear to him to be in full possession of his faculties, or to any wandering mendicant.

IX. (1) Every license-holder shall maintain a register in which he shall enter all sales of white arsenic other than that used by a chemist, druggist or compounder dispensing or compounding in compliance with the prescription of a medical or veterinary practitioner. The following particulars shall be entered in such register in respect of each such sale, namely :—

(a) Name of poison.

(b) Quantity sold.

(c) Date of sale,

(d) Name and address of purchaser.

(e) Purpose for which the white arsenic was stated by the purchaser to be required.

XI. Any Magistrate or police officer of or above the rank of sub inspector, any revenue officer of or above the rank of naib-tahsildar, or any medical officer of or above the rank of sub-assistant surgeon may at any time visit and inspect the premises of a license-holder where white arsenic is kept for sale and may inspect the stock found therein and the registers maintained under Rules IX and X.

XII. All white arsenic kept for sale by any license-holder under these rules (except that kept for the purpose specified in section (10) (1) (c) of the Act) shall be kept in a box, almirah, room or building (according to the quantity maintained), which shall be secured by lock and key and in which no substance shall be placed other than poisons possessed in accordance with a license granted under the Act; and such white arsenic shall be kept, within such box, almirah, room or building in a separate closed receptacle of glass, metal or earthenware. Every such box, almirah, room or building, and every such receptacle, shall be marked with the words "Poison—White arsenic" in red characters, both English and vernacular, or if it contains other poisons possessed in accordance with a license granted under the Act, with the word "Poison" only.

XIII. When any white arsenic is sold, it shall be securely packed in closed receptable or packet (according to the quantity) and every such receptacle or packet shall be labelled by the vendor with a red label bearing the words "White arsenic" in English and the vernacular, and the number and date of the entry in the register of sales specified in Rule IX.

XIV. A license-holder shall not sell powdered white arsenic to any person, unless the same is, before the sale thereof, mixed with soot, indigo, or Prussian blue in the proportion of half an ounce of soot, indigo, or Prussian blue at least to one pound of the white arsenic, and so on in proportion for any greater or less quantity.

GAZETTE OF INDIA.

NOTICE.

The 17th March 1917.

On and after 31st March and until further notice, Parts I, IV, V and VI of the Gazette of India and the Weather and Crop Report will be published in Simla. Parts II and III will continue to be published in Calcutta. All notifications and other matter intended for publication in those Parts should be addressed to the Publisher at Simla and Calcutta, respectively.

Attention is invited to the following Circular Memorandum of the Government of India Home Department, of August 1901:—

"It has been brought to the notice of this Department that matter for the Gazette of India is sometimes sent to the Press late on Friday evenings for publication in the next day's Gazette and that this involves considerable inconvenience to the Press and expense to Government. In the Circular Memorandum of this Department, No. 777—79, dated 9th February 1870, the Government of India directed that all notifications or other matter intended for insertion in the Gazette of India should be delivered at the Press not later than 2 P.M. on Friday, and that any papers sent thereafter must be certified to be extremely urgent in order to ensure their appearance in the next day's Gazette. The undersigned is directed to request that these orders may be more strictly observed in future, and that Departments will refrain from sending to the Press as extremely urgent any papers which can without harm or inconvenience be held over for the next Gazette.

J. P. HEWETT,
Secretary to the Government of India.

June 4th to 9th, 1917.

Class 1. No. 5747. William James Henry Strong, of 570, West Monroe Street, Chicago, U. S. A., May 7, 1917.

NOTICES.

THE PATENT OFFICE, 1, COUNCIL HOUSE STREET, CALCUTTA.

Public room, open 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Saturdays, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

1. All communications relating to applications for patents and for registration of designs under the Indian Patents and Designs Act (II of 1911), or in continuation of applications under the Inventions and Designs Act (V of 1888) should be addressed to the Controller of Patents and Designs, 1, Council House Street, Calcutta. Documents sent by post should be carefully packed.

2. Directions for the guidance of inventors and others are given in the Patent Office Handbook (price one rupee) which contains the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911, the Indian Patents and Designs Rules, 1912, the Indian Patents and Designs (Temporary Rules) Act, 1915, the Indian Patents and Designs (Temporary) Rules, 1915, together with current regulations and instructions. These should be consulted before an application is made to the Controller.

3. Advice. The Patent Office cannot undertake (1) to give opinions on the interpretation of Patent Law, or on the advisability of protecting inventions and designs or on their infringement; (2) to make searches in respect of information available in the public room; (3) to recommend any particular agent; or (4) to assist in the disposal of inventions. Applicants are warned that the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911, is in force in British India only, and patents granted under it do not extend to the United Kingdom or any of the British possessions. The International Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property does not include India. For information regarding patents in countries other than India applications should be made to the patent offices in the countries concerned.

4. Fees are payable in cash and must be received in the Patent Office within the time allowed by the Acts. When cheques are offered in payment of fees, it must be clearly understood that the office cannot hold itself responsible for any delay that may occur in the collection of cash on the cheques; any cheque not payable in Calcutta is subject to commission. In cases where it is not possible to have the fees handed in at the Patent Office, it is preferable to send them by money-order or postal order payable at Calcutta to the Controller of Patents and Designs, and to advise him that they have been so sent. Stamps will not be received in payment of fees.

5. Trade and property marks and names are not registered and medicines are not patented under the Indian Patents and Designs Act. There is no provision of Law in British India for their registration. Neither does this Act deal with pictures, photographs, etc., for which copyright is obtainable under the Indian Copyright Act, 1914.

6. Printed Specifications of applications, which have been accepted, are published within about three weeks after acceptance has been notified in the Gazette of India. These specifications can be purchased at the Patent Office at a uniform price of 8 annas per copy; and may be seen free of charge, together with other publications of the Patent Office, at the following places:—

AGREEMENT.

AN AGREEMENT entered into this 20th day of March 1917 between the Secretary of State for India in Council of the one part and the New Egerton Woollen Mills Company, Limited, a Company registered under the Indian Companies Act 1882 and having its registered office at Dhariwal in the Punjab, hereinafter called the Company of the other part.

Whereas it has been agreed between the Local Government of the Punjab and the Company that the Company will utilise at their Mills at Dhariwal the labour of members of a Criminal Tribe Settlement to be located at Dhariwal,

And whereas the Company has agreed to erect and maintain at its own expense suitable houses, huts and other buildings for the accommodation of the supervising staff and the members and their families of the Criminal Tribes of the Settlement provided that the Company is enabled to acquire land for the said purpose,

And whereas the Company has made an application to the Local Government of the Punjab to acquire under the provisions of Part VII of the Land Acquisition Act 1894 certain land in the villages of Rania and Dhariwal in the District of Gurdaspur in the Punjab being in admeasurement 48·74 acres or thereabouts which land is more particularly described in the schedule hereto annexed and is delineated and coloured pink in the plan hereto annexed and is hereinafter called "the said land,"

And whereas the Local Government of the Punjab after making such enquiry as is required by section 40 of the said Act is satisfied that the acquisition of the said land is needed for the construction of the houses, huts and other buildings required for the accommodation of the aforesaid Settlement of Criminal Tribes and that the construction of these works is likely to prove useful to the public,

And whereas under section 41 of the said Act the Company is required to enter into an agreement with the Secretary of State for India in Council regarding the matters set out in the aforesaid section.

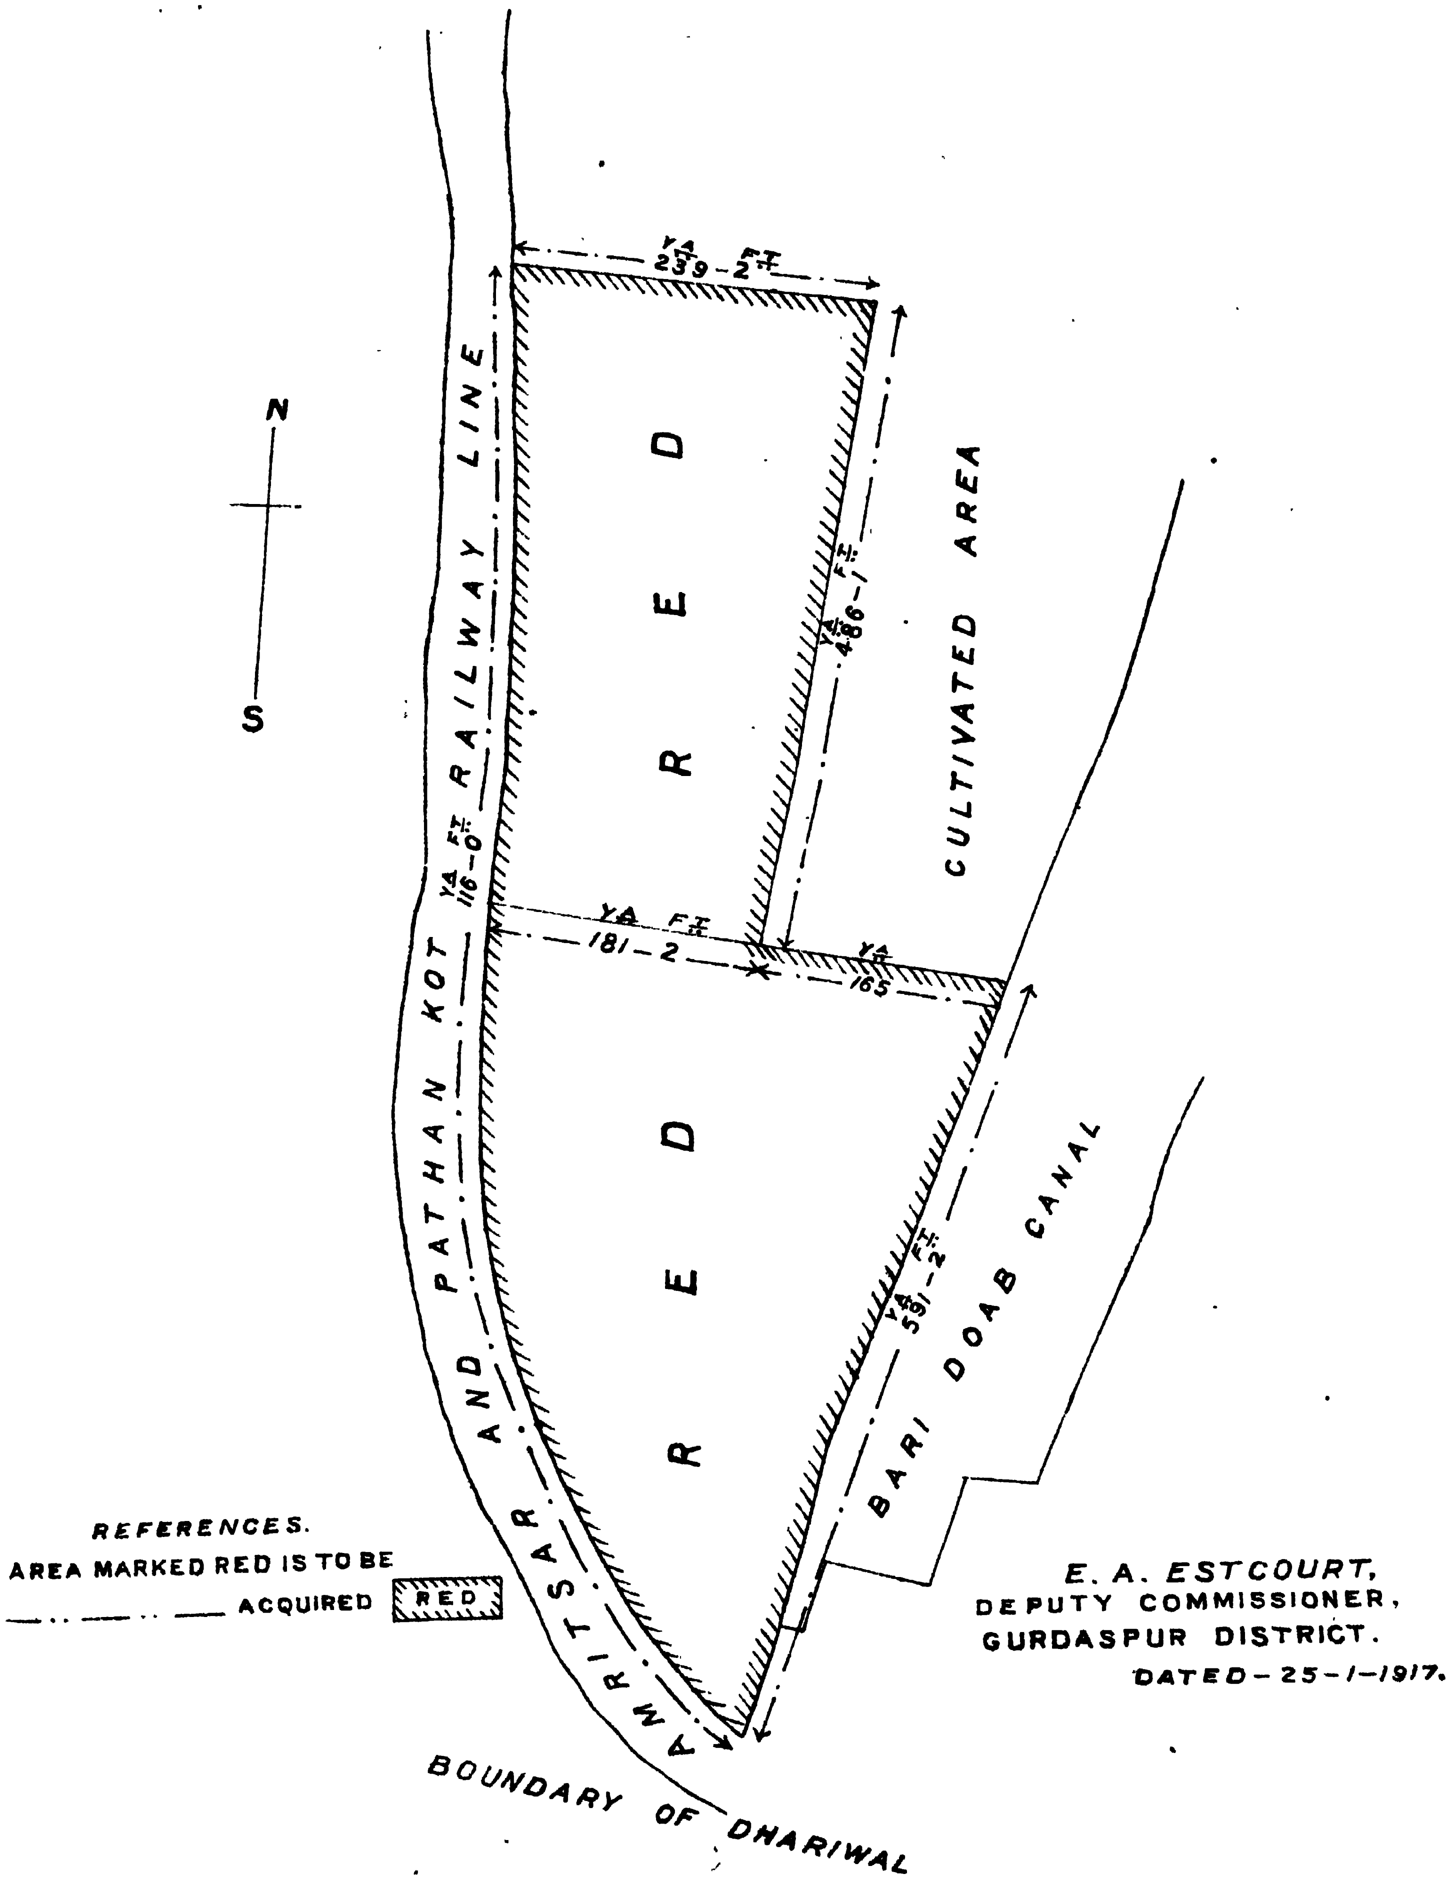
It is hereby agreed and declared between the Secretary of State for India in Council for himself his successors and assigns, and the New Egerton Woollen Mills Company, Limited, for itself its legal representatives successors and assigns as follows:—

1. That the Company will pay to the Local Government of the Punjab or to such person or persons as the Local Government may appoint in this behalf all such sum or sums of money as shall be awarded under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act of 1894 as compensation to any person or persons who may be found on enquiry held under the provisions of the said Act to be interested in the said land.

2. That the Company will pay to the Local Government of the Punjab all legal and other charges whatsoever incurred in or incidental to proceedings relating to the acquisition of the said land held before the Collector or before the Court or the Appellate Court or elsewhere.

3. That upon the Company having made the payments mentioned in the foregoing paragraphs Nos. 1 and 2 of this agreement the Local Government of the Punjab will forthwith in consideration of the payment of the compensation money and costs of acquisition aforesaid convey and grant the said land to the Company in full proprietary right free from all incumbrances and occupancy rights and together with all rights easements and appurtenances thereto whatsoever.

4. That the Company will use the said land for the purposes hereby agreed upon.



5. That the Company will use the said land for the purpose of erecting permanent houses, huts and other buildings in which to accommodate the supervising staff, and the members with their families of the Criminal Tribes Settlement to be established by the Local Government of the Punjab at Dhariwal and the land will continue to be used to this purpose as long as the Settlement is retained.

6. That the Company will immediately on being put in proprietary possession of the said land commence the construction of the residential quarters for the Officer appointed by Government to supervise the Settlement and the buildings for the accommodation of the members thereof and their families which buildings shall be completed with all possible speed and shall be of sound construction and in every way suitable for the purposes for which they are required.

7. That the Company will from time to time add to alter or extend any buildings standing on the said land or will construct other buildings on the said land as the Local Government of the Punjab may deem necessary to meet the purposes and requirements of the Settlement, and further that the Company will keep all buildings constructed by it on the said land in sound condition and good repair to the satisfaction of the Executive Engineer of the Gurdaspur district or other officer appointed by the Local Government in this behalf.

Calcutta, the 11th June 1917.

No. 4365-L. A.—The following agreement is published for general information :—

This is in modification of the agreement dated the 3rd November 1894 which was executed under Section 41 of the Land Acquisition Act, I of 1894, and was published at pages 1158—1159, Part II of the Gazette of India of the 21st September 1895.

L. BIRLEY,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

Stamp annas eight.

An agreement made the seventh day of June 1917 between the Barnagore Jute Factory Company Limited a Joint Stock Company with limited liability incorporated under the English Companies Acts and carrying on business at (amongst other places) No. 100 Clive Street in the City of Calcutta (hereinafter called "the Company") of the one part and the Secretary of State for India in Council acting in the premises through the Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Revenue Department (hereinafter referred to as "the Secretary of State") of the other part whereas by an Agreement bearing date the 3rd day of November 1894 and made between the Bally Paper Mills Company Limited (hereinafter called the "Paper Company") of the one part and the Covenanted Deputy Collector of Howrah representing the Government of India of the other part it was (inter alia) agreed and declared by and between the parties thereto that the said Covenanted Deputy Collector should acquire for the Company under the Land Acquisition Act being Act I of 1894 the lands and hereditaments mentioned in the said Agreement and that the Company should fulfil and carry out the conditions therein mentioned of and concerning the lands so to be acquired and whereas the lands and hereditaments referred to in the said Agreement dated the 3rd November 1894 were duly acquired by the said Covenanted Deputy Collector and possession thereof was made over to the Paper Company and the stipulations on the part of the Paper Company therein contained were duly complied with and whereas by virtue of assignment and transfer from the Paper Company the Company is now possessed of and entitled to the said lands and hereditaments so acquired and made over by the said Covenanted Deputy Collector to the Paper Company as aforesaid and a short description of such lands is for registration purposes only set out in the Schedule* hereunder written and whereas the Company has made arrangements for the supply of filtered and unfiltered water in the neighbourhood of the bazar or market referred to in the said Agreement dated the 3rd November 1894 and the people of the locality have consequently discontinued and altogether abandoned the use of the tank referred to in the said Agreement and such tank has thus become insanitary and detrimental to public health and whereas the Company are desirous of developing the land now lying waste and erecting buildings thereon but are deterred by the last provision of the said Agreement dated the 3rd November 1894 and whereas under the altered circumstances and conditions it has been agreed and arranged by and between the parties that the said Agreement dated the 3rd November 1894 should be modified Now these presents witness that the first clause of the said Agreement dated the 3rd November 1894 beginning with the words "the Company shall prevent stagnation of water" and ending with the words "throw it open for the use of the public" is hereby cancelled and that the last provision of the said Agreement dated the 3rd November 1894 namely the clause beginning with the words "provided also that if the land" and ending with the words "on payment of the cost price" is hereby cancelled and in lieu of the said first clause a new clause 1 be substituted and in lieu of the said last provision an additional clause 6 be inserted as follows :—

Clause 1.—The Company hereby undertakes that the Company will at its own cost and as soon as possible properly fill up the said tank referred to in clause 1 of the said Agreement dated the 3rd November 1894 and that the Company will during the continuance of this Agreement maintain the present pipe water supply in the neighbourhood of the bazar delineated on the map or plan * hereunto annexed and shall also construct maintain and keep in repair a bathing platform and a filtered water standpost on the side of the Chaitalpara Lane also shown on the said map provided always that all land requisite or necessary for the construction or maintenance of such bathing platform and filtered water standpost shall be provided by the Bally Municipality free of charge or expense to the Company provided always that the Company shall not be required to repair any damage that may be caused to such bathing platform or filtered water standpost otherwise than by ordinary wear and tear, for example by any wilful or mischievous act.

* Not printed and published herewith, but may be inspected in the office of the Covenanted Deputy Collector of Howrah.

Clause 6.—The Company shall hold at the disposal of Government a strip of the land measuring ten feet in width along the southern edge of the road connecting the Grand Trunk Road and the Bally Railway Station, the said road being marked A B in the plan* attached to this Agreement and the said strip being coloured red in that plan,* and the Company shall deliver up the said strip of land to the Covenanted Deputy Collector of Howrah within six months of receiving a letter from the said Covenanted Deputy Collector requesting that the land be made over to him, and the Company shall not be entitled to nor shall claim any price or compensation for the said strip of land nor for any buildings thereon nor for any other addition to or improvement of the land.

Provided always that no such requisition shall be made for the delivery of the said strip unless a certificate be made under the hand of a Secretary to the Government of Bengal that the said strip is required for a public purpose.

Subject to the modifications mentioned herein, all the other terms of the Agreement dated the 3rd November 1894 remain in full force.

REWARDS.

INDIAN ORDER OF MERIT.

No. 945.—The Governor-General in Council is pleased to sanction the following promotion in, and admissions to, the Military Division of the Indian Order of Merit:—

For promotion to the 1st Class of the Order.

No. 2103 Havildar Bir Singh, I.O.M., Sikhs, for conspicuous gallantry and skill on the 15th April 1916, when in command of a picquet of 14 rifles he organised and led an attack on a hostile picquet over 200 yards of open ground in broad daylight. The attack was made by a rush over the open to bombing distance whence bombs were thrown until the enemy surrendered. This non-commissioned officer led the charge himself and threw the first bomb. The enemy picquet consisted of 1 officer and 21 other ranks of which the officer and 17 other ranks were captured, 2 were killed and 2 escaped. The attack was made under flanking fire from the remainder of the enemy's picquet.

The award of the 2nd Class Indian Order of Merit to No. 2103 Havildar Bir Singh, I.O.M., in Army Department Notification No. 1387, dated the 17th November 1916, is cancelled.

For admission to the 2nd Class of the Order.

No. 764 Naik Sawan Singh, No. 785 Naik Bhullan Khan, } Sappers and Miners, for conspicuous gallantry and coolness on the night of the 4th April 1916, when in charge of parties joining up a gap of 350 yards in the front line. These non-commissioned officers freely exposed themselves under heavy rifle and machine gun fire and cleared casualties. It was mainly due to their action that the line was successfully consolidated. They had previously rendered very good service by the energy with which they pushed forward saps against the enemy's positions.

The award of the Indian Distinguished Service Medal to No. 764 Naik Sawan Singh and No. 785 Naik Bhullan Khan, Sappers and Miners, in Army Department Notification No. 1388, dated the 17th November 1916, is cancelled.

No. 946.—The Governor-General in Council is pleased to sanction the admission of the undermentioned Indian officer to the 2nd Class Military Division of the Indian Order of Merit:—

Subadar Turra Baz, Southern Waziristan Militia.

This officer showed great personal gallantry on the 9th April 1917 in an encounter with a gang of Mahsuds. By his promptitude in taking up a position at the commencement of the action and by his bravery in maintaining his position under heavy fire at close range, although he had lost one-third of his party killed and wounded, Subadar Turra Baz enabled a picquet which had been attacked to retire to a position of comparative safety.

INDIAN DISTINGUISHED SERVICE MEDAL.

No. 947.—His Majesty the King Emperor has been graciously pleased to declare that all Indian non-combatants attached to a force in the field shall be eligible for the grant of the Indian Distinguished Service Medal as a reward for gallantry or meritorious service.

No. 825-T.-16.—The following is published for general information :—

No. 825-T.-16, dated the 15th June 1917.

RESOLUTION—By the Railway Board.

Adoption on the Bombay Port Trust Railway of special goods consignment note and receipt forms for goods booked from Depots on that Railway to the Docks.

RESOLUTION.—The Manager of the Bombay Port Trust Railway has applied for permission to adopt special forms of goods consignment note and receipt for goods booked from Depots on that Railway to the Docks in order to suit the local conditions under which the traffic is handled by that railway.

2. In exercise of the powers conferred by sections 54 (1) and 72 (2) (b) of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890), the Governor-General in Council is pleased to approve of the accompanying forms, and to sanction, with effect from the date of receipt of this resolution, their adoption on the Bombay Port Trust Railway.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this resolution and of its enclosures be communicated to the Manager, Bombay Port Trust Railway, for information and guidance and to the Government of Bombay, Public Works Department, for information and that they be published under a notification in Part I of the Gazette of India.

Ordered also that this resolution with the annexed forms be kept at all Grain Cotton Depot stations on the Bombay Port Trust Railway for inspection free of charge, by any person, at all reasonable times, as directed by sub-section (2) of section 54 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890).

NOTICE TO CONSIGNORS.

The Bombay Port Trust Railway Administration hereby gives public notice.

1. That the Railway Administration will not be accountable for any articles unless the same are booked and a receipt for them given by their clerk or agent, and that when the articles are so accepted for conveyance, the responsibility of the railway for the loss, destruction or deterioration of the articles is subject to the provisions of Section 72 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890.

2. That the Railway Administration will not, in any case, be responsible for the loss, destruction or deterioration of parcels or packages containing the following articles, viz,—Gold or silver, coined or uncoined, manufactured or unmanufactured; plated articles; cloths and tissues and lace of which gold or silver forms part, not being the uniform or part of the uniform of an officer, soldier, sailor, police officer or person enrolled as a volunteer under the Indian Volunteers Act, 1869, or of any public officer, British or Foreign, entitled to wear uniform: pearls, precious stones, jewellery, and trinckets; watches, clocks or timepieces of any description; Government securities; Government stamps; bills of exchange; hundies, promissory notes, bank notes and orders or other securities for payment of money; maps, writing and title-deeds; paintings, engravings, lithographs, photographs, carvings, sculpture and other works of art: art pottery and all articles made of glass, china or marble: silks in a manufactured or unmanufactured state and whether wrought up or not wrought up with other materials; shawls; lace and furs; opium and narcotic preparations of hemp; ivory and ebony; coral and sandalwood, musk, sandalwood oil and other essential oils used in the preparation of itr or other perfume; musical and scientific instruments; any article of special value which the Governor-General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, add to this list, when the value of such articles exceeds Rs. 100, unless the value and nature of such articles shall have been declared by the sender, and an insurance rate over and above the railway charges for carriage shall have been paid to and accepted by some person duly authorised to receive the same on behalf of the Railway Administration.

That where goods, insured as above, have been lost or destroyed, or have deteriorated, the compensation payable by the Railway Administration shall not exceed the value declared, and the burden of proving the value so declared to have been true value, shall, notwithstanding anything in the declaration, lie on the person claiming the compensation.

That the Foremen at the several stations on the line are authorised to insure any of the abovementioned articles valued at from Rs. 100 to Rs. 500, but that for the insurance of any such article valued at over Rs. 500, application must be made to the Manager, Bombay Port Trust Railway.

No other persons except those herein mentioned are authorised to accept insurance charges.

3. That the Railway receipt given by the Railway Administration for the articles delivered for conveyance must be given up at destination by the consignee to the Railway Administration or the Railway may refuse to deliver, and that the signature of the consignee or his agent in the delivery book at destination shall be evidence of complete delivery.

If the consignee does not himself attend to take delivery, he must endorse on the receipt a request for delivery to the person to whom he wishes it made, and if the receipt is not produced, the delivery of the goods may, at the discretion of the Railway Administration, be withheld until the person entitled in its opinion to receive them has given an indemnity to the satisfaction of the Railway Administration.

4. That all claims against the Railway Administration for loss or damage to goods must be made to the clerk in charge of the station to which they have been booked before delivery is taken, and that a written statement of the description and contents of the articles missing, or of the damage received, must be sent forthwith to the Manager; otherwise the Railway Administration will be freed from responsibility.

5. That by Section 77 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, it is enacted that a person shall not be entitled to a refund of an overcharge in respect of animals or goods carried by railway or to compensation, for the loss, destruction or deterioration of animals or goods delivered to be so carried, unless his claim to the refund or compensation has been preferred in writing by him or on his behalf to the Railway Administration, within six months from the date of the delivery of the animals or goods for carriage by railway.

6. That the Railway Administration have the right of re measurement, re weighment, and re calculation of charges at the place of destination, and of collecting, before the goods are delivered, any amount that may have been omitted or undercharged.

7. That the freight on all goods must be paid either previously or at the time of delivery, and that by Section 55 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, it is enacted that if a person fails to pay on demand made by or on behalf of a Railway Administration, any rate, terminal or other charge due from him in respect of any animals or goods, the Railway Administration may detain the whole or any of the animals, or goods, or, if they have been removed from the railway, any other animals or goods of such person then being in or thereafter coming into its possession.

8. That all goods left on the Railway Administration's premises are liable to wharfage and demurrage charges as per Goods Tariff, and those charges will also be levied on goods left on hand, pending payment of freight and charges due on them.

9. That goods booked to stations on the Bombay Port Trust Railway are carried subject to the rules and conditions printed from time to time in the Railway Administration's Goods Tariff; and goods booked to or over a foreign railway are subject to the rules and regulations and to wharfage and to other charges in force on such railway.

10. That by Section 106 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, it is enacted that if a person, requested under Section 58 to give an account with respect to any goods, gives an account which is materially false, he and, if he is not the owner of the goods, the owner also shall be punished with fine which may extend to ten rupees for every maund or part of a maund of the goods, and the fine shall be in addition to any rate or other charge to which the goods may be liable.

11. That by Section 107 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, it is enacted that, if in contravention of Section 59, a person takes with him any dangerous or offensive goods upon a railway, or tenders or delivers any such goods for carriage upon a railway, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees and shall also be responsible for any loss, injury or damage, which may be caused by reason of such goods having been so brought upon the railway.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.
DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 14th June 1917, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

1. With the exception of Baluchistan and Sind, the monsoon gave rain over the whole country, and in most divisions the rainfall recorded was above the average.

At the close of the week a shallow depression was lying over Chota Nagpur and was giving general and in places moderately heavy rain in northeast India, while in the Arabian Sea a storm had probably formed off the Kathiawar coast and was causing a temporary withdrawal of the Arabian Sea monsoon current from the central parts of the country.

2. Burma.—Rainfall was nearly general every day except the 8th in Lower Burma and on the 7th, 8th and 9th in Upper Burma.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—There was nearly general rain every day except the 9th in Assam and except the 10th in Bengal. Rainfall was nearly general in Orissa from the 10th to the 13th, in Chota Nagpur on the 8th, 12th and 13th, and in Bihar on the 7th and 13th.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Nearly general rain fell in the Central Provinces on the 9th and 12th. Rain fell locally in the United Provinces and Central India.

Northwest India.—Rainfall was nearly general in the Punjab, excluding the south and in Kashmir on the 7th, and in Gujarat on the 12th. Local falls were reported from Rajputana and the North-West Frontier Province.

The Peninsula.—Rain fell at nearly every station throughout the week in the Konkan, from the 7th to the 9th and on the 13th in Malabar, on the 9th and 11th in the Bombay Deccan, on the 7th and 11th in Hyderabad, on the 13th in Mysore, and on the 7th on the north Madras coast. Local falls were reported from the rest of the division.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 9th June 1917.

Burma.—The rainfall in Lower Burma was light and the distribution was somewhat uneven. In Upper Burma all districts except Pakokku report falls over one inch. Ploughing for the main rice crops in Lower Burma and in irrigated tracts of Upper Burma is in progress. Sowing of early sesamum, groundnut and cotton in the dry zone districts is proceeding. Reaping of spring rice and island crops is approaching completion. Standing crops are doing well. Cattle are generally healthy. The price of paddy at Rangoon has risen slightly but is still much below normal. The market for white rice continues steady.

Assam.—The weather is rainy and favourable. Ploughing for and sowing of transplanted winter rice, manufacture of tea and harvesting of Khasi potatoes are in progress. Sowing of broadcast winter rice and planting of sugarcane have been nearly finished. Cattle disease is reported from seven districts. The price of common rice has further risen slightly.

Bengal.—During the week general rain fell throughout the Province. The fall was heavy in parts of the Rajshahi, Dacca and Presidency divisions, and light to moderate elsewhere. It has facilitated the preparation of fields for the next winter rice crops and has greatly helped the growth of the autumn crops. Sowing of jute and autumn paddy is fast approaching completion and weeding continues. Sowing of winter paddy for seedlings is also proceeding. Some damage to autumn paddy by insects is reported from Dacca and Faridpur. Cattle disease exists in eight districts. The average price of common rice for the Province has fallen slightly as compared with that of the previous week.

Bihar and Orissa.—The rainfall during the week was general over the Province, the fall being generally light to moderate. Preparation of lands for autumn crops continues and sowings are in progress. Standing crops are doing well. The price of common rice has risen in two districts, fallen in four and remained stationary in the remaining districts as compared with that of the preceding week. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient. Cattle disease is reported from nine districts The number of persons on test works and in receipt of gratuitous relief in Puri was 1,133 and 773 respectively. The condition of standing crops in the Feudatory States of Orissa is good.

The report on scarcity in Singhbhum is as follows :—In the Kolhan Government Estate the distress was moderate. Relief measures are sufficient. The public health is good and the physical condition of the workers is satisfactory. The average price was 8 seers per rupee. The number of persons on test works was 1,522.

United Provinces.—Rain has again fallen over a large area in the Provinces, retarding threshing of spring crops in places. Locusts visited some villages in the Etah district but no damage is reported. Sowings of rice, cotton, maize and juar are going on. Standing crops are in good condition. Sugarcane is flourishing. Prospects are good. Agricultural stock is doing well. Fodder and water are ample. Cattle disease is subsiding. Export of grain is on a moderate scale. Markets are well supplied. Prices are still rising.

Punjab.—Light or moderate rain was received in parts of all the reporting districts except in parts of the west. The fall was fairly heavy in parts of the submontane tracts. It was useful for standing extra spring and autumn crops which are in average to good condition. Threshing of wheat continues in some districts with yield normal or slightly below normal on irrigated and below normal or poor on unirrigated areas. Sowings of cotton and other autumn crops continue and are generally normal. Extra spring crops are being reaped and the expected yield is generally normal. Cattle are generally healthy and fodder and water for drinking and irrigation purposes are sufficient. Stocks of food grains are sufficient. Prices are generally stationary but show a slight upward tendency. They range generally between normal and warning rates in the south-east and between warning and scarcity rates elsewhere. Price of wheat :—Rawalpindi 9½, Lahore 9¾, Ferozepore 10, Lyallpur 10¼ and Ambala 10¾ seers per rupee.

North-West Frontier Province.—Slight rain has fallen in Peshawar and parts of Bannu. The weather is hot. The condition of standing crops on irrigated areas is average and on unirrigated areas below average in Peshawar. Reaping of wheat and barley in Peshawar has been practically finished. Threshing is now being carried on with outturn average. Autumn crops are being sown in the north and the south of the Province. The condition of cattle is generally good. Water and fodder are sufficient. The public health is good. Prices are stationary. The price of wheat in Peshawar is $9\frac{9}{16}$ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—Slight rain fell during the week. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from 8 to 18 and maize from 12 to 25 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is average. Cattle disease of mild type prevails in the Basohli tahsil. Fodder is insufficient in certain places.

Kashmir.—The rainfall during the week was fair. Standing crops are in fair condition. Sowings of autumn crops are in progress. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are sufficient. Prices are rising.

Rajputana.—Except in Serohee, Jaisalmer, Banswara and Dholpur, the rainfall was general, varying from 53 cents in Dungarpur to 3 inches 14 cents in Tonk. The weather is monsoonal. Land is being prepared for autumn crops and sowings continue. Agricultural stock is healthy. Some cattle disease is reported from Dungarpur and Bharatpur. Water and fodder are ample. Prices are rising in most places remarkably in Jhalawar, Tonk and Karauli while they are falling in Serohee, Shahpura and Kotah.

Central India.—The rainfall during the week was partial in Indore and Malwa and general elsewhere. The principal falls were over 3 inches in Alirajpur, over 2 inches in Bundelkhand and over 1 inch in Dhar, Barwani and Jhabua and insufficient in Bhopal. Spring crops are being threshed in Bhopal. Land is being prepared for autumn crops almost everywhere. Agricultural stock is generally in good condition. The fodder supply is sufficient. Prices are high in Bhopal and steady elsewhere.

Central Provinces.—The weather has been hot and cloudy and the rainfall general throughout the Provinces. Threshing and winnowing of spring crops have been practically completed. Ploughing of fields continues and sowing of rice and cotton has begun in a few districts. Fodder and water are sufficient. Agricultural stock is in good condition. Prices of food grains fluctuated slightly, exhibiting a tendency to rise.

Feudatory States:—Most States received rain. Sowing of autumn crops has been started in places.

Bombay.—Good rain fell during the week throughout the Presidency except Sind. Lands are being prepared for autumn cultivation and sowing generally continues. The fodder supply is adequate. Agricultural stock is sufficient. Cattle are in good condition. Drinking water is adequate. Water for irrigation is deficient in parts of Larkana, Thar and Parkar, Kaira and the Panch Mahals. Prices of grains are generally steady.

Hyderabad.—Fairly good rain fell during the week. The average fall was 2 inches 34 cents. Late rice harvest has been nearly completed. Lands are being prepared for monsoon sowings. Cattle disease prevails in three talukas. Prices of grains are almost constant. The highest price of juar in districts is 7 seers per rupee in Bidar and the lowest 18 seers per rupee in Bir.

Mysore.—The rainfall during the week was good. Prices of rice has risen in Mysore, Hassan and Chitaldrug and of ragi in Mysore. Markets are well supplied. Sowing of paddy and ragi are in progress. Standing crops are in good condition. Prospects of the season are good. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Rainfall 5 inches 8 cents. Ploughing for rice continues. Prices of food grains are high. The public health is fair. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall during the week was very heavy in Malabar, South Kanara and Cochin, heavy in Godavari, Banganapalle, Sandur and Madras, good in the Vizagapatam littoral, Kistna, Guntur, Chittoor, North Arcot, Salem, Travancore, the Nilgiris, Deccan except Banganapalle and Sandur and Carnatic except Madras and fair to nil elsewhere. Standing crops are in fair to good condition generally but rain is required in parts of one district. Harvesting of paddy, sugarcane and dry crops is proceeding normally with outturn fair to normal generally. Sowings of paddy, sugarcane and dry crops are proceeding normally. The condition of cattle is generally good. The water-supply is insufficient in parts of Ganjam, Godavari, South Arcot, Tanjore, Madura, Central and Deccan except Kurnool and sufficient elsewhere. Pasture is insufficient in seven districts and in parts of six others. Fodder is generally available. Prices are steady.

No. 7118-C.W.—The following Royal Proclamation is published for general information :—

BY THE KING.

A PROCLAMATION.

RELATING TO THE IMPORTATION OF CERTAIN ARTICLES INTO THE UNITED KINGDOM.

GEORGE R. I.

WHEREAS by Section forty-three of the Customs Consolidation Act, 1876, it is provided that the importation of arms, ammunition, gunpowder, or any other goods may be prohibited by Proclamation :

And whereas by the Prohibition of Import (Consolidation and Amendment) Proclamation, 1917, the importation of certain goods has been prohibited accordingly :

And whereas it is expedient that the importation into the United Kingdom of certain other goods should be prohibited :

Now, THEREFORE, We, by and with the advice of Our Privy Council, in pursuance of the said Act and of all other powers enabling Us in that behalf, do hereby proclaim, direct and ordain as follows :—

As from and after the date hereof, subject as hereinafter provided, the importation into the United Kingdom of the following goods is hereby prohibited, viz :—

Animals, wild.

Gum copal.

Gum kauri.

Manufactures of rubber.

Provided always, and it is hereby declared, that this prohibition shall not apply to any such goods which are imported under licence given by or on behalf of the Board of Trade, and subject to the provisions and conditions of such licence.

This Proclamation may be cited as the Prohibition of Import (No. 16) Proclamation, 1917.

Given at Our Court at Buckingham Palace, this Tenth day of May, in the year of our Lord One thousand nine hundred and seventeen, and in the Eighth year of Our Reign.

GOD SAVE THE KING.

No. 7122-C.W.—The following Royal Proclamation is published for general information :—

BY THE KING.

A PROCLAMATION.

PROHIBITING, UNDER SECTION 8 OF "THE CUSTOMS AND INLAND REVENUE ACT, 1879," AND SECTION 1 OF "THE EXPORTATION OF ARMS ACT, 1900," AND SECTION 1 OF "THE CUSTOMS (EXPORTATION PROHIBITION) ACT, 1914," AND SECTION 1 OF "THE CUSTOMS (EXPORTATION RESTRICTION) ACT, 1914," THE EXPORTATION FROM THE UNITED KINGDOM OF CERTAIN ARTICLES.

GEORGE R.I.

WHEREAS by Section 8 of "The Customs and Inland Revenue Act, 1879," it is enacted that the exportation of arms, ammunition, and gunpowder, military and naval stores, and any articles which We shall judge capable of being converted into or made useful in increasing the quantity of military or naval stores, provisions, or any sort of victual which may be used as food for man may be prohibited by Proclamation :

And whereas by Section 1 of "The Exportation of Arms Act, 1900," it is enacted that We may by Proclamation prohibit the exportation of all or any of the following articles, namely, arms, ammunition, military and naval stores, and any article which We shall judge capable of being converted into or made useful in increasing the quantity of arms, ammunition, or military or naval stores, to any country or place therein named whenever We shall judge such prohibition to be expedient in order to prevent such arms, ammunition, military or naval stores, being used against Our subjects or forces or against any forces engaged or which may be engaged in military or naval operations in co-operation with Our forces:

And whereas by Section 1 of "The Customs (Exportation Prohibition) Act, 1914," it is enacted that Section 8 of the aforesaid Customs and Inland Revenue Act, 1879, shall have effect whilst a state of war in which We are engaged exists as if in addition to the articles therein mentioned there were included all other articles of every description :

And whereas it is further enacted by Section 2 of "The Customs (Exportation Prohibition) Act, 1914," that any Proclamation or Order in Council made under Section 8, as so amended, of "The Customs and Inland Revenue Act, 1897," may whilst a state of war exists be varied or added to by an Order made by the Lords of the Council on the recommendation of the Board of Trade :

And whereas by Section 1 of "The Customs (Exportation Restriction) Act, 1914," it is enacted that Section 1 of "The Exportation of Arms Act, 1900," shall have effect whilst a state of war in which We are engaged exists as if, in addition to the articles therein mentioned, there were included all other articles of every description :

And whereas it is further enacted by Section 2 of "The Customs (Exportation Restriction) Act, 1914," that any Proclamation made under Section 1 of "The Exportation of Arms Act, 1900," may, whether the Proclamation was made before or after the passing of the Act now in recital, be varied or added to by an Order made by the Lords of the Council on the recommendation of the Board of Trade :

And whereas a Proclamation dated the 10th May, 1916, and various Orders dated respectively the 25th May, the 7th and the 28th June, the 4th and the 26th July, the 15th August, the 8th and the 29th September, the 23rd October, the 17th November, the 12th and the 19th December, 1916, the 15th and the 19th January, the 2nd, the 19th and the 23rd February, the 12th and the 30th March, and the 1st May, 1917, prohibiting the exportation of certain articles therein referred to from the United Kingdom to certain or all destinations have been issued in pursuance of the aforesaid powers :

And whereas it is expedient that the said Proclamation and Orders should be consolidated, with amendments and additions, and that such Proclamation and Orders should be revoked :

And whereas We have deemed it expedient to prohibit the exportation of the articles hereinafter enumerated :

Now, THEREFORE, We have thought fit, by and with the advice of Our Privy Council, to issue this Our Royal Proclamation, declaring, and it is hereby declared, that the abovementioned Proclamation and Orders be and the same are hereby revoked :

And We have further thought fit, by and with the advice aforesaid, and in virtue and in exercise of the powers aforesaid, further to declare, and it is hereby declared, as follows :—

That the exportation of the goods mentioned in the Schedule hereto be prohibited as follows :—

(1) Goods marked (A), to all destinations ;

(2) Goods marked (B), to all ports and destinations abroad other than ports and destinations in British Possessions and Protectorates ;

(3) Goods marked (C), to all destinations in foreign countries in Europe and on the Mediterranean and Black Seas, other than France and French Possessions, Russia, Italy and Italian Possessions, Spain and Portugal, and to all ports in any such foreign countries, and to all Russian Baltic ports.

(A) Castings, malleable, hæmatite iron ;
(A) Celluloid ;
(C) Celluloid, articles wholly or partly manufactured of ;
(A) "Celluliod" sheet, non-inflammable, and similar transparent material non-soluble in lubricating oil, petrol or water ;
(A) Cerium and its alloys (except ferro-cerium) ;
(C) Charcoal ;

Chemicals, drugs, dyes, dye stuffs, and medicinal and pharmaceutical preparations, the following :—

(B) Acetanilide ;
(A) Acetates, all metallic ;
(A) Acetic acid ;
(A) Acetic anhydride ;
(A) Aceto-celluloses ;
(A) Acetones and their compounds and preparations ;
(A) Acetylsalicylic acid (aspirin) and its preparations ;
(A) Alcohol, absolute ;
(A) Alcohol, methylic, and its esters ;
(C) Aloes ;
(A) Aluminium nitrate ;
(B) Aluminium, oxides of, and mixtures containing aluminium oxides ;
(C) Aluminium, salts of (except aluminium nitrate and sulphate, alumino-ferric and ammonium alum) ;
(B) Aluminium sulphate ;
(B) Alumino-ferric ;
(A) Amidol and mixtures containing amidol ;
(B) Amidopyrine ;
(B) Ammonia and its salts, whether simple or compound (except ammonium nitrate, perchlorate, sulphate and sulphocyanide) ;
(B) Ammonia, liquefied ;
(B) Ammonia liquor ;
(B) Ammonium alum ;
(A) Ammonium nitrate, perchlorate, sulphate and sulphocyanide ;
(A) Amyl acetate, and other amyl esters ;
(A) Anthracene oil, and mixtures and preparations containing anthracene oil ;
(C) Antimony, compounds of (except sulphides and oxides of antimony) ;
(B) Antimony, sulphides and oxides of ;
(A) Antipyrine (phenazone) and its preparations ;
(A) Anti-tetanus serum ;
(C) Arsenic, compounds of arsenic, and mixtures containing arsenic ;
(B) Barium peroxide ;
(B) Barium sulphate ;
(A) Belladonna and its preparations ;
(A) Belladonna alkaloids, and their salts and preparations ;
(B) Benzoic acid (synthetic) and benzoates ;
(A) Benzol and its compounds and preparations ;
(C) Bismuth and its salts (except bismuth nitrate) ;
(A) Bismuth nitrate ;
(A) Bleaching powder ;
(C) Borax and mixtures containing borax ;
(C) Boric acid ;
(C) Boron compounds ;
(B) Bromine and alkaline bromides ;
(B) Caffeine and its salts ;
(A) Calcium carbide ;
(C) Calcium silicide ;
(C) Calcium sulphate ;
(C) Calcium sulphide ;
(C) Cantharides ;
(A) Carbolic acid and compounds thereof, and preparations containing carbolic acid ;
(A) Carbon disulphide ;
(B) Carbon tetrachloride and its preparations ;
(C) Cascara sagrada ;
(B) Cerium, oxide and salts of ;
(B) Chloral and its compounds and preparations ;
(A) Chlorates, all metallic ;
(B) Chlorine ;
(B) Chromium, compounds of (except chromium acetate, chromium chlorate and chromium nitrate), and mixtures containing such compounds of chromium ;
(A) Chromium acetate ;
(A) Chromium chlorate ;
(A) Chromium nitrate ;
(B) Cinchona bark ;
(B) Citric acid ;
(A) Coal tar, all products obtainable from and derivatives thereof, suitable for use in the manufacture of dyes and explosives, whether obtained from coal tar or other sources, and mixtures and preparations containing such products or derivatives ;

(A) Cobalt nitrate;
(B) Cobalt, oxides and salts of (except cobalt nitrate), and mixtures containing such oxides or salts of cobalt;
(A) Cocaine and its salts and preparations;
(B) Colchicum and its preparations;
(A) Collodion;
(A) Copper acetate;
(C) Copper, compounds of (except copper acetate, copper iodide, copper nitrate, copper sulphate, and suboxide of copper), and mixtures containing such compounds of copper;
(B) Copper iodide;
(A) Copper nitrate;
(B) Copper, suboxide of, and mixtures containing suboxide of copper;
(B) Copper sulphate;
(A) Creosote, and creosote oils (except wood tar oil) and mixtures and preparations containing such creosote or creosote oils;
(A) Cresol, compounds and preparations of cresol (except saponified cresol) and nitro-cresol;
(B) Cresol (saponified);
(A) Cyanamide;
(A) Diethylbarbituric acid (veronal) and veronal sodium;
(A) Dimethylaniline;
(A) Dyes and dyestuffs manufactured from coal tar products, and articles containing such dyes or dyestuffs;
(A) Emetin and its salts;
(B) Ergot of rye;
(A) Ether, acetic;
(A) Ether, formic;
(A) Ether, sulphuric;
(A) Eucaine hydrochloride, eucaine (benzamine) lactate, and their preparations;
(C) Fluorine compounds, not otherwise prohibited;
(C) Formates, not otherwise prohibited;
(C) Formic acid;
(B) Formic aldehyde;
(A) Fusel oil (amyl alcohol);
(B) Gentian root;
(A) Glycerine, and preparations containing glycerine not otherwise specifically prohibited;
(A) Green oil, and mixtures and preparations containing green oil;
(B) Guaiacol and guaiacol carbonate;
(C) Halogen derivatives of aliphatic hydrocarbons (except carbon tetrachloride);
(B) Henbane and its preparations;
(B) Hexamethylene tetramin (urotropin) and its compounds and preparations;
(B) Hydrobromic acid;
(B) Hydrochloric acid;
(B) Hydrogen peroxide;
(A) Hydroquinone, and mixtures containing hydroquinone;
(A) Indigo, natural and synthetic;
(C) Iodine and its compounds and preparations;
(C) Iridium compounds;
(C) Iron, oxides of;
(C) Iron sulphates;
(A) Ipecacuanha root;
(C) Jalap;
(A) Lead compounds, and mixtures containing lead compounds;
(B) Magnesium chloride and sulphate, and mixtures containing magnesium chloride or sulphate;
(C) Manganese compounds, not otherwise prohibited;
(A) Manganese, peroxide of, and mixtures and preparations thereof;
(C) Menthol;
(B) Mercury, compounds and preparations of (except nitrate of mercury), and mixtures containing such compounds of mercury;
(A) Mercury nitrate;
(A) Methylaniline;
(B) Methyl salicylate;
(A) Metol, and mixtures containing metol;
(B) Molybdic acid and its salts;
(A) Naphthalene and its compounds and preparations;
(A) Neo-salvarsan;
(A) Nickel nitrate;
(B) Nickel, oxides and salts of (except nickel nitrate), and mixtures containing such oxides or salts of nickel;

(A) Nitrates, all metallic ;
(A) Nitric acid ;
(A) Nitro toluol ;
(A) Novocain and its preparations ;
(C) Nux vomica and its preparations ;
(C) Nux vomica alkaloids and their salts and preparations ;
(A) Opium and its preparations ;
(A) Opium alkaloids and their salts and preparations ;

(A) Potash, muriate, nitrate (saltpetre), sulphate, and crude manurial potash salts, and mixtures containing any of these substances ;
(B) Potash salts, and mixtures containing such potash salts, not otherwise prohibited ;
(A) Potassium chlorate, and mixtures containing potassium chlorate ;
(A) Potassium cyanide, and mixtures containing potassium cyanide ;
(A) Potassium, perchlorate ;
(A) Potassium, permanganate ;
(A) Potassium prussiates and mixtures containing potassium prussiates ;
(A) Pyridine ;
(A) Pyrogallic acid, and mixtures containing pyrogallic acid ;
(B) Quinine and its salts ;
(A) Radium compounds ;
(C) Rhodium compounds ;
(C) Rhubarb (medicinal) ;
(C) Ruthenium compounds ;
(A) Saccharin ;
(B) Salicylic acid and its preparations ;
(B) Salipyrine ;
(B) Salol and its preparations ;
(A) Salvarsan ;
(C) Santonin and its preparations ;
(C) Senega ;
(B) Senna leaves and pods ;
(A) Soda, caustic ;
(C) Soda lime ;
(C) Sodium bicarbonate ;
(B) Sodium carbonate ;
(A) Sodium cyanide, and mixtures containing sodium cyanide ;
(B) Sodium hyposulphite (thiosulphate), and mixtures containing sodium hyposulphite ;
(A) Sodium prussiates and mixtures containing sodium prussiates ;
(B) Sodium salicylate and its preparations ;
(C) Sodium silicate and mixtures containing sodium silicate ;
(C) Sodium sulphate and bisulphate (nitre cake) ;
(C) Sodium sulphide ;
(A) Spent oxide ;
(B) Stramonium leaves and seeds ;
(A) Strontium compounds, and mixtures containing strontium compounds ;
(C) Sulphites, metallic, not otherwise prohibited ;
(A) Sulphonal ;
(A) Sulphur and preparations containing sulphur ;
(A) Sulphur, chlorides of ;
(A) Sulphur dioxide, liquefied ;
(A) Sulphuric acid and mixtures containing sulphuric acid ;
(A) Sulphuric acid, fuming (oleum) ;
(B) Tartaric acid, cream of tartar, and alkaline tartrates ;
(B) Theobromine sodium salicylate ;
(C) Thiosulphates, metallic, not otherwise prohibited ;

(B) Thorium, oxide and salts of ;
(B) Thymol and its preparations ;
(B) Tin, chlorides of ;
(C) Tin, compounds of (except chlorides and oxide of tin) ;
(B) Tin, oxide of, and mixtures and preparations containing tin oxide ;
(A) Titanium compounds ;
(A) Toluol and its compounds and preparations ;
(A) Trional ;
(A) Trioxymethylene ;
(A) Triphenyl phosphate ;
(B) Tungsten compounds ;
(C) Ultramarine, and mixtures containing ultramarine ;
(C) Uranium compounds ;
(B) Urea and its compounds ;
(C) Vanadium compounds ;
(A) Xylol and its compounds and preparations ;
(B) Zinc chloride and sulphate, and mixtures containing zinc chloride or sulphate ;
(A) Zinc oxide ;
(B) Zinc sulphide ;
(A) Zirconium compounds ;

(C) China stone ;
(B) Chrome ore ;
(A) Chronometers ;
(A) Cinematograph films ;
(C) Clay, China, potters', and ball ;
(B) Coal, except coal allowed by the Commissioners of Customs and Excise to be shipped as bunker coal ;
(B) Cobalt, cobalt ore, and alloys of cobalt ;
(B) Coir yarn ;
(A) Coke, petroleum ;
(B) Coke, except petroleum coke ;
(A) Compasses for ships, and component parts thereof ;
(A) Compasses, other than ships compasses ;
(A) Copper manufactures, the following :—
All articles wholly or partly manufactured of copper or its alloys except articles partly manufactured of copper or its alloys in which the total weight of copper and copper alloy does not exceed five per cent. of the total weight of the article and does not exceed 56 lbs ;
(A) Copper ore ; regulus, matte, concentrate and precipitate ;
(A) Copper stamps for stamping woven piece goods ;
(A) Copper, whether refined or unrefined, unwrought, wrought or partly wrought of all kinds and descriptions, including brass, bronze, yellow metal and all other alloys of copper ;
(C) Cork and cork dust and articles manufactured from cork or cork dust ;
(C) Cotton, all manufactures, mixtures and products of, not otherwise specifically prohibited ;
(A) Cotton pulp ;
(A) Cotton rags and rags containing cotton ;
(A) Cotton, raw ;
(A) Cotton, Sea Island, yarn made from or containing ;
(A) Cotton, shoddy ;
(A) Cotton wadding and articles containing cotton wadding ;
(A) Cotton waste and articles containing cotton waste ;
(A) Cotton wool and articles containing cotton wool ;
(B) Crucibles (plumbago) ;
(A) Cryolite ;
(A) Curry combs ;
(A) Cylinders, metal, such as can be used for containing compressed gas ;
(B) Deer skins ;
(A) Dextrine, and articles, mixtures, and preparations containing dextrine ;
(A) Diamonds suitable for industrial purposes ;
(B) Docks, floating, and their component parts ;
(B) Draw plates, jewelled, for drawing wire ;
(C) Electrical apparatus and plant for the generation, distribution and utilisation of electric power, not otherwise prohibited ;
(B) Electric lamps (except carbon filament lamps, arc lamps for street lighting, and pocket electric lamps and their component parts) ;
(C) Electric lamps, pocket, and their component parts ;
(A) Electrodes carbon, for electric furnaces ;
(B) Emery and corundum and manufactures thereof, carborundum, alundum, crystolon and all other artificial abrasives and manufactures thereof ;

(B) Equipment, military ;
(A) Esparto grass ;
(A) Explosives ;
(B) Fats, all animal and vegetable, and articles and mixtures containing such fats, not otherwise prohibited ;
(B) Fatty acids and articles and mixtures containing fatty acids ;
(C) Feathers and down, except ornamental feathers ;
(C) Felspar ;
(C) Felt (except saddle felt) ;
(B) Fencing staples ;
(C) Ferrets ;
Ferro alloys, the following :—
(B) Ferro-cerium ;
(B) Ferro-chrome ;
(B) Ferro-manganese ;
(A) Ferro-molybdenum ;
(B) Ferro-nickel ;
(B) Ferro-titanium ;
(A) Ferro-tungsten ;
(B) Ferro-vanadium ;
(B) Silicon-spiegel ;
(B) Spiegeleisen ;
(A) Ferro-silicon ;
(A) Fibre, New Zealand flax ;
(C) Fibres, vegetable, not otherwise specifically prohibited, and cordage, twine, and yarns made therefrom, except coir yarn ;
(A) Field glasses ;
(A) Firearms, rifled, and their component parts ;

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

CIVIL WORKS.
Irrigation.

Simla, the 18th June 1917.

Review of Irrigation in India in 1915-16.

Classificat[illegible] Irrigation W[illegible]

Irrigation Works in India are divided into two main classes, viz., major and minor works. Major Works are sub-divided into :—

(a) Productive public works, the capital of which is usually provided from borrowed money.

(b) Protective works, designed as a protection against famine, the capital of which is provided from current revenues, and is usually met from the annual grant under Famine Relief and Insurance.*

Capital and revenue accounts are kept for all major works.

Minor works are constructed from funds provided from the current revenues of India, and, broadly speaking, consist of irrigation systems which are not sufficiently important to treat as major works. Some of them are old works constructed by the former rulers of this country, and extended or restored by the British Government; some are works which have been constructed by the British Government; others, again, are village works originally provided by private or communal effort, the control of which the State has been obliged to assume owing to disputes between the parties interested or their inability to maintain the efficiency of the works.

Capital and revenue accounts are maintained for the more important minor works, but for those on which the capital outlay has not exceeded half a lakh of rupees, revenue accounts only are, as a rule, maintained. There is a third class of minor works, consisting for the most part of small tanks, for which neither capital nor revenue accounts are kept. These exist principally in the Madras Presidency.

Productive P[illegible] Works.

2. Productive public works are expected within 10 years after the probable date of their completion to yield sufficient revenue to pay their working expenses and the annual interest calculated at 4 per cent on the capital invested. No project is now sanctioned as a productive public work unless it can be shown beyond reasonable doubt that when fully developed it will fulfil these conditions. This standard was not attained in the case of the earlier irrigation projects, and thus it has happened that several large irrigation works, which were financed from borrowed capital, are not remunerative. There are 14 such works, viz., two in Bihar and Orissa and two in Bengal, seven in the Deccan and Gujarat, two in Madras and one in the North-West Frontier Province. They are still retained on the list of productive works, but expenditure against their capital account is now charged against the current revenues of India. The total accumulated losses on these 14 works have exceeded the sum of $11\frac{3}{4}$ crores. But though they have proved financial failures in the ordinary commercial sense, they have been indirectly of great value in securing large areas of cultivation against the vicissitudes of the seasons.

3. The remaining works in operation, 46† in number, satisfy productive conditions. These works collectively paid during the year 9·59 per cent on their capital outlay; while after paying interest charges, the surplus revenue, which they had contributed to the general revenues of the country up to the end of 1915-16, amounted to nearly 54¼ crores of rupees against 45·44 crores, the capital invested on them. The financial results, and the mileage in operation for all productive public works in operation, are shown separately by provinces in Statement I.

*NOTE—In such cases the expenditure is chargeable to the main head "35—Construction of Protective Irrigation Works." Expenditure in excess of this grant is chargeable to "42 A.—Expenditure on Protective Irrigation Works in addition to that charged to Famine Relief and Insurance."

†NOTE—Except where otherwise stated, this review relates to works actually in operation. The figures in the appended Financial Results of Irrigation operations deal both with works in operation and with those under construction. Hence the figures in the review do not at first sight agree with those contained in the statements referred to.

4. During the year under review the total area irrigated by all the productive public works, excluding branches in Native States of the Punjab, amounted to 16,639,600 acres.* Towards this total the Punjab canals contributed 7·3 million acres, Madras 3·5, the United Provinces 3 and Sind 1·4 million acres. In Bihar and Orissa an area of 815,900 acres was attained. The return on capital is highest in Madras, where the canals yielded 13·55 per cent, excluding the Kurnool and Barur systems referred to in paragraph 2, expenditure on which is charged to Revenue. The next province in this respect is the Punjab, where a return of 10·90 per cent was realised. In the United Provinces and Sind, the returns realised were 8·34 per cent and 7·29 per cent, respectively. Details regarding other provinces and administrations will be found in Statement I. The return of productive works as a whole, excluding those under construction and not earning revenue, was 8·14 per cent on the capital outlay.

5. There were in operation in the year under review 33 protective works, which together irrigated a total of 444,400 acres. The most important works are the Ramtek reservoir in the Central Provinces, the Betwa and Ken canals in the United Provinces, the Rushikulya in Madras, and the Nira and Godavari systems in the Bombay Presidency. A number of small but interesting tank works are to be found in the Central Provinces. They were sanctioned as experimental works, in accordance with the recommendations of the Irrigation Commission, in order to test how far the people were willing to resort to irrigation for the maturing of their crops and what water rates they were prepared to pay. The results obtained are gratifying and show that the people are beginning to realise the great advantages of irrigation.

6. There were 119 works so classed in 1915-16, the majority of which are in Bombay and Madras. Eight are purely navigation works. The net revenue paid by works of this category amounted to Rs 32,45,206 (excluding navigation canals) or a return of 7·59 per cent on the capital outlay, against 8·39 per cent in the previous year. Nearly all the minor works in Sind return exceptionally high percentages. It is in contemplation to transfer these to the major works class as soon as it is possible to amalgamate them with certain large projects which are in contemplation. The total area served by works of this class was 2,072,000 acres. This figure includes the area shown under Burma, viz., 406,105 acres, which is not under actual irrigation, but represents the area of cultivation on lands reclaimed by river flood embankments.

7. There are numerous works for which only revenue accounts are maintained. They are credited with a share of the land revenue depending on their maintenance and are debited with all expenditure incurred on construction, extension, improvements and maintenance. During the year reviewed these works irrigated an area of 2·5 million acres and returned a net revenue of Rs. 35,79,707.

8. As explained in the opening paragraph of this review, practically all the works of the class which have neither capital nor revenue accounts are situated in the Madras Presidency. They consist of some 37,000 tanks and irrigation channels, mainly the former, the improvements and repairs of which are executed by the Public Works Department, except in the case of the smaller works which are maintained by civil officers. The areas irrigated by works of this class in 1915-16 aggregated 3,474,200 acres. The area irrigated in 1914-15 was 3,401,200 acres.

PUNJAB.

9. In the Punjab the climatic conditions for the whole year (1915-16) were unsatisfactory. During the kharif rain in February and March helped early sowings but the cultivators could not make full use of it as they were busy in harvesting the bumper rabi crops of 1915 till late in the month of April. The prevalence of plague on the Western Jumna and Sirhind canals also restricted early kharif sowings. The failure of the monsoon kept river supplies low and Inundation canals got less water than usual. The hot, dry weather caused a scarcity of fodder in the kharif particularly in the districts of Rohtak and Hissar and in Jind and Patiala States. Grass hoppers and other insects did some damage to crops on all canals, more especially on the newer ones. On the Lower Chenab canal and Lower Jhelum canal the activity of the boll worm made it necessary to grant fairly liberal remissions on account of the damage done to the cotton crops.

The rabi conditions were similar to the kharif. There was rain in September and October and a large area of rabi crops was sown. Much of the "barani" area was irrigated by the canals later on when the usual winter rains failed. The rivers were exceedingly low during the rabi and much difficulty was experienced in successfully adjusting the abnormally short supply to an exceptionally large demand.

In spite of unfavourable conditions and scanty rainfall the results were satisfactory. The area irrigated by works of all kinds was 8,884,811 acres of which 8,448,987 acres were matured. The corresponding figures for the triennium ending 1914-15 are 8,615,758 and 8,220,530 respectively, the increase being due mainly to the development of irrigation on the Upper Chenab canal and Lower Bari Doab canals.

The Colony canals, the Lower Chenab and Lower Jhelum, maintain their high reputation as productive investments They irrigated 2,284,079 and 834,176 acres and earned a gross revenue of 159 and 41 lakhs, respectively, the percentages of net revenue being 30·78 and 20·70 on the Capital outlay. These figures include indirect receipts in the shape of land revenue, malikana, interest on the sale value of land and revenue generally that would not have existed but for the construction of the Colony canals and the colonization and irrigation of the Crown waste lands. If these special receipts are excluded these canals take an ordinary place among those Punjab canals whose returns are not exaggerated by indirect receipts.

The Upper Bari Doab, the Sidhnai, and the Upper Sutlej canals have also done well as their net percentage returns of 15·29, 51·55 and 18·50 respectively clearly show.

The Triple canals (the Upper Jhelum, Upper Chenab and Lower Bari Doab) show a deficit. Development on these canals has been slower than was anticipated, owing to floods in the Jhelum river delaying the completion of the head-works of the Upper Jhelum canal at Mangla. That canal has now been opened and a steady expansion of irrigation on the Triple scheme may be expected within the next few years.

The Indus Inundation canals are disappointing. The return on these canals is little or nothing, the expenditure on maintenance being heavy.

The Sutlej Valley project and the Haveli project are being modified and revised. The Woolar Lake Barrage scheme is receiving further attention in connection with its financial details. New projects under investigation are the Bakra Dam scheme for the extension of irrigation in Hissar and Rohtak and the Sind Sagar Doab project which contemplates the irrigation of a large tract of country with Indus water

UNITED PROVINCES.

10. In the United Provinces the year was marked by deficient rainfall. The monsoons broke early in July but, for the greater part of that month and August, dry weather prevailed with occasional showers. At the end of August and early in September a cyclonic storm travelled up from the Bay and gave very heavy rain in the Cawnpore, Fatehpur and part of the Etawah districts. In the districts of Bundelkhand however the monsoons were well sustained throughout the season. There were no winter rains except light scattered showers in February.

Supplies were generally sufficient for the productive canals during the kharif except for the Ganges canal at the end of August when the demand was intense.

During the rabi, supplies were sufficient to meet the strong demand till December, but after that date the supplies fell and the demand could not be fully met.

There was little or no demand for irrigation from the protective canals whether in the kharif or rabi seasons.

The total area irrigated, 3,243,985 acres, was 23,256 acres less than that irrigated in the previous year, but 105,504 acres more than the average area of 3,138,482 acres for the three years ending 1914-15.

The total assessment of the year was 127¾ lakhs of rupees or Rs. 3 lakhs more than in 1914-15.

MADRAS.

11. In Madras the rainfall of both monsoons was above the average and the net cropped area in the Presidency during the year under review was 39 million acres, the same as in the previous year. The character of the season was favourable and the area irrigated under all classes of works, was 7,378,814 acres, exceeding the previous year's figures by about 200,000 acres.

SIND.

12. In Sind the rainfall is usually negligible and the cultivation depends almost entirely on canal irrigation. The canals depend for their supply on the inundation of the river Indus. The inundation of 1915 was, on the whole, an exceptionally low one. A peculiar feature was the unusually high river level at the commencement of the season and the subsequent failure to realize this promise of a good inundation. It is considered that the river has not reached its fair irrigating level until the reading on the gauge at Bukkur is 13 feet and that on the Kotri gauge is 17 feet. During the year under review, the 13 feet level on the Bukkur gauge was never reached and indeed readings of 12 feet and over were recorded for 5 days only. The Kotri gauge readings are now consistently higher than they used to be and the 'fair irrigating level' of 17 feet was recorded for 65 days as against 100 days in 1914 and 66 in 1913. A scanty amount of rain fell which gave no help and the only way to ward off disaster was to resort to a very rigid system of rotation. This was done with great success and consequently in spite of the low river level and the insufficient supplies in some of the canals the year was not by any means a bad one.

The area irrigated and gross revenue during the year show a decrease of 400,000 acres and an increase of Rs. 67,000 compared with the figures for the previous year. The area irrigated at present is about a quarter of the culturable area of the province. It will, however, be possible to bring a much larger area under irrigation if the river water be headed up to the required level by the construction of a barrage across the Indus. A project for such a barrage just below Sukkur, with two large canals, one on the right and one on the left bank of the Indus, is under preparation.

BOMBAY.

13. In the Presidency proper (Deccan and Gujrat) cultivation is mainly dependent upon rainfall and the tanks and canals, therefore, are useful for the purpose of growing the more valuable crops or to counteract the evil effects of a deficient rainfall. The irrigation schemes in this part of the country involve the construction of storage reservoirs and are costly compared with those of Sind.

In Gujrat the rainfall during the year was much below the average. The Hathmati river gave a very poor supply and the northern part of Gujrat suffered severely, and although the best use was made of the available supply in the Hathmati and Khari systems the area irrigated was about 1-10th only of the previous ten years' average. In the Kaira and Panch Mahals districts too the supply was poor, but some of the tanks proved useful. In the Deccan Irrigation division the rainfall was, on the whole, more favourable, and consequently there was less demand for water. Hence, the irrigation on the works in operation was less than the average, especially on the largest work, the Nira Left Bank canal. The Godavari canals are now practically completed and the area of irrigation should increase rapidly.

Works in progress.—Two large protective works are under construction in the Deccan. These are the Pravara River Works project and the Nira Right Bank Canal project. The storage for the former is at Bhandardara and is termed "Lake Arthur Hill". The dam is about 100 feet high now and will eventually be 270 feet high. Good progress was made with the Nira Right Bank Canal project. The foundations for the new dam at Bhatghar have been taken out over most of the length, and more than one million cubic feet of masonry has been laid. This project, when completed, will be the largest protective Irrigation work in this Presidency.

BENGAL.

14. The canal systems in Bengal, the most important of which are the Midnapur canal, the Hijili Tidal canal, the Circular and Eastern and the Madaripur Bhil systems are used principally for navigation purposes. The Midnapur canal is also utilised for irrigation.

The total area irrigated by the last named was 83,649 acres, showing an increase compared with the preceding year. The increase was chiefly under long leases of the kharif irrigation. The financial results of this work do not fulfil productive conditions, the revenues being just sufficient to meet the working expenses. The estimated value of crops raised on the area irrigated by it amounted to Rs. 51 lakhs.

BIHAR AND ORISSA.

15. In Bihar and Orissa the Sone and Orissa canals of the productive class are used both for irrigation and navigation. The area irrigated during the year under review was 815,947 acres showing a decrease of 92,469 acres as compared with the preceding year. The decrease was chiefly on the Sone canals, and was due to a much smaller rabi area having been irrigated owing to seasonable and well-distributed rainfall during the year under report. The financial results of these works do not fulfil productive conditions, but the estimated value of crops raised on the area irrigated by them amounted to over 4 crores of rupees, or two-thirds of the total capital expended on these works. Of the whole length (61 miles) of the Tribeni canal 59 miles were in operation during the year under review, the remaining portion being opened shortly after the close of the year. The prospects of the demand for canal water are favourable The area irrigated during the year under report was 54,090 acres against the preceding triennial average of 48,066 acres. This is almost the area anticipated in the project forecast. But compared with the previous year, there was a falling off of 22,048 acres in the area irrigated by the canal. This decrease was partly due to plentiful rainfall in the middle and latter portions of the kharif season and partly to irrigation operations having been stopped on account of the serious damage caused to the canal by heavy floods.

The construction estimate of the canal was closed on 31st March 1914. The works not finished or begun on the 1st April 1914 are being carried out on a schedule, sanctioned by the Government of India, of incomplete works to be finished by the 31st March 1920.

BURMA.

16. In Burma the season was a good one, the rainfall being generally up to the normal and well distributed, except in the Meiktila district where the early and late rains were untimely and the middle rains failed altogether with the result that little irrigation was done there. Some slight damage was done by flood in the Mandalay district and also in the Minbu district.

The area irrigated by the major canals was 269,169 acres, an increase of over 2,000 acres on the area of 1914-1915. The estimated value of the crops grown on land irrigated by major works amounted to 83·8 lakhs as against 71·6 lakhs in the previous year.

CENTRAL PROVINCES.

17. In the Central Provinces, the monsoon, throughout the province, gave ample and exceptionally well distributed rain The total area irrigated was 52 294 acres including 6,731 acres irrigated free of charge from the Mahanadi canal as compared with 44,405 acres in the preceding year. The gross revenue realized during the year was Rs. 1,48,834 as against Rs. 1,63,926 during the previous year.

NORTH-WEST FRONTIER PROVINCE.

18. The rainfall in the North-West Frontier Province was less than that of the previous year and was about 69 per cent of the normal. During kharif the rainfall was fairly good and fairly well distributed except in Peshawar. There was practically no rain in November 1915 but during December 1915 and January and February 1916 the rainfall was generally sufficient.

The total area irrigated during the year under review was 307,145 acres against 237,822 acres in the preceding year. The increase was due to the development of irrigation on the Upper Swat River canal.

Summary of irrigation results.

19. The following table summarises the results of irrigation works for all India during 1915-16 in comparison with those of the two previous years :—

Results of irrigation works in operation in India.

The Honourable the Chief Commissioners of the Central Provinces and Assam.
The Chief Commissioner of Coorg.
The Honourable the Resident at Hyderabad.
The Honourable the Agents to the Governor General for Central India and Rajputana.
The Honourable the Agent to the Governor General and Chief Commissioner, Baluchistan.
The Honourable the Chief Commissioner and Agent to the Governor-General, North West Frontier Province.
The Chief Commissioner, Delhi.
The Comptroller and Auditor General.
The Finance Department.
The Revenue and Agriculture Department.

Ordered, also, that the Review be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India.

Ordered, further, that a copy of the Review be forwarded to His Majesty's Secretary of State for India for information.

F. C. ROSE,

Secretary to the Government of India.

NOTE.

The rate of interest, 3·4725 per cent, charged on the capital outlay and shown in statements I, II and III, represents the percentage of the total interest actually paid by Government during the year on the mean of the total interest bearing debt at the beginning and at the end of the year (excluding the figures relating to specific Railway debt and advances to Railway companies, vide Government of India, Finance Department, Despatch No. 262, dated the 18th July 1907).

2. The direct charges referred to in the statements are made up of outlay on (1) works, (2) establishment, (3) tools and plant, (4) suspense, and less (5) receipts on capital account.

3. The indirect charges represent the charge for :—

(a) Capitalized abatement of land revenue calculated at twenty-five times the annual amount of land revenue remitted.

(b) Leave and pension allowances calculated at the rate of 14 per cent. on the gross charges for establishment (vide Public Works Department Code, Volume II, paragraphs 1724 to 172[illegible]).

4. The phrase "sum-at-charge" mentioned in column 10 of the statements means capital outlay (direct and indirect) plus all arrears of simple interest, if any, i. e., balance of total interest over total net revenue.

5. In column 20 of the statements the percentage of working expenses to receipts represents the proportion which the working expenses of the year bear to the actual revenue collected during the year. The latter may, however, include receipts in respect of previous years or may exclude revenue due in respect of, but not collected during, the financial year to which the return relates. A more correct method of striking a ratio between working expenses and revenue is that adopted in statistical statement II-E, appended to the provincial administration reports where the revenue is taken at the amount assessed as due for the financial year concerned.

Burma.—The week's rainfall in Lower Burma though evenly distributed was light as compared with the corresponding week of last year In Upper Burma all except two districts report rain but in the dry zone generally very little rain fell, most districts registering less than half an inch Ploughing for the main rice crop is in progress throughout the Province and sowing of sesamum, groundnut and cotton continues. The condition of standing crops is satisfactory. Cattle are generally healthy. The price of paddy at Rangoon has dropped a rupee The market for white rice is quiet.

Assam—The weather was seasonable and generally favourable. Sowing of broadcast winter rice and planting of sugarcane have been finished. Ploughing for and sowing of the transplanted winter rice manufacture of tea and harvesting of Khasi potatoes are in progress. Cattle disease is reported from nine districts The price of common rice is practically stationary.

Bengal.—During the week seasonable rain generally fell throughout the Province The fall was, however, excessive in a number of places, damaging crops on low lands. Parts of the Midnapore district suffered rather heavily owing to the river Cossaye being in flood Preparation of lands for winter rice and rearing of seedlings in nurseries continue. Transplantation has commenced in places Weeding of jute and autumn paddy is going on in western Bengal The early variety of autumn paddy is being harvested in some of the eastern Bengal districts Damage to standing crops by insects is reported from the 24-Parganas and Jessore districts Fodder is getting scarce in the lowlying tracts of the Hooghly and Dacca districts Cattle disease exists in seven districts The average price of common rice for the Province has risen by about 0·6 per cent as compared with that of the previous week.

Bihar and Orissa—The rainfall during the week was general over the Province, the fall being rather heavy in parts of Orissa and Chota Nagpur and generally light in Bihar Sowing of autumn crops is in progress Standing crops are doing well The price of common rice has risen in five districts, fallen in one and remained stationary in the remaining districts as compared with that of the preceding week The supply of fodder and water is sufficient Cattle disease is reported from five districts The number of persons on test works and in receipt of gratuitous relief in Puri was 635 and 677 respectively The condition of standing crops in the Feudatory States of Orissa is good

The weekly report on scarcity in Singhbhum is as follows In the Kolhan Government Estate the distress was moderate Relief measures are sufficient The public health is good and the physical condition of the workers is satisfactory The average price was 8 seers per rupee The number of persons on test works was 1,447

United Provinces—Almost all districts received rain during the week Standing crops are in good condition Harvesting of early rice has commenced in places. Sowing of cotton, maize and rice and preparation of fields for autumn crops are in progress Sugarcane is in excellent condition The condition of agricultural stock is satisfactory Cattle disease is confined to a few tahsils Fodder and supplies are adequate There has not been any marked rise in prices

Punjab—Light or moderate rain has fallen in parts of the reporting districts and was useful for standing crops and sowing of autumn crops Threshing of wheat has been nearly completed The yield is normal or slightly below normal on irrigated and below normal or poor on unirrigated areas. Sowings of cotton and other autumn crops continue to the normal extent The condition of standing extra spring and autumn crops is average to good. Reaping of extra spring crops is in progress and the yield is generally normal. Cattle are generally healthy and fodder and water for drinking and irrigation purposes are sufficient Stocks of food grains are sufficient Prices are generally stationary and range between normal and warning rates in the south-east and between warning and scarcity rates elsewhere Price of wheat Rawalpindi 9½ Lahore 10, Lyallpur 10½ and Ambala and Ferozepore 10½ seers per rupee

North-West Frontier Province—Slight rain fell in parts of Peshawar and Dera Ismail Khan The weather is hot The condition of standing crops in the north of the Province is average on irrigated and below average on unirrigated areas but in the south it is average on both. Where reaping of spring crops has been finished, the outturn is average Sowing of cotton and rice is in progress under normal conditions. The condition of cattle is, on the whole, good Water and fodder are sufficient. The price of wheat in Peshawar is 9¾ and in Dera Ismail Khan 10¼ seers per rupee.

Jammu —The rainfall during the week was generally good Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from 9 to 13 and maize from 12 to 25 seers per rupee The condition of standing crops is average. Cattle disease of mild type prevails in the Basohli tahsil. Fodder is sufficient except in a few places.

Kashmir —The rainfall during the week was good. Standing crops are in fair condition Sowings of autumn crops are in progress Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are sufficient. Prices are average.

Rajputana.—Except in Jaisalmer the rainfall was general. The weather is hot and cloudy. Lands are being prepared for autumn crops and sowings continue Agricultural stock is healthy. Water and fodder are ample Prices are rising in Mewar, Shahpura, Kotah, Jhalawar, Jaipur, Karauli and Alwar, falling in Jaisalmer, Partabgarh, and Kishengarh and are stationary elsewhere

Central India —The rainfall during the week was partial in Gwalior and general elsewhere The principal falls were over 5 inches in Kannod, over 4 inches in Garot, over 3 inches in Dhar, Jhabua and Alirajpur, over 2 inches in Bundelkhand and Manpur and over 1 inch in Barwani It was insufficient in Bhopal and partial in Bundelkhand. Lands are being prepared for autumn crops Agricultural stock is in good condition. The fodder supply is sufficient. Prices are high in Bhopal and steady elsewhere

Central Provinces —Light to heavy rain was received all over the Provinces, the largest quantity registered at headquarters being [illegible] inches in Raipur Preparation of lands for autumn crops is in full swing and sowing has commenced in several districts. The supply of fodder and water is adequate Cattle are in good condition Gram fell by 2¾ seers per rupee in Buldana. Other variations in prices are irregular and unimportant

Feudatory States Light to moderate rain fell in the States. Sowings continue

Bombay —Good rain fell during the week throughout the Presidency and in Sind. Slight rain was received in Thar and Parkar Lands are being prepared for autumn cultivation and sowing generally continues The fodder supply is adequate Agricultural stock is sufficient Cattle are in good condition. Drinking water is adequate Water for irrigation is deficient in parts of Sukkur Thar and Parkar Kaira and the Panch Mahals Prices of food grain have fallen slightly in the Karnatak and are generally steady elsewhere.

Hyderabad.—The rainfall during the week was fair to good except in parts of Raichur, Medak and Nalgonda districts The highest fall was 8 inches 20 cents in Guntur The average fall was 2 inches 23 cents. Lands are being prepared for autumn crops and sowings have generally commenced Lands for the early rice crop are also being prepared. Cattle disease prevails in four talukas Prices of grains show an upward tendency Coarse rice is selling at 8 and white juar at 11 seers per rupee in Hyderabad city. The highest price of juar in districts is 7 seers per rupee in Bidar and the lowest 1[illegible] seers per rupee in Bir

Mysore —The rainfall during the week was good in Tumkur Mysore, Hassan, Kadur and Shimoga and slight elsewhere The price of rice has risen slightly in Hassan and fallen in Chitaldrug and that of ragi has risen in Mysore and Hassan. Sowing of paddy and ragi is in progress Standing crops are in good condition Prospects of the season are good Cattle are generally healthy Water and fodder are available

Coorg —Rainfall 7 inches 23 cents. Ploughing for rice continues. Prices of food grains are high. The public health is fair. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Madras —The rainfall was very heavy in Malabar and South Kanara, heavy in Travancore, Cochin and the Nilgiris, good in Ganjam, the Vizagapatam Agency, Godavari, Kistna, Sandar, Chingleput, Madras, North Arcot, and Pudukkottai and fair or light elsewhere Standing crops are in fair to good condition generally but rain is required in parts of one district. Harvesting of paddy, sugarcane and dry crops is proceeding normally with outturn fair to normal generally Sowings of paddy sugarcane and dry crops are proceeding normally The condition of cattle is generally good The water-supply is insufficient in parts of Ganjam, South Arcot, Central, Deccan except Kurnool and South except Tinnevelly and sufficient elsewhere Pasture is insufficient in five districts and in parts of six others. Fodder is generally available. Prices are steady.

NOTICES.

THE PATENT OFFICE, 1, COUNCIL HOUSE STREET, CALCUTTA.

Public room, open 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Saturdays, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

1. All communications relating to applications for patents and for registration of designs under the Indian Patents and Designs Act (II of 1911), or in continuation of applications under the Inventions and Designs Act (V of 1888) should be addressed to the Controller of Patents and Designs, 1, Council House Street, Calcutta. Documents sent by post should be carefully packed.

2. Directions for the guidance of inventors and others are given in the Patent Office Handbook (price one rupee) which contains the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911, the Indian Patents and Designs Rules, 1912, the Indian Patents and Designs (Temporary Rules) Act, 1915, the Indian Patents and Designs (Temporary) Rules, 1915, together with current regulations and instructions. These should be consulted before an application is made to the Controller.

3. Advice. The Patent Office cannot undertake (1) to give opinions on the interpretation of Patent Law, or on the advisability of protecting inventions and designs or on their infringement; (2) to make searches in respect of information available in the public room; (3) to recommend any particular agent; or (4) to assist in the disposal of inventions. Applicants are warned that the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911, is in force in British India only, and patents granted under it do not extend to the United Kingdom or any of the British possessions. The International Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property does not include India. For information regarding patents in countries other than India applications should be made to the patent offices in the countries concerned.

4. Fees are payable in cash and must be received in the Patent Office within the time allowed by the Acts. When cheques are offered in payment of fees, it must be clearly understood that the office cannot hold itself responsible for any delay that may occur in the collection of cash on the cheques; any cheque not payable in Calcutta is subject to commission. In cases where it is not possible to have the fees handed in at the Patent Office, it is preferable to send them by money-order or postal order payable at Calcutta to the Controller of Patents and Designs, and to advise him that they have been so sent. Stamps will not be received in payment of fees.

5. Trade and property marks and names are not registered and medicines are not patented under the Indian Patents and Designs Act. There is no provision of Law in British India for their registration. Neither does this Act deal with pictures, photographs, etc., for which copyright is obtainable under the Indian Copyright Act, 1914.

6. Printed Specifications of applications, which have been accepted, are published within about three weeks after acceptance has been notified in the Gazette of India. These specifications can be purchased at the Patent Office at a uniform price of 8 annas per copy; and may be seen free of charge, together with other publications of the Patent Office, at the following places:—

(c) " " " confectionery.

The customs duty figures are an index to the volume of the import trade as under exports jute, rice, and tea only are subject to duty. In the two months ended May, 1917, the import duties increased to R1,63¼ lakhs from R1,49½ lakhs in the two months ended May 1916, and the export duty rose to R33 lakhs from less than R26 lakhs. The total customs revenue (excluding salt but including excise duty on cotton manufactures and land customs) in the two months, April and May, 1917, amounted to about R2,05 lakhs, as compared with nearly R1,82½ lakhs in the same period of last year.

Railway Statistics.

Railway statistics, like the import and export statistics above, are a valuable index to the general movement of trade throughout the country, and show that the earnings from 1st April to 2nd June, 1917, were R13,26 lakhs, as against R12,49 lakhs in the corresponding period of 1916, or an increase of R77 lakhs.

G. FINDLAY SHIRRAS,
Director of Statistics

Published by order of the Governor-General in Council.

DEPARTMENT OF STATISTICS, INDIA.

TRADE FLUCTUATIONS IN SELECTED ARTICLES IN APRIL, 1917.

The object of the tables appended is to show the quantities of the principal staples of agricultural produce imported from the various provinces, etc., and from foreign countries into the ports of Calcutta, Bombay, and Karachi, and into the Madras ports during the month of April, 1917, as compared with the corresponding month of 1916. The statis'ics include the foreign sea-borne and coasting trade as well as the inland (rail and river-borne) trade. They have been furnished by Collectors of Customs, Steamer Companies, Railway Audit Officers, the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta, etc.

TRADE FLUCTUATIONS IN APRIL 1916 AND 1917.

It will be seen from Table I, that the imports by rail, river, and sea in April, 1917, as against the corresponding month of 1916, show (in round numbers) an increase of—

(9,865,200 lbs as against 2,406,200 lbs last year).

228 per cent in wheat (excluding wheat flour)
(171,100 tons as against 52,100 tons last year).

(502,400 bales as against 331,800 bales last year).

33 per cent in gram and pulse
(69,300 tons as against 52,000 tons last year).

The imports of rape and mustard seed by rail, river, and sea into ports show a fall of 47 per cent (21,000 tons as against 39,800 tons last year) due mainly to smaller exports from the United Provinces. The decrease of 46 per cent (32,500 tons as against 60,300 tons last year) in the imports of linseed is accounted for by smaller exports mainly from Bihar and Orissa and the United Provinces. The imports of jute into Calcutta show a decrease of 23 per cent (152,000 bales as against 198,800 bales last year), owing to smaller exports from Bengal and Bihar and Orissa. The fall of 10 per cent (106,600 tons as against 118,700 tons last year) in the imports of rice (including paddy) into ports is mainly due to smaller exports from the Madras Presidency and Burma.

It will be seen from Table IV (wheat, excluding wheat flour) that the principal sources of the imports in April, 1916, were the United Provinces and the Central Provinces and Berar. During the corresponding month of 1917, the provinces from which the ports received their supplies were mainly the Punjab (29 per cent of the total), the United Provinces (17 per cent), the Central Provinces and Berar (17 per cent) and Rajputana and Central India (15 per cent). Table XI shows the exports out of India of wheat (including wheat flour) month by month during the last six years.

NOTE.—One bale of cotton or jute is equivalent to 400 lbs.
One maund of paddy is taken as equivalent to 25 seers of rice.

TRADE FLUCTUATIONS IN APRIL, 1916, AS COMPARED WITH THE PREVIOUS MONTH.

As compared with March, 1917, the imports in April, 1917, into the ports referred to above show (in round numbers) an increase of—

75 per cent in rape and mustard seed
(21,000 tons as against 12,000 tons previous month).

67 per cent in wheat (excluding wheat flour)
(171,100 tons as against 102,200 tons previous month).

(32,500 tons as against 21,200 tons previous month).

15 per cent in gram and pulse
(69,300 tons as against 60,200 tons previous month).

14 per cent in raw cotton
(502,400 bales as against 438,800 bales previous month).

and a decrease of—

(152,000 bales as against 253,700 bales previous month).

39 per cent in tea
(9,865,200 lbs as against 16,150,500 lbs previous month).

3 per cent in rice (including paddy)
(106,600 tons as against 109,500 tons previous month).

The Statistics for the month of April, 1916 and 1917, together with those for March, 1917, and April, 1917, are summarised below :—

NOTIFICATION.

Simla, the 29th June, 1917.

AN

TO

Provide for the acquisition of gold imported into British India.

WHEREAS an emergency has arisen which makes it necessary to provide for the acquisition by the Governor General in Council of gold imported into British India after the commencement of this Ordinance.

Now, therefore, in exercise of [illegible] conferred by section 72 of the [illegible] India Act, 1915, the Governor [illegible] to make and promulgate the following Ordinance :—

and 6 Geo. V., C. 61.

ORDINANCE NO. III OF 1917

1. (1) This Ordinance may be called the Gold (Import) Ordinance, 1917.

Short title and extent.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas.

2. In this Ordinance, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,

Definitions.

'coin' means metal used for the time being as money, and stamped and issued by the authority of some State or sovereign power in order to be so used,

'gold' means gold coin or gold bullion,

'import' means the bringing by sea or land into British India

3. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Ordinance, the Governor General in Council or any person appointed by him in [illegible] behalf may by order in writing within ten [illegible] the date of import, take possession of [illegible] gold imported into British India after the commencement of this Ordinance, and such gold shall thereupon vest absolutely in His Majesty.

Power to take possession of imported [illegible]

(2) When any gold is taken possession of in the exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (1), the Governor General in Council shall pay to the owner thereof on production of such documents as the authority making the order under sub-section (1) may require, a sum in respect of such gold calculated at the rate set out in the Schedule.

(3) If any dispute arises as to the fineness of any such gold a certificate of assay by the Assay Master of any mint established under the Indian Coinage Act, 1906, shall be conclusive.

III of 1906.

SCHEDULE.

Class of gold.	Rate.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATION.

Simla, the 29th June, 1917.

An Ordinance to provide for the acquisition of gold imported into British India.

WHEREAS an emergency has arisen which makes it necessary to provide for the acquisition by the Governor General in Council of gold imported into British India after the commencement of this Ordinance.

NOW, therefore, in exercise of the power conferred by section 72 of the Government of India Act, 1915, the Governor General is pleased to make and promulgate the following Ordinance :—

5 and 6 Geo. V., C 61.

ORDINANCE No. III OF 1917.

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Ordinance may be called the Gold (Import) Ordinance, 1917.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas.

Definitions.

2. In this Ordinance, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,

'coin' means metal used for the time being as money, and stamped and issued by the authority of some State or sovereign power in order to be so used,

'gold' means gold coin or gold bullion,

'import' means the bringing by sea or land into British India.

Power to take possession of imported gold.

3. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Ordinance, the Governor General in Council or any person appointed by him in this behalf may by order in writing within ten days from the date of import, take possession of any gold imported into British India after the commencement of this Ordinance, and such gold shall thereupon vest absolutely in His Majesty.

(2) Where any gold is taken possession of in the exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (1), the Governor General in Council shall pay to the owner thereof on production of such documents as the authority making the order under sub-section (1) may require, a sum in respect of such gold calculated at the rate set out in the Schedule.

(3) If any dispute arises as to the fineness of any such gold, a certificate of assay by the Assay Master of any mint established under the Indian Coinage Act, 1906, shall be conclusive. III of 1906.

SCHEDULE.

Class of gold.	Rate.
(1) Gold coins coined at His Majesty's Royal Mint in England or at any Mint established in pursuance of a Proclamation of His Majesty as a branch of His Majesty's Royal Mint. No. 852-Est.-A.—Major D. M. Field, of the Political Department, is posted as Assistant to the Resident in Kashmir for Leh, with effect from the 18th May 1917.

No. 1277-I.B.—In exercise of the powers conferred by the Indian (Foreign Jurisdiction) Order in Council, 1902, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to direct that the following amendments shall be made in the Berar Rural Boards Law, 1885, namely :—

I. (i) After clause (e) of sub-section (1) of section 22, the following clause shall be inserted, namely :—

"(ee) the net proceeds of the special school rate (if any) levied in accordance with section 22-A ".

(ii) In sub-section (3) of the same section, before the words "The district fund", the words "save as otherwise provided by this Law " shall be inserted.

II. After section 22, the following section shall be inserted :—

" 22-A. (1) In addition to the cess levied in the district for the establishment and maintenance of schools, a District Board may, subject to the provisions hereinafter contained, impose a special school rate on persons occupying houses, buildings or lands within the limits of any village or group of villages in which a school has been established or is maintained by the Board for the benefit of the inhabitants of such village or group of villages, or in which an additional school is, in the opinion of such Board, required for the use of such inhabitants.

(2) The special school rate shall not be imposed in any village or group of villages except with the previous sanction of the Chief Commissioner in each case, and the Chief Commissioner shall not sanction a proposal for the imposition of such rate unless it has been made by a resolution passed at a special meeting of the District Board by a majority of not less than two-thirds of the members present.

(3) The school rate shall be imposed upon the persons specified in sub-section (1) according to their circumstances and property within the said limits :

Provided (a) that it shall not be leviable from any person whose annual income from sources other than agriculture is less than two hundred rupees ; and

(b) that any person who pays the cess imposed under section 159 of the Hyderabad Assigned Districts Revenue Code, 1896, shall not be liable to pay the rate, except in respect of non-agricultural property or income derived from sources other than agriculture.

(4) The net proceeds of the school-rate shall be appropriated exclusively to the equipment and maintenance of such school or schools existing or to be established within the limits of the village or group of villages in which the rate has been collected, as the Board may determine.

(5) When a school-rate is imposed in accordance with the provisions of this section, it shall be assessed and collected, in any village in which a tax or charge is imposed under the Central Provinces Village Sanitation Act, 1902, as applied to Berar, by the village Punchayat, and in any other village by such means and in such manner as may be prescribed by the Chief Commissioner.

III. In clause (j) of section 83, the word "and" in the second place where it occurs, shall be omitted, and after the words "purposes of that area" the following shall be added, namely :—

> "and, subject to the provisions of sub-section (5) of section 22-A, the assessment and collection of the school-rate imposed in accordance with the provisions of that section".

LONDON GAZETTE.

No. 1016.—The following is published for general information :—

Fourth supplement dated the 18th April 1917 to the London Gazette of the 17th April 1917, pages 3723—3733.

War Office,
18th April, 1917.

The following Despatch has been received by the Secretary of State for War from Lieutenant-General the Honourable J. C. Smuts, K.C., Commander-in-Chief, East African Force :—

General Headquarters,
East Africa,
28th February, 1917.

Sir,—I have the honour to forward the following despatch describing the operations of the forces under my command from the 28th October, 1916, to the 20th January, 1917, when I relinquished control of the forces in the field in German East Africa :—

Reorganisation.

(1) In my last despatch I described the reorganisation effected in our transport and supply services consequent on the capture of Dar-es-Salam and the restoration of the Central Railway. It remains to add a few words in reference to the reorganisation of the fighting units under my command effected at the same time. Our advance to the areas of the Rufiji and Great Ruaha rivers through numerous tsetse-haunted belts had resulted in the loss of most of the animals of the mounted troops, and the very rapid rise of the sick rate among all the troops. It was clear that white troops who had had repeated attacks of malaria or dysentery would in the further prosecution of the campaign in those extremely unhealthy areas be more of an encumbrance than a help. I therefore decided to abolish the Third Division, under Major General C. J. Brits, including the Second Mounted Brigade, under Brigadier-General Enslin, and to return these officers with their staffs to South Africa ; to incorporate into the First Mounted Brigade, under Brigadier-General Nussey, all fit men belonging to the Second Mounted Brigade, and finally to evacuate from East Africa all white troops declared to be medically unfit by special medical boards My forces, therefore, again became organised into two divisions, under Major-Generals Hoskins and van Deventer respectively, while Brigadier-General Beves' infantry brigade again became a force reserve under my immediate control. As a result of these steps close on 12,000 white troops were evacuated from East Africa between the middle of October and the end of December, 1916, and their places were to some extent taken by the new King's African Rifles battalions, which I was forming and training with the sanction of the War Office, as well as by the Nigerian Brigade under Brigadier-General F. H. B. Cunliffe, C.B., C.M.G., which reached Dar-es-Salam in the second and third weeks in December.

Position of enemy at end of October.

(2) The position of the enemy on the 27th October, the date of my last despatch, was shortly described in that document in the following words :—

"The net result of all these operations is that the Germans have been driven south over the Central Railway, and are now in the north-east, off the Rufiji river and about thirty miles to the north of it ; in the west, along, or south and east of the Great Ruaha and Ulanga rivers ; and that, with the exception of the Mahenge plateau, they have lost every healthy or valuable part of their Colony. In the east they are cut off from the coast, and in the south the Portuguese Army has appeared north of the Rowuma river."

Distribution of our Forces at the end of October.

(3) My own forces were at the same time distributed as follows :—

In the east a force of some 2,000 rifles under Brigadier-General J. A. Hannyngton, C.M.G., D.S.O., had been conveyed by sea from Dar-es-Salam and concentrated at Kilwa and formed the nucleus of the First Division, which, after some reorganisation and transfer of units, was assembled later at the same place, and was intended to take part in a great encircling move south of the Rufiji. General Hannyngton's force was in occupation of Kilwa Kiwindje and Kilwa Kissiwani, and, after some minor actions, had pushed out detachments which held Njinjo, Mtumbei-Chini, Mitole, Matandu and Kibata. In view of a reported movement of the enemy towards Utete from the Mgeta front General Hannyngton had been warned to strengthen his Kibata detachment and to watch carefully towards the north. Preparations in connection with transport and supplies for the force which it was intended should eventually operate from Kilwa were in train, though progress was necessarily slow in consequence of the wide dispersion of the transport which was being collected, its conveyance by sea, and the heavy losses of animals, which had to be made good throughout the forces.

Msanga, 45 miles south-west of Dar-es Salam, was occupied by a small column under Lieutenant-Colonel T. J. Willans, D.S.O. The presence of the enemy at Kissangire, 12 miles further to the south-west, constituted a threat to our railway communications, and an attempt by a smaller column to dislodge the enemy force had failed on the 9th October.

In the centre opposite the enemy on the Mgeta river, occupying Tulo, Duthumi, Kwa-Hongo, Dakawa and Kissaki, was the First Division under Major-General A. R. Hoskins, C.M.G., D.S.O.

On this front operations were practically at a standstill, and the conditions closely resembled those of trench warfare. The situation here underwent no change until the resumption of the general offensive at the end of December. General Sheppard's Brigade was in front line, and in reserve was the brigade formerly commanded by General Hannyngton, whose place had been taken by Colonel (later Brigadier-General) H. de C. O'Grady. I had already decided to move this last Brigade to Kilwa when the time appeared suitable for the step.

The 2nd South African Infantry Brigade, under Brigadier-General P. S. Beves, had been withdrawn to Morogoro, where it was held in reserve. As already explained the remainder of the 3rd Division to which General Beves' Brigade originally belonged, had been released from service, and the Division ceased to exist on the 24th October.

In the west the forward troops of the second Division under Major-General J. L. van Deventer were in occupation of Iringa, Njukwa's drift on the Ruaha, and Kidodi ; the remaining troops of the Division were on the Central Railway and concentrating preparatory to moving southwards.

The Nyasaland-Rhodesia force under Brigadier-General E. Northey, A.D.C., was partly round Iringa, but the larger portion of the force was on the Ruhudje river, about Mkapira, where strong forces of the enemy were opposing us.

The situation about Iringa and to the south of that place, where detachments of the enemy force under General Wahle from Tabora were endeavouring to break through and join hands with their Mahenge troops, was at this time confused. Different encounters between patrols and detachments had occurred and communications were irregular and interrupted. General Northey at the time was often without means of communication with his troops in the Iringa area.

A battalion of South African Infantry had been sent to General Northey, and was on the way to Songea via Chinde, the Zambesi and Wiedhafen.

The Lake force recently commanded by Brigadier-General the Honourable Sir C. P. Crewe, K.C.M.G., C.B., had been abolished and such of its units as were not disbanded were sent to the Second Division, with the exception of one battalion, which remained in occupation of a portion of the Central Railway eastwards from Tabora. Tabora was occupied by the Belgian forces.

Transfer of 1st Division to Kilwa and rearrangement of its troops.

(4) On the 28th October I left Morogoro for Dar-es-Salam, and thence proceeded by sea to Kilwa Kiwindje, where I saw General Hannyngton on the 31st and discussed the local situation, returning to Dar-es-Salam on the 1st November.

As a consequence of my investigations at Kilwa I decided on the early movement of General O'Grady's brigade to that place, and that General Hoskins, with his Divisional Staff, should proceed to assume command of the Kilwa force.

The troops at Kilwa at this date were formed into the 3rd East African Brigade, under General Hannyngton, and a reconstituted First Division, under General Hoskins, was brought into existence by the addition of General O'Grady's brigade.

General Sheppard's brigade, which was to remain on the Mgeta front, became an independent brigade under my own direction.

General Hoskins assumed command at Kilwa on the 15th November, and the transfer of General O'Grady's brigade by road, rail and sea to the Kilwa area occupied from the 7th to the 29th November.

Delay in resuming the general offensive.

(5) Throughout November and December no general offensive was possible, and operations were confined to those undertaken by the different forces to deal with the situation as it developed in their respective areas during those two months and to adjust their positions to the requirements of the plan for combined action against the enemy when the time arrived.

The operations during November and December will be dealt with later, but I think it may be well to state some of the circumstances which contributed to the d[illegible]in our general advance.

When it became necessary to call a halt after the operations which had produced the result which has been shortly described in the second paragraph of this despatch, disease had played havoc amongst the troops, of whom large numbers were totally unfit without medical attention, prolonged rest, change of climate and nourishment to make any sustained effort. The wastage due to the above cause was enormous, and the reduction in the number of effective rifles was alone enough to stop all further movement until reinforcements were available.

The Mechanical Transport was in seriously damaged condition in consequence of the strain of continuous work over appalling roads, or trackless country, and extensive repairs, for which there had been no time, were essential. The personnel of this transport suffered, as did every other branch of the forces, from the same diseases as affected the fighting troops, and as men dropped out increasing strain was thrown on those able to keep going, until the loss of men threw scores of vehicles out of work.

Animal diseases had wiped out horses, mules and oxen by thousands, and it was necessary to replace this transport in some way or other before movement was possible.

The strain upon all ranks of all units and services due to the steadily increasing effect of disease had reached the limit which was endurable.

It is out of the question here to do more than thus barely to mention one or two of the more conspicuous of the numerous difficulties which hampered our activity during the time which elapsed between the arrival of our forces at Kissaki in the middle of September, and the resumption of our general advance on the 1st January, 1917. While these difficulties were being overcome Kilwa port was being prepared as a base, and a division of troops was transferred to that theatre. This division, well south of the Rufiji, was intended to play a conspicuous part in the coming operations in the Rufiji area.

Operations of Kilwa force.

(6) At first little happened in the area occupied by our forces based on Kilwa except patrol work, in which our troops maintained the upper hand, movements of detachments, and minor encounters with the enemy. From captured documents, however, and prisoners' statements, I obtained indications of an intended offensive movement by the enemy, and more definitely of a coming attack on our detachment at Kibata. The last information induced me temporarily to modify my plans and to refrain from a movement towards Liwale as I had at first intended. The enemy force in this area was at the beginning of November estimated at ten companies.

On the 8th November it was reported that the enemy was attacking Kibata on the previous day. This eventually proved to be the case, but the attack was easily repulsed with slight loss to ourselves, and the enemy withdrew on the 9th. The attack was evidently in the nature of a reconnaissance, and, in view of the probability of a renewed attempt, the necessary precautions were taken, and at the same time the feasibility of occupying Ngarambi, about 30 miles west of Kibata, was investigated.

The remainder of the month was occupied as before in patrol work, each side watching the other closely.

Our troops were in occupation of Mpotora, on the road to Liwale, on the 7th November, and the 20th November saw a battalion on the way to occupy Ngarambi, of which we took possession on the 2nd December without opposition.

Rain began in the Kilwa area early in December, and continued with some violence—though intermittently—until late in the month, seriously interfering with our movements at times.

On the 5th December considerable patrol activity was noticeable in the vicinity of Kibata, and on the afternoon of the 6th the enemy began an attack on that place which developed on the following day, when he brought several naval as well as field guns into action. The attempt to invest Kibata by the enemy continued until the 15th December, heavy attacks being delivered and repulsed on the 7th and 8th, and various outlying positions changing hands several times. On the 10th, following a determined night attack on the night of the 9th/10th, an effort by the enemy to surround Kibata became apparent, and, to deal with this, I agreed to the temporary evacuation of Ngarambi for the purpose of the necessary concentration. On the 11th the infantry fighting was somewhat less severe, though heavy artillery fire was directed on one position. The heavy rain, and consequently bad state of the roads, prevented our artillery from coming up, and considerable casualties to our troops were thus inevitable. On the 12th December the enemy had worked further round the Kibata position to the east and south-east, but this represented the full extent of his effort to encircle the place, and on the 15th the first effects of a movement by General Hannyngton from the west against the enemy's right became perceptible, General O'Grady's brigade co-operating from Kibata.

The Gold Coast Regiment took a commanding hill west of Kibata and maintained its position in spite of heavy counter-attacks and considerable casualties, especially from the enemy's larger guns.

Communication between Kibata and Kilwa was at this time subject to constant interruption.

On the morning of the 16th General O'Grady's brigade occupied a hill 3,500 yards north-east of Kibata; from this date the situation at Kibata became devoid of incident of any special importance. We held our positions and the enemy remained inactive, except for patrol work in our front, occupying an extended line along commanding ridges, but somewhat retired from the former positions. General Hoskins on the 21st December stated his opinion that he would be able to frustrate any attempt by the enemy to move to the south by any direct route through the Matumbi mountains At this stage I ordered General Hoskins to hold some battalions ready to move north-west when the execution of my general plan was undertaken, and advised him of my intention to proceed to the Mgeta front on the following day to direct operations.

Operations in the West.

(7) November and December were periods of considerable activity in the west, where Generals van Deventer and Northey were operating, though here, as elsewhere, the operations were mainly of a local character.

In order to deal with the enemy force which, under General Wahle, had come towards Mahenge from Tabora and was moving about the Iringa district somewhat aimlessly in various detachments, General van Deventer had pushed forward the 7th South African Infantry and a Cyclist Battalion, the latter under Lieutenant-Colonel J. M. Fairweather, D.S.O., who for the time being assumed command of the two battalions and a portion of General Northey's force under Lieutenant-Colonel F. A. Rodger, D.S.O. The two battalions from the Second Division were very weak, but the transport position had not recovered sufficiently at this time to make it possible to send greater numbers, though here, as elsewhere, the utmost effort was being made to prepare for the general advance.

If we had been able to feed a larger number of troops at this stage, south of the Central Railway, in the western area, there is little doubt that we should have handled the enemy force from Tabora far more severely than we were able to do in our difficult circumstances.

The 7th South African Infantry reached Iringa on the 23rd October, and Lieutenant-Colonel Fairweather, with the Cyclist Battalion, on the following day.

On the 25th October General van Deventer reported that the larger portion of the enemy's Tabora force had broken through southwards between Alt-Iringa and Ngominji on the night of the 22nd/23rd and had cut all communication with General Northey, who for some time remained without any means of issuing orders to his troops at Iringa. In these circumstances I placed General van Deventer in charge of the situation at Iringa, and he temporarily assumed control of Lieutenant-Colonel Rodger's portion of General Northey's force. In addition to the concentrated portion of the enemy forces above referred to, many small parties broke through in the darkness, which of course they were able to do without any fear of detection over a large front.

General Northey's forces on the Ruhudje were at the same time being attacked by superior forces.

The passage of the enemy through our lines occupied some three weeks, and this period was marked by much fighting of detachments and patrols.

The main incidents of these operations were as follows—fuller details in many instances will no doubt be available from the despatches of General Northey in due course :—

On the 23rd October a patrol of Rhodesian askaris, under command of Lieutenant-Colonel Baxendale, was ambushed and lost 33 in killed, wounded and missing, with one machine gun. It is to be regretted that Lieutenant-Colonel Baxendale was among those who lost their lives.

On the 25th a small detachment of the 4th South African Horse encountered a strong force at Malangamagara wells, 12 miles north of Iringa, and inflicted a heavy defeat on the enemy, of whom many were killed and captured. The enemy abandoned all thier sick and wounded after this action, and the Commanding Officer wrote asking for their protection by us.

On the 29th October a small post at Ngominyi was compelled to surrender to a very superior strength of the enemy after a resolute and gallant defence. Two naval 12 pounder guns lost here were retaken by us in the course of operations almost immediately afterwards. Captain Clerk, commanding the post, was killed.

A detachment of some 12 Rhodesian askaris at Madibira was also surrounded and captured.

At dawn on the 30th October Lieutenant-Colonel Hawthorn attacked the enemy on the west bank of the Ruhudje and obtained a signal success, capturing 6 Europeans and 75 askaris unwounded, together with a 6 c.m. gun, 3 machine guns, and large quantities of ammunition and telephone and other material. Five European and 37 askari dead of the enemy were buried on the scene of the engagement.

On the 30th and 31st October our positions at Altiringa were attacked, but the attacks failed, and the enemy sustained appreciable casualties.

On the 7th November the enemy was still south of Iringa, but had attempted no offensive since his defeats at the end of October. He had left behind many sick and wounded at different camps and released considerable numbers of our prisoners of war, and the state and morale of his troops were reported as indifferent.

In the meantime arrangements had made some headway, and a column, under Colonel A. J. Taylor, was being concentrated to move at an early date from Dodoma to Iringa, while the mounted brigade of the Second Division—which since its withdrawal from the Uluguru operations in August had been resting, reorganising and refitting at Morogoro—was on its way, reduced to approximately 1,000 rifles, to Iringa.

These movements were preparatory to a concentration of General Northey's forces about Lupembe and southwards, while General van Deventer was to assume command in the neighbourhood of Iringa and link up with General Northey to the south.

On the 8th November General Northey reported an enemy concentration against Malangali, where we had a small detachment, and that he had detached 400 rifles under Lieutenant-Colonel R. E. Murray to assist the post.

The force under Lieutenant-Colonel Hawthorn had been ordered to withdraw to Lupembe.

From the 8th to 12th the post at Malangali was defended most gallantly against considerable odds. Three assaults were repulsed at close quarters, and heavy loss was sustained by the attacking enemy. On the 12th Lieutenant-Colonel Murray's relieving force arrived and attacked from the south, taking full advantage of the surprise which it had been able to effect, and inflicting heavy damage on the enemy, of whom nine Europeans in one company alone were captured. The captures included one machine gun and much ammunition.

Abortive attacks were delivered by the enemy at Ssongea on the night of the 14th/15th and at Lupembe on the 17th.

These last rebuffs apparently caused the enemy to abandon any idea of further immediate offensive action, and for some little time the operations reverted to a minor degree of importance.

On the 16th November the leading regiment of the Mounted Brigade reached Iringa.

By the 19th all information pointed to the withdrawal of the whole of the enemy forces eastwards to take up a chain of positions covering Mahenge and extending from Kidatu by Lofia, Mfua, Lukegeta, Makua's, Mfirika to north-east of Ssongea.

The presence of an enemy force about Madibira had been for some time persistently reported, and it was known that early in the operations, which resulted in the eastward movement of General Wahle's force, a detachment had either become separated from the main Tabora force or from some cause or other had been delayed.

The retirement of the enemy and the arrival of fresh units of the Second Division at Iringa having made the position secure, the occasion seemed suitable for an attempt to round up the enemy detachment which was assumed to be following the Tabora force. A big gun was reported to be with the detachment.

General Northey accordingly arranged to send a force under Lieutenant-Colonel Murray by motors to attack the enemy detachment from the south, while General van Deventer was instructed to co-operate from Iringa.

On the 21st it was definitely ascertained that the enemy detachment had occupied Ilembule mission (N. W. of Ubena) on the previous day and was moving to the east.

At noon on the following day the enemy was still at Ilembule, half Lieutenant-Colonel Murray's column being near Emmaberg and the remainder at Ubena.

On the 22nd the second half of the South African Infantry Battalion which had been sent to General Northey arrived at Wiedhafen.

At noon on the 24th the enemy at Ilembule had been surrounded by Murray, and on the 26th, after resistance, the entire force was captured by him. The enemy force was commanded by Lieutenant-Colonel Huebener, and consisted of 7 officers, 47 other Europeans and 249 askaris, and one howitzer and three machine guns were also taken. This highly creditable enterprise was carried out with trifling casualties to our forces engaged.

The losses incurred by the enemy in the operations round Iringa and Lupembe in dead which we had buried and prisoners we had taken, amounted to 125 Europeans and 619 askaris.

On the 25th November I left Morogoro to visit the western front, and investigated the country to the Ruaha River and beyond, and on the 29th I instructed General van Deventer to retake Muhanga, which the enemy had occupied, and from there to move a strong force to Ifakara and further east to Luwegu, while General Northey was to deal with the enemy at Mfirika and Ssongea by moving to the Ruhudje River and Mponda, respectively.

As a preliminary feature of my general plan I intended the enemy to be driven over the Ruhudje and Ulanga rivers.

It was plain that the feeding of any considerable force south of the Ruaha River during the wet season was a problem of almost insurmountable difficulty, as it was apparently impossible to avoid vast inundated swampy areas of which the passage appeared impossible. I therefore determined to drive the enemy over the two rivers named above, and by creating a dump of supplies south of the Ruaha, to collect sufficient food to sustain a force which could watch the enemy until the rainy season was over and our advance became once more practicable.

I had investigated the possiblity of feeding more troops by way of Lake Nyasa, but was compelled to abandon the idea.

On the 1st December I went to Dar-es-Salam chiefly to make arrangements for the institution of a river transport service in connection with my coming operations on the Rufiji, and returned to Morogoro on the 5th. While at Dar-es-Salam I took the opportunity of visiting the force at Mssanga.

On the 4th General Northey moved his headquarters from Neu Langenburg to Ubena.

About this time constant patrol skirmishes took place between the enemy about Lukegeta and Mfirika and General van Deventer's troops and those of General Northey, respectively.

Continuous heavy rain in the west produced conditions under which every movement became a matter of extraordinary difficulty, and the supply situation was at times seriously insecure; and on the 19th December General van Deventer, whose headquarters were now at Iringa, reported that he had been unable to build up the reserve of supplies which we had hoped we should have been able to collect at Iringa, and that he could not feed his whole division during the forward move which was then imminent. He further advised moving a considerable portion of his command back to the railway, and that a reduced force of three infantry battalions and a squadron of mounted troops should be kept at Iringa for the advance. To this I agreed.

It is of interest, as indicating in some measure the difficulties which are attendant upon military movements on a large scale in tropical Africa, here to observe that of 1,000 mounted men who had marched from Morogoro early in November, rather more than 90 per cent. had lost their horses by death from disease by this date, viz., in six weeks.

The combined forward movements by Generals van Deventer and Northey, in conjunction with the movements of the general advance elsewhere, were arranged to begin on the 24th December.

Operations in the area between the Rufiji and Central Railway from Dar-es-Salam to Kiwu.

(8) Before describing the operations which took place on our resumption of the offensive on all fronts at the end of the year, it is necessary briefly to touch upon the events which occurred during November and December in the Mssanga-Kissangire area.

As already stated, an attempt by a small column on the 9th October to drive away an enemy force in occupation of Kissangire had failed.

This column, after its unsuccessful effort, retired to Maneromango and there entrenched.

The force was strengthened at first by the addition of some South African Infantry, and later by sending to it the 57th Rifles and a section of mountain artillery from the first division at Tulo. These last reinforcements joined the column on the 21st October at Mssanga which was occupied.

Information at this time clearly indicated that the enemy, no doubt misled by native information of the movements of different detachments, very largely overestimated our strength at Mssanga.

On the 3rd November the enemy held Mkamba and Kissangire, and was patrolling actively to the north in the direction of the Central Railway.

On the 5th November Lieutenant-Colonel Willans was advised of the enemy's exaggerated estimate of our strength, and ordered by actively patrolling and in any other way possible to encourage the impression. In point of fact, the opposing forces at this point were practically equal in respect of numbers.

On the 6th a detachment was sent to Kongo, about 16 miles west of Mssanga. The strength of this detachment was 300 rifles and two machine guns, while remaining at Mssanga were 450 rifles, two guns, and four machine guns.

On the 18th Colonel N. H. M. Burne, D.S.O., took over command of the forces in this area from Lieutenant-Colonel Willans.

By the end of the month the enemy had occupied a third position at Kibesa, some 12 miles south of Mssanga, but though patrolling was active on both sides, and several attempts by the enemy to reach the Central Railway were frustrated little more had occurred.

In the early part of December the heavy rains, which had fallen elsewhere, were prevalent in this area also.

On the 12th the Inspector-General of Communications, under whose orders the Mssanga force was acting, was warned of the coming general advance and instructed to arrange the advance of the columns from Mssanga and Kongo, and to consider the preparation of a third small column to co-operate from the coast in the north Rufiji Delta.

On the 16th December considerable activity by the enemy before Mssanga was reported and all patrols were engaged on being sent out. The enemy advanced and drove in our picquet on the southern end of a ridge dominating the Mssanga camp and water and seized a considerable portion of the ridge. An engagement ensued, the enemy being reinforced, but on the morning of the 17th the attack had been repulsed, and he retired leaving some dead on the field.

Nothing else of importance occurred till the general advance, and the activities of our forces in this area were confined to watching the enemy closely with a view to obtaining early information of any retirement on his part.

The General Advance resumed.

(9) By the 22nd December the preparations for an advance on all fronts were complete. The period of preparation had been one of constant activity and continuous strain. It is not possible here to attempt any description of the varied work of the different services and sections concerned. The records of the departments are available and furnish full information. I may, however, state that an intimate knowledge of all the circumstances of our position is absolutely essential to a correct and fair estimate of what was accomplished.

Operations in the West.

I shall deal first with the operations in the west under Generals van Deventer and Northey. In spite of heavy rains which had just fallen, both were ready to advance on the 24th December in a combined offensive to drive the enemy over the Ulanga and Rufiji rivers.

Colonel Byron from Ssongea had attacked and dispersed the enemy on the 20th at Njamebenjo, and captured some stock and arms and a considerable quantity of native foodstuffs.

On the 25th December the troops of the Second Division encountered the enemy strongly entrenched east of Lukegeta Nek, and, while the attack was in progress at that place, the Mounted Brigade was sent from Makungwas to cut off the retreat of the enemy to the south and a force under Colonel Taylor moved from Boma Likininda's to the east of Muhanga to get astride the road at Boma Dwangire and join hands with the Mounted Brigade. The detachment at Njukwas was at this time held up by the flooded condition of the Lukosse river and was building rafts by which to try to effect a crossing.

The country generally was reported as very mountainous and covered with dense bush.

At the same time General Northey reported that the investment of the enemy's position at Mfirika was proceeding satisfactorily.

On the 26th he reported his forces as closing in on all sides of Mfirika, and that a portion of Murray's column was astride the Mfirika-Mahenge road.

On the same day General van Deventer reported that the enemy was in position at Magoma (Lukegeta Nek) but had lost his advanced position, and that his own troops were in occupation of a ridge in front of the main position held by the force opposing him. Colonel Taylor, on the previous day, had arrived within a few miles of Muhanga and the Mounted Brigade was in the vicinity of Makungwas.

On the 27th General Northey reported that he had occupied Mfirika on the previous day, the enemy having evacuated his position during the night of the 24th/25th and retired along the Mahenge road, having left a rearguard in position six miles east of Mfirika.

The report from the Second Division on this date was to the effect that the enemy had strongly resisted our advance on the previous day, 26th, fighting having been continuous. During the night of the 26th-27th our troops were pushed up to within 300 yards of the enemy's main position, but dawn on the following day found the position empty, the enemy having slipped away through dense bush during the night. General van Deventer expressed the hope that his troops near Muhanga might prevent the escape of the enemy, who, he reported, had suffered heavy casualties.

On the 27th the enemy tried to break through near Muhanga, but was driven back by the Mounted Brigade and engaged between the Lukosse and Luugwe rivers, and Taylor's column and the force at Magoma were pushed on to co-operate. The enemy again attempted to effect his retirement on the 28th, and was once more driven back, but eventually escaped through the dense bush and forest under cover of darkness and eluded pursuit.

The operations of Generals van Deventer and Northey at this time are interesting as showing the practical impossibility of cornering an enemy in country of a nature such as that in which these operations were conducted.

For the remainder of the period with which this despatch deals, the operations in the west, though they resulted in gradually pressing the enemy back, were not marked by any incident of special interest.

On the 1st January the Second Division drove back an enemy force which had advanced from Mageta Posten, and the Njukwas detachment occupied Kissada, while the situation before General Northey remained practically unchanged.

On the 2nd General van Deventer reported that torrential rains had stopped his movements and that he was confining himself to active patrol work.

On the 3rd General Northey reported that Murray's column had assaulted and captured the southern end of the enemy's position east of Mfirika, and on the following day the enemy force at Msalala (east of Mfirika) had retired and was being pursued.

On the 5th January General Northey reported that the enemy retiring eastward before him had taken up another position and that our attack upon this position was still in progress.

On the 6th Byron's column dispersed an enemy force at Gumbiro.

On the 9th General Northey's advanced troops were in touch with the enemy six miles east of Sylvester Falls, and on the next day the enemy were retiring partly eastwards towards Mahenge and partly to the south towards Ifinga. Our advanced troops were about Smani and ten miles east of Sylvester Falls.

On the 11th General Northey reported that Lieutenant-Colonel Hawthorn was still pressing the enemy eastwards, and that Lieutenant-Colonel Murray was leaving Mfirika for Ifinga.

Three days later (on the 14th) the enemy were forced back from Smani and north-east of Songea between Likuju and Mpondas, and a quantity of stores fell into our hands.

On the 16th Murray's column of General Northey's force secured the bridge over the Ruhudje at Malawis, six miles north-west of Ifinga.

During the next few days the enemy continued to withdraw, followed by our troops, and a gradual retirement by the enemy towards the east and the south was still in progress in this theatre when I left the country.

Rufiji Operations.

(10) I now return to the main operations in the Rufiji area.

On the 22nd December I left Morogoro and proceeded to Duthumi, where advanced general headquarters were established on that date.

The distribution of our forces on this front was as follows:—

On the Mgeta front under my immediate command were:—General Sheppard's brigade (the 1st East African Brigade, hereafter referred to as the 1st Brigade), in occupation of our line as already described. The 2nd South African Infantry Brigade, under General Beves, was at the summit of Sheppard's pass, on the road between Ruwu and Tulo, and was under orders to reach Dakawa on the 25th. The Nigerian Brigade, under Brigadier-General F. H. B. Cunliffe, C.B., C.M.G., of which the first units had reached Dar-es-Salam on the 9th December, was in process of concentration at Ruwu and was to assemble at Tulo for the initial phases of the coming operations.

The First Division (Hoskins') was still in its positions to the south of the Rufiji, about Kibata and in the Kilwa area, warned to be ready to advance. Headquarters of this division moved to Mitole on the 25th.

The columns at Mssanga and Kongo were in readiness to move forward on receiving my instructions to that effect, which were to be sent when my own operations had reached a stage where co-operation could be effected with the best result.

The opening movements in connection with the main advance on the Mgeta front under my own direction were timed to begin on the 26th December, but continuous heavy rain compelled me to postpone all movement until the 31st, when the weather improved. This delay, though forced upon me, was not without advantage, as it enabled the Nigerian Brigade, which was somewhat behindhand, to complete its equipment and come up.

Two main considerations governed my dispositions, viz., the seizure of a crossing over the Rufiji and the capture, if possible, of the enemy force immediately opposing me. To the former of these two objects I attached the highest importance, and the chief problem which confronted me was how to seize a crossing over the river without allowing the enemy to become aware of my intention, for I was particularly anxious that the enemy should not evade a heavy blow by an early retirement from my front. Once over the Rufiji my intention was to move south-east and effect a junction with Hoskins' division moving north-west from the Mathumbi mountains and by these combined movements to cut all connection between the two enemy forces on Rufiji and at Mahenge respectively, and either to envelop the enemy on the Rufiji or deal him a heavy blow as he escaped south.

To secure a crossing over the Rufiji I decided to detach a considerable force to make a wide detour and capture and maintain a bridgehead in the neighbourhood of Mkalinso, twenty miles south-west of Kibambawe, while with the remainder of my forces I attacked and held the enemy north of the Rufiji.

My arrangements to the above end were as follows:—

The march to Mkalinso was entrusted to Beves' Brigade, which was to reach Kirengwe, ten miles west of Kissaki, on the 31st December. From Kirengwe General Beves was ordered to send forward a picked body of scouts towards the Rufiji and, on the 1st January, to push forward his engineers and pioneers to Kwa, Hobola, accompanied by half a battalion. On the following day this advance party—the half battalion increased to one battalion—was to reach Kidete and to arrive in the neighbourhood of the junction of the Ruaha and Rufiji rivers on the 3rd January. The remainder of the Brigade was to follow one march in rear of its advanced troops. Before daybreak on the 4th January a crossing was to be effected in Berthon boats over the Rufiji below its junction with the Ruaha, and a bridgehead was to be prepared and held on the right bank while a light raft was being constructed

With the object of keeping the enemy in his positions while this flank march was in process of execution, I decided to deliver a holding attack from our forward entrenched positions on the Duthumi front while two forces worked their way round the enemy's flank by the east and west.

The holding attack was to be set in motion at daybreak on the 1st January by the Nigerian Brigade under Brigadier-General Cunliffe, and to the Army Artillery under Brigadie General Crowe was allotted the task of supporting this attack. Stress was laid on the fact that the enemy should not be turned out of his positions till instructions were received that the attack was to be pressed.

For the purpose of the local flank movement to the east a column was formed of the 2nd Kashmirs, detached from the 1st Brigade, and a battalion from the Nigerian Brigade, the force being placed under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel R. A. Lyall, of the 2nd Kashmirs. Colonel Lyall was instructed to reach Kiruru, twelve [illegible] east of Duthumi, on the evening of the 31st December, and thence on the following [illegible] to move to south and occupy Tshimbe on the Kiderengwa to Beho-Beho road. On arrival at the road the force was to entrench and send forward patrols to establish contact with the 1st Brigade coming from the west. Colonel Lyall was told to do his best to prevent the retreat of the enemy. If the enemy was enclosed, Colonel Lyall's force was to be merged in the command of General Sheppard.

The movement round the enemy's western flank was necessarily more complicated, and its execution was allotted to the first Brigade under General Sheppard. It was of importance to prevent information of the departure of Beves' brigade from Kirengwe reaching the enemy, and a double company of the the 130th Baluchis was detached on the afternoon of the 31st December to move to Wiransi, which was to be occupied or masked from the north on the following day. The rest of this battalion was to march well in rear of the enemy position at Dawaka to the Dakawa to Wiransi road and, leaving a post on that road, to move on the 1st January towards Kidegede-Kiderengwa. To this battalion was entrusted the responsibility of establishing contact with Colonel Lyall's force.

The movement of the first Brigade in connection with the general plan, was to begin at daybreak on the 1st January, and was to be directed to the envelopment of the enemy position at Dakawa and a continuous advance eastwards.

On the 1st January the operations on the Mgeta front began, the preliminary movements on the day before having been carried out without any hitch.

At about 10 a.m. General Sheppard reported the 130th Baluchis under Lieutenant-Colonel Dyke, who were astride the Wiransi road north of Wiransi and south of the German Porter Camp, were being attacked by three companies, and he was pushing on towards the scene of the action. A demonstration on the Duthumi front was ordered to prevent any detachment by the enemy from that quarter. Two hours later General Sheppard reported the Dakawa position clear of the enemy, and that he had joined hands with Lieutenant-Colonel Dyke. The 130th Baluchis, after a long and fatiguing march the previous afternoon and night, had come on to the road behind the enemy, who, while retreating south on this road before Sheppard's advance, unexpectedly found the road occupied. The enemy then delivered four determined charges against the Baluchis, and, after severe fighting in which the bayonet was several times used at close quarters, retired to the east of the Wiransi road. The casualties on both sides were comparatively heavy, and the action, though short in duration, was of a severe character. Sheppard arrived on the scene after this action was over.

In the meantime General Cunliffe had been engaged on the Duthumi front, but, owing to the nature of his task, had not pressed an advance.

At 2-30 p.m., Lieutenant-Colonel Lyall reported that he was near the Kiderengwa to Beho-Beho road, half a mile to the north of Tshimbe, and an hour later was engaged with the enemy, from whom a 4·1 howitzer had been captured and who apparently had not observed his approach, but, on realising that the road of their retreat was blocked, at once turned back from before the Nigerian Brigade to endeavour to regain their line of retirement. Between 6 and 7 o'clock in the evening the enemy delivered a heavy attack on the Nigerian battalion of Lyall's column, the attack dying down at 7 o'clock. It seemed clear that the enemy north of Lyall would make a determined effort to get past him to the south during the night, and orders were issued to Lyall to keep a sharp look out for any movement on the part of the enemy, in order that the First Brigade might be directed to move to the best advantage.

At 11 a m. the double company of the 130th Baluch's had occupied Wiransi, taking some prisoners and stores there.

Beves' brigade reached Kwa Hobola in the evening and the First Brigade pushed on in the night to Wiransi. Lyall's force remained in position at Tshimbe.

The night of the 1st-2nd passed without incident.

In the course of the morning of the 2nd it became clear that the whole enemy force on the Mgeta front had retired to the south of our forces.

Upon this information I ordered the Nigerian Brigade to push down the Duthumi to Kiderengwa road and establish touch with Lyall, which was done during the day, Kiderengwa being occupied by the Brigade at 11 a.m After its troops had established touch with Lyall the Nigerian Brigade was withdrawn again to Duthumi.

The existence of an enemy position on the Tshogowali river near Beho-Beho had long been known, and it might be assumed that the retiring enemy force would concentrate there

I decided once more to make an attempt to encircle the enemy, and with this object the First Brigade was moved from the Wiransi to Beho-Beho road westward between Fuga and the Tshogowali river, with orders to reach a ridge south of the river early the following morning. The 130th Baluchis were sent direct towards Beho-Beho-Kwa Mahinda, Lyall's column being ordered to move to the same place at daybreak on the 3rd.

General Beves was warned of the enemy retirement, and that he had no time to lose if the Rufiji crossing was to be seized without opposition. He reported his arrival at 8-30 P.M., at Mhumbi, and that he would push on two and a half hours later and endeavour to effect a crossing early on the 3rd. His troops had been marching and road making for 14 hours, and had just completed a march of 20 miles. So far no sign of the enemy had been observed. They were still 10 miles from the Rufiji.

On the 3rd January, at 6-30 a.m., and therefore, a day ahead of their programme, the advance troops of Beves' Brigade, after a 30 miles' continuous march, crossed the Rufiji a few miles south of Mkalinso, and secured and entrenched a bridgehead. The march of the 2nd South African Infantry Brigade on this occasion was a noteworthy achievement, even in a campaign which affords repeated instances of splendid endurance by every unit of the forces under most trying and exhausting conditions.

The main object of my operations had thus been achieved in a shorter time than I had thought possible.

On the same day, the 3rd, the First Brigade was marching through most difficult country towards its objective south of the Tshogowali River.

At 4-35 Lyall's column just north of Beho-Beho encountered opposition, which increased until a sharp action developed, which terminated after dusk. Touch w s established between this column and our force on the Wiransi road at Beho-Beho-Kwa Mahinda at 5 P.M.

General Sheppard was ordered to move on to the Beho-Beho to Kibambawe road south of the enemy early the next morning, and Lyall's column of the 130th Baluchis, the combined force now under Lieutenant-Colonel Dyke of the latter regiment, were instructed simultaneously to press an attack from the north. If the enemy again evaded our forces, he was to be followed rapidly to prevent him from concentrating against Beves' Brigade.

The last-named detachment was held at Mkalinso, and spent the day in strengthening its position crossing troops and stores, and patrolling well out from the right bank of the river.

The First Division was warned of the desirablity of not committing too strong a force at Kibata, and to the east of it. In the reports of this division the first indications of a withdrawal of the enemy westwards were to be observed.

On the 4th, at 10-30 A M., the First Brigade arrived on the road, and had a sharp engagement with the enemy retiring from Beho-Beho, but, though severely handled, the enemy again slipped past. The brunt of this action was borne by the 25th Royal Fusiliers, and their casualties included Captain F C. Selous, D.S.O., who fell at the head of his company.

The air reconnaissances this day showed that the repair of the Rufiji bridge at Kibambawe had been nearly completed by the enemy, who had for some days been working to make good the damage caused by flood. The bridge had been constantly bombed by the aeroplanes which did consistently excellent work throughout the operations.

The First Division reported further portions of the Kibata area clear of the enemy, and that reconnaissances were proceeding.

The situation north of the Rufiji and Utete was unchanged, except that some measure of success was achieved by an ambush laid by enemy patrols, as a result of which two officers and nine other ranks of the Arab Rifles were killed.

Early on this date a force from the Force Reserve surprised an enemy party at Mkalinso and accounted for three Europeans, twelve askaris, and a number of porters.

On the 5th January the First Brigade, which had been rejoined by the 130th Baluchis and 2nd Kashmirs, reached Kibambawe, and found the enemy had crossed the Rufiji during the night, and was holding the right bank. The whole roadway of the bridge had been removed.

General Sheppard was ordered to cross the Rufiji during the night of the 5th-6th.

From information which was obtained at Mkalinso, it appeared that the enemy force, which crossed the river at Kibambawe, had been ordered to retire east along the north bank, but had found it impossible to do so in consequence of the hurried nature of its retreat, and the danger of being cut off by our advance.

By the morning of the 6th January one double company and two machine guns had crossed the Rufiji at Kibambawe, and lay throughout the day concealed in the reeds on the river bank, the enemy having failed to detect the crossing.

I proceeded on this date to Kibambawe, and reconnoitred the position from the left bank, which commands the right bank at this place, and ordered the crossing of troops to be continued during the following night, and that reconnaissances should be pushed out early on the 7th, provided an adequate number of troops had been passed over the river

On my way back to Duthumi I received information that an enemy force was two miles east of Mkalinso entrenched, having apparently arrived during the night of the 5th-6th. Upon this I ordered General Beves to take steps to deal with this force.

Reports of the weakening of the enemy strength in the Matumbi mountains opposite the First Division continued

On the 7th the enemy offered stiff resistance to the 30th Punjabis of the First Brigade, who were on the right bank of the Rufiji opposite Kibambawe, and the latter sustained severe casualties, but maintained their position. Owing to accurate enemy gun fire the idea of crossing more troops by daylight had to be abandoned.

General Beves reported that, after an engagement, the enemy force near Mkalinso had retired, and that a considerable strength of his brigade was occupying Mkalinso camp.

The troops of this brigade had by this time become very exhausted, and further advance from Mkalinso was accordingly suspended.

On the 8th January I proceeded to the Rufiji at General Beves' crossing and saw General Beves and investigated the situation. Before returning I instructed General Beves to withdraw his forces from Mkalinso and remain concentrated on the right bank [illegible] river at his original place of crossing.

Orders were sent to the First Division, in view of the strong evidence that the enemy was moving to the west from Kibata, to send a battalion towards Mohoro, and to the west of it, to clear up the situation.

General Sheppard reported the situation unchanged at Kibambawe, beyond that he had crossed more troops.

Though able to maintain his position, he was not in a position to undertake offensive action. He was instructed to hold his positions.

The Nigerian Brigade left Duthumi en route for Beves' crossing on the Rufiji, it being intended that the offensive south of the Rufiji should be resumed when the fresh brigade arrived at the river.

The enemy resistance in the Kibata area had much diminished, and the movement of part of the First Division north towards the Rufiji delta was beginning.

The enemy north of the Rufiji was found to have evacuated his position at Mkamba on the night of the 8th-9th, and was reported to be retiring towards Kssegesse, and our forces were moving in pursuit On the 10th January Colonel Burne occupied Kihesa.

The enemy opposite the First Brigade at Kibambawe was less aggressive, but watching the river most carefully.

In the Kibata area troops of the First Division advanced both north and west to keep in touch with the retreating enemy, and occupied Mwengei and Ngarambi respectively.

The situation was now clearing up. The enemy detachments north of the Rufiji at Kissangire and Mkamba were falling back south, followed by our patrols, and several companies were stated already to have crossed the river about 15 miles west of Utete. Kissegesse was occupied on the 17th by Colonel Burne, who immediately marched on to Koge. The withdrawal of the enemy from the Kitschi and Matumbi mountains north of Kibata continued. Our troops reached Mohoro on the south Rufiji delta on 16th January and found a 4 1-inch naval gun abandoned by the enemy some distance south of it. While the situation north of the Rufiji and eastwards towards the delta was thus rapidly clearing up, it still remained uncertain whether the enemy would attempt to make a stand at Utete and elsewhere south of the Rufiji, and so afford us an opportunity to cut off his retreat, or whether he would move south without loss of time This uncertainty still remained when I relinquished the command on the 20th January. The gap between the most westerly troops of the First Division at and north of Ngarambi and Beves' Brigade at Mkalinso was still too wide to prevent such a retreat to the south, and in order to close or contract it, General Cunliffe's Nigerian Brigade was ordered to move forward from Mkalinso to Luhembero on 17th January, at the same time that the forces of Sheppard and Beves were to clear the enemy from the south of the Rufiji at Kibambawe. These orders were successfully carried out, the south bank of the river, as well as Mkindu and Luhembero, being occupied on the 18th January, and thereafter Cunliffe's Brigade followed the retreating enemy towards the south-east. Such was the situation on the 20th January when I handed over the command to General Hoskins and sailed from Dar-es-Salam.

On concluding this, my final despatch, I desire again to record my deep obligation to my Staff, all Divisional, Brigade, and Regimental Commanders, and all heads of Services and Departments.

Especially do I wish finally to emphasise the fact that the success hitherto achieved in this most trying and exacting campaign is mainly due to the unremitting efforts and resolute endurance of all ranks throughout the whole force.

To the Navy my obligations for the success of the campaign are too numerous to be expressed.

I must also express my gratitude to the various Governments which have come so readily and effectively to our assistance throughout the period of my command.

The Government of India has kept up a flow of reinforcements and remount mules for mountain batteries, and has provided large quantities of tentage, clothing, and miscellaneous articles, besides the entire food supply for the Indian troops, and of flour and canteen stores for the British troops. The Indian ration has been of exceptionally good quality, particularly the "atta" and "ghi," regarding which the Indian soldier is most critical.

Besides these, we have received 96 box motor cars, with a liberal proportion of spare parts.

The Government of the Union of South Africa has maintained a steady flow of reinforcements, collected enormous numbers of coloured labourers and conductors for transport, remount and railway services, and provided 23,144 horses, 24,198 mules, and 7,546 donkeys for the Force, besides 565 touring and box motor cars, and 766 ox and mule wagons over and above those originally sent with the South African contingents.

In addition to the above, we have been kept supplied with fodder and many articles of food-stuffs, besides ordnance and engineer stores.

All demands have been completed with the utmost care and promptitude.

British East Africa and Uganda Governments.—Since the commencement of the campaign, these Governments have unreservedly placed their resources at the disposal of the Army, both in the matter of allowing a large proportion of the European civil officials to take up military service, and also by employing many of those who remained behind, on meeting our large demands for porters, local foodstuffs, &c.

The authorities of Zanzibar have raised and equipped two corps of porters, besides rendering many acts of assistance, such as placing the Government steamers at our disposal, establishing a convalescent home for officers and other charitable organisations.

Such aid as is possible and necessary will, without doubt, continue to be afforded to my successor in the command, and I trust that when, as I confidently hope will soon be the case, the campaign is brought to a successful issue, the various Governments will be approached and asked to indicate the names of those individuals whose services, in connection with the East African Expeditionary Force, should be specially recognised.

My grateful acknowledgments are due to the several Red Cross Societies British, South African and Indian, for the very generous way in which they have not only given large quantities of comforts for the troops but have also provided motor ambulance cars, motor launches &c.

I also wish to thank the South African Gifts Committees, representing a vast number of individual donors, for their large contributions of gifts, and my only regret is that the exigencies of the campaign prevented the majority of them being issued till the troops were on the eve of departure from East Africa.

His Highness the Maharaja Scindia of Gwalior came forward in a most patriotic manner at the commencement of the campaign, and equipped, with a complete medical staff and every comfort, a convalescent home of fifty beds for Indian officers and men, which has been constantly in use and of the greatest benefit. "Scott Sanatorium" was also taken over by him for the use of convalescent British officers, and has proved of great value.

Major McMillan very generously provided two convalescent homes entirely at his own expense, which were splendidly staffed and equipped and were of the utmost benefit to the troops.

Several other ladies and gentlemen most kindly placed their houses at our disposal as convalescent homes, and the constant use made of them testifies to the manner in which they were appreciated.

The East African Field Force Fund and the Women's War Work League have rendered most active and loyal assistance since the commencement of the campaign, and the troops owe these bodies a deep debt of gratitude.

I am particularly indebted to the representatives of the Young men's Christian Association in India and South Africa, who have not only being untiring in their efforts for the welfare of the troops, but have also worked the field force canteens which have proved of so much value to them.

The Garrison Institute has also done excellent work.

I have already brought to notice the names of all those under my command whose services I wish specially to commend to your favourable notice.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

J. C. SMUTS,

Lieutenant-General,

Commanding East African Expeditionary Force.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 23rd June 1917.

Burma.—The rainfall in Lower Burma was heavy and well distributed during the week. Districts of the wet zone in Upper Burma also report good rain but in the dry zone the fall was light again this week. Ploughing of winter rice is becoming general and nurseries are being sown. Operations concerning dry crops continue under normal conditions. The agricultural outlook is satisfactory everywhere. Cattle are generally healthy. The price of paddy has risen to Rs. 103 per hundred baskets. The market for white rice is dull.

Assam.—The weather is seasonable and generally favourable. Harvesting of autumn rice has commenced. Ploughing for and sowing and transplantation of winter rice seedlings, manufacture of tea and harvesting of Khasi potatoes are in progress. Cattle disease is reported from nine districts. The price of common rice is practically stationary.

Bengal.—During the week seasonable rain fell throughout the Province. In a number of places the fall was heavy. Transplantation of winter paddy is now in full swing and weeding of autumn paddy and jute is still in progress in Western Bengal. Early autumn paddy and summer til are being harvested in parts of eastern Bengal. Floods continue to cause damage to standing crops in parts of the Midnapore district. In Jessore til and jute are suffering on account of heavy rainfall. Insects are reported to have caused further damage to paddy and jute in parts of this district. The condition and prospects of standing crops are fairly good. Cattle disease exists in eight district[illegible] [illegible]er is getting scarce in Hooghly and Dacca. The average price of common rice for th[illegible]e has risen very slightly as compared with that of the previous week.

Bihar and Orissa.—The rainfall during the week was general o[illegible] the Province, the fall being heavy in the Patna and Tirhut divisions and generally moderate in the [illegible] of the Province. Sowing of autumn crops continues and that of winter paddy has com[illegible]. Standing crops are doing well. The price of common rice has risen in five districts [illegible] re-mained stationary in the remaining districts as compared with that of the preceding week. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient. Cattle disease is reported from eight districts. The number of persons on test works in Puri was 801. The condition of standing crops in the Feudatory States of Orissa is good.

The weekly report on scarcity in Singhbhum is as follows :—In the Kolhan Government Estate the distress was moderate. Relief measures are sufficient. The public health is good. The physical condition of workers is satisfactory. The average price was 8 seers per rupee. The number of persons on test works was 1,591.

United Provinces.—General and well distributed rain fell throughout the provinces to the benefit of sugarcane. More rain is still wanted in certain districts in the upper and central Doab. Fields are being manured and prepared for autumn crops. Sowing of maize, Juar, cotton and rice continues. Cattle disease is reported from fourteen districts but the condition of agricultural stock is, on the whole, satisfactory. Food, fodder and water are ample. Prices tend to rise.

Punjab.—Light to moderate rain was nearly general. It was beneficial for standing crops and for autumn sowings but more rain is wanted in parts of the southeast. Threshing of wheat has been completed. The yield is normal or slightly below normal on irrigated and below normal or poor on unirrigated areas. Sowings of cotton and other autumn crops continue and are normal. The condition of standing extra spring and autumn crops is generally good. Extra spring crops are being reaped with yield generally normal. Cattle are generally healthy and fodder and water for drinking and irrigation purposes are sufficient. Stocks of food grains are sufficient. Prices are generally stationary and range between normal and warning rates in the southeast and between warning and scarcity rates elsewhere. Price of wheat :—Rawalpindi 9¼ Ferozepore and Lahore 10 and Ambala and Lyallpur 10½ seers per rupee.

North-West Frontier Province.—Slight rain fell throughout the Province. The weather is hot. Hail also fell in parts of Bannu but no damage was done. The condition of standing crops in the north of the Province is average on irrigated and below average on unirrigated areas but in the south it is average on both. Spring crops are being threshed with outturn average. Sowing of autumn crops continues. The condition of cattle is, on the whole, good. Water and fodder are sufficient. The Paharpur canal is running. The public health is good. Prices are stationary. The price of wheat in Peshawar is 9⅝ and in Dera Ismail Khan 9⅝ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—Slight rain fell during the week. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from 9 to 13 and maize from 11 to 25 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is average. Cattle disease of mild type prevails in the Basohli tahsil. Fodder is sufficient except in a few places.

Kashmir.—The rainfall during the week was good. Standing crops are in fair condition. Sowings of autumn crops have been finished. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are sufficient. Prices are normal.

Rajputana.—The week has been marked by heavy falls of rain in nearly all parts of Rajputana excepting Bundi, Bikanir and Banswara where only light showers were received. The weather is hot and cloudy. Ploughing and sowing are in progress. Agricultural stock is healthy. Fodder is ample. Prices show no change of importance.

Central India.—The rainfall during the week was general. The principal falls were over 4 inches in Kannod, Garot and Dhar; over 2 inches in Mehidpur, Jhabua and Alirajpur, and over 1 inch in Bundelkhand. The fall was insufficient in the Gwalior prant of the Bhopal Agency and partial in Bundelkhand. Lands are being prepared for autumn crops. Sowings have commenced in Indore, Malwa and the Southern States. Agricultural stock is generally in good condition. The fodder supply is sufficient except in the Bhaisaunda State in the Baghelkhand Agency. Prices are high in Bhopal, have fallen slightly in Gwalior and are steady elsewhere.

Central Provinces.—Light to moderate rain fell throughout the Provinces, nowhere exceeding 2 inches except in Mandla. More rain would be welcome in Nimar, Wardha, Bhandara, Raipur and Berar. Ploughing of fields and sowing of crops are proceeding. There is no deficiency of fodder and water anywhere. Agricultural stock is in good condition. Variations in prices of food grains are unimportant but show an upward tendency.

Feudatory States.—There was good rain in the States and sowings are progressing.

Bombay.—[illegible] rainfall during the week was general throughout the Presidency Proper but insufficient [illegible] Gujarat, the Karnatak and the Deccan. No rain fell in Sind. Lands are be[illegible]ared for autumn cultivation in parts. Sowing generally continues. Seedlings [illegible] ing except for slight damage by grasshoppers in parts of Kathiawar. [illegible] withering in four talukas of Thar and Parkar for want of moisture. The fodder [illegible] adequate. Agricultural stock is sufficient. Cattle are in good condition. Drinking [illegible] quate. Water for irrigation is deficient in parts of Sind, Kaira and the Panch Mah[als]. Prices of food grains are generally steady.

Hyderabad.—The rainfall during the week was scanty except in parts of Nizamabad and Warangal. The average fall was 76 cents. The highest fall was 4 inches 64 cents in Madhra. Sowings of autumn crops are in general progress except in parts of the Gulbarga and Raichur districts where more rain is awaited. Lands for early rice have been prepared. Cattle disease prevails in six talukas. Variations in prices of grains are insignificant. Coarse rice is selling at 8 and white juar at 12 seers per rupee in Hyderabad city. The highest price of juar in districts is 7 seers per rupee in Bidar and the lowest 18 seers per rupee in Bir.

Mysore.—The rainfall during the week was good in Kadur and light to fair elsewhere. The price of rice has risen slightly in Kolar and Chitaldrug and that of ragi has risen in Kolar, Tumkur and Chitaldrug and fallen in Hassan. Markets are well supplied. Sowing of paddy and ragi is in progress. Standing crops are in good condition. Prospects of the season are good. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Rainfall 3 inches 88 cents. Ploughing for rice continues. The price of food grains is high. The public health is fair. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall during the week was heavy in Malabar and South Kanara, heavy in Travancore and Cochin, good in Kurnool, Nellore, the Nilgiris and the Circars and fair to light elsewhere. Standing crops are in fair to good condition generally but rain is required in parts of one taluka of one district. Harvesting of paddy, sugarcane and dry crops is proceeding normally with outturn fair to normal generally. Sowings of paddy, sugarcane and dry crops are proceeding normally. The condition of cattle is generally good. The water-supply is insufficient in parts of Ganjam, South Arcot, Central, Deccan except Kurnool and South except Tinnevelly and sufficient elsewhere. Pasture is insufficient in five districts and in parts of six others. Fodder is generally available. Prices are fairly steady.

Class 13. Nos. 5877 to 5901. The Calico Printers' Association, Ld., of St. James's Buildings, Oxford Street, Manchester, England. June 19.

NOTICES.

THE PATENT OFFICE, 1, COUNCIL HOUSE STREET, CALCUTTA.

Public room, open 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Saturdays, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

1. All communications relating to applications for patents and for registration of designs under the Indian Patents and Designs Act (II of 1911), or in continuation of applications under the Inventions and Designs Act (V of 1888) should be addressed to the Controller of Patents and Designs, 1, Council House Street, Calcutta. Documents sent by post should be carefully packed.

2. Directions for the guidance of inventors and others are given in the Patent Office Handbook (price one rupee) which contains the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911, the Indian Patents and Designs Rules, 1912, the Indian Patents and Designs (Temporary Rules) Act, 1915, the Indian Patents and Designs (Temporary) Rules, 1915, together with current regulations and instructions. These should be consu[illegible] before an application is made to the Controller.

3. Advice. The Patent Office cannot undertake (1) to give [illegible] on the interpretation of Patent Law, or on the advisability of protecting inventi[illegible] and designs or on their infringement; (2) to make searches in respect of information available in the public room; (3) to recommend any particular agent; or (4) to assist in the dispos[illegible] inventions. Applicants are warned that the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911, is in force in British India only, and patents granted under it do not extend to the United Kingdom or any of the British possessions. The International Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property does not include India. For information regarding patents in countries other than India applications should be made to the patent offices in the countries concerned.

4. Fees are payable in cash and must be received in the Patent Office within the time allowed by the Acts. When cheques are offered in payment of fees, it must be clearly understood that the office cannot hold itself responsible for any delay that may occur in the collection of cash on the cheques; any cheque not payable in Calcutta is subject to commission. In cases where it is not possible to have the fees handed in at the Patent Office, it is preferable to send them by money-order or postal order payable at Calcutta to the Controller of Patents and Designs, and to advise him that they have been so sent. Stamps will not be received in payment of fees.

5. Trade and property marks and names are not registered and medicines are not patented under the Indian Patents and Designs Act. There is no provision of Law in British India for their registration. Neither does this Act deal with pictures, photographs, etc., for which copyright is obtainable under the Indian Copyright Act, 1914.

6. Printed Specifications of applications, which have been accepted, are published within about three weeks after acceptance has been notified in the Gazette of India. These specifications can be purchased at the Patent Office at a uniform price of 8 annas per copy; and may be seen free of charge, together with other publications of the Patent Office, at the following places:—

CHIEF COMMISSIONER, DELHI.

NOTIFICATIONS.

Delhi, the 12th June 1917.

No. 5587-C. & I.—The following draft amendments, which it is proposed to make in the rules made under Section 9 of the Indian Petroleum Act, 1899, which were issued in Punjab Government Notification No. 90, dated 15th February 1909, are published for criticism. The draft will be taken into consideration on or after the 15th of July 1917, together with any remarks or suggestions received on or before that date :—

Draft Amendment.

(1) Add the following to condition 6 of license Form F :—

"When, however, the quantity of dangerous petroleum does not exceed 20 gallons, it may be kept in a garage, stable or separate store-room not directly communicating with any dwelling room or room where persons assemble."

(2) In condition 11 of license form F. after the words "storage shed" insert the words "or other place of storage referred to in condition 6."

Delhi, the 21st June 1917.

No. 5881-Financial.—In supersession of the Notification No. 3891, dated the 15th May 1917, the Chief Commissioner is pleased, in exercise of the power delegated to him by the Governor General in Council under section 9, sub-section (1) of the Super-Tax Act, 1917 (VIII of 1917) by the Government of India's (Finance Department) Notification No. 760-F., dated the 6th April 1917, to make the following rules under the said section for carrying out the purpose of the said Act in the Province of Delhi :—

1. The return and the declaration referred to in section 5 of the Super-Tax Act, 1917, shall be in the form annexed to these rules, and all persons or companies required by the Collector to furnish a return shall comply with the instructions contained therein, and furnish the particulars required by these instructions.

2. Any assessee to super-tax, who desires to make payment of the tax by instalments shall, at the same time as he furnishes the return referred to in rule 1 submit an application to the Collector for permission to do so, and the Collector may, after consideration of the amount assessed and of the circumstances of the case, direct the payment of the amount due in such instalments and on such dates as he thinks fit;

Provided that in no case shall the date for payment of the last instalment be later than the 15th January in the year for which the tax is payable.

3. A Government Officer may, if he so desire, make payment of the super-tax to which he is assessed, or an instalment thereof, by deduction from his salary bill of the amount payable. The officer must advise the Collector that such deduction has been made, and the Accountant General or the Treasury Officer, as the case may be, shall advice the Collector of the realisation of the amount so deducted.

4. All applications for a refund of super-tax due on account of the modification or revision of an assessment on objection or appeal shall be dealt with by the Collector in accordance with the procedure prescribed under the principal Act in respect of applications for a refund of the tax chargeable under that Act, so far as the procedure may be applicable.

INSTRUCTIONS.

1. Name, Residence and Designation.—In the case of a firm or company the ordinary designation of the firm or company should be entered. If the person, firm, company or Hindu undivided family making the return has several places of residence or business, they should be all mentioned, the principal place of residence or business being specified.

2. In column 1 particulars of the total income should be given against the heads specified. The income shown in the return should be that for the "previous year" for which the accounts have been last made up, i. e., the year ending on the 31st day of March in the year immediately preceding that in which the assessment is to be made, or, if the accounts of a person or company have been made up in the year immediately preceding that in which the assessment is to be made, then, at the option of such person or company, the year ending on the day on which his or its accounts have been so made up. The date of the close of the previous year should be stated in the declaration.

3. The following sources of income, exempted under section 2 of the Act read with section 5(1) (a), (b), (c), (e), (g) and (h) of the principal Act, should not be included in the particulars of income:—

(1) any rent or revenue derived from land which is used for agricultural purposes and is either assessed to land revenue or subject to a local rate assessed and collected by officials of the Government, as such, or

(2) any income derived from—

(ii) the performance by a cultivator or receiver of rent-in-kind of any process ordinarily employed by a cultivator or receiver of rent-in-kind to render the produce raised or received by him fit to be taken to market, or

(iii) the sale by a cultivator or receiver of rent-in-kind of the produce raised or received by him, when he does not keep a shop or stall for the sale of such produce, or

(3) any building owned and occupied by the receiver of the rent or revenue of any such [illegible] as is referred to in clause (1), or by the cultivator, or the receiver of rent-in-kind, of any land with respect to which or the produce whereof any operation mentioned in clause (2) is carried on;

Provided that the building is on or in the immediate vicinity of the land, and is a building which the receiver of the rent or revenue, or the cultivator or the receiver of the rent-in-kind, by reason of his connection with the land, requires as a dwelling-house, or as a store-house, factory or other out-building;

(4) any income derived from property solely employed for religious or public charitable purposes; or

(5) subject to any conditions and restrictions which may be prescribed in this behalf such portion, not exceeding one-sixth, of the income in respect whereof a person would, but for this exception be chargeable under this Act, as is deducted from the salary of the person under the authority or with the permission of the Government for the purpose of securing a deferred annuity to him or a provision to his wife or children after his death or is paid by the person to an insurance company in respect of an insurance or deferred annuity on his own life or on the life of his wife; or

(6) any interest on stock-notes;

(7) in the case of a Hindu undivided family, so much of the joint income of such family as has been actually expended or paid for the maintenance or other expenses of any member of such family or paid or finally allotted to any such member;

(8) in the case of a firm, so much of the income of the firm as has been paid or finally allotted to any of the members of the firm; and

(9) in the case of a company, so much of the income of the company as has been paid or declared for payment by way of dividends or otherwise to any of its members.

NOTE.—Nothing in clauses (7) (8) or (9) shall be deemed to exempt from super-tax any income therein referred to when received by any member of such family, firm or company.

4. In the remarks column particulars should be given to show—

(a) in the case of a Hindu undivided family, so much of the joint income of such family as has been actually expended or paid for the maintenance or other expenses of any member of such family or paid or finally allotted to any such member;

(b) in the case of a firm, so much of the income of the firm as has been paid, or finally allotted to any of the members of the firm;

(c) in the case of a company so much of the income of the company as has been paid or declared for payment by way of dividends or otherwise to any of its members;

(d) in the case of a company or firm the amount of the excess profits duty levied in England in respect of Indian profits liable to super-tax;

(e) Where income is derived from property solely applied for religious or public charitable purposes, the amount of that income;

(f) Where a deduction is made from the income on account of the exemptions described in instructions 3(5) above the amount of the deduction.

5. The amount of income tax assessment in the year preceding that for which super-tax is to be charged must not be deducted from the income shown in column 1 of the return. For the purpose of the return, income tax deducted at the source in respect of dividends of companies and interest on securities should be added to the amount actually received by the assessee in order to ascertain the sum liable to super-tax.

The 21st June 1917.
